Hanoi Spurns Direct Peace Talk Bids From Johnson, Ky

LBJ Flies Homeward From Guam Parleys

HONOLULU (UPI)—President Johnson proposed direct peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam in a letter to President Ho Chi Minh on Feb. 2, it was disclosed today. Ho rejected the offer.

Hanoi Radio broadcast the Johnson offer and Ho's reply as the President stopped here en route from his conference on Guam to Washington.

The plane was on the ground for 15 minutes before beginning the last leg of the trip home. The plane is due in Washington at 7 p.m. EST.

It coincided with disclosures in Saigon today by South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu that Saigon also had made direct peace overtures to Hanoi and that its offer also was rejected.

Before leaving Guam, Johnson said the United States was making "substantial progress" on every front in Vietnam but that the end was not in sight and extra hard work remained.

Hanoi Radio disclosed that Johnson had made his peace offer through Moscow nearly six weeks before he called the Guam meeting of U.S. and South Vietnamese leaders. The Ho reply was dated Feb. 15.

HO'S TERMS

Ho called for the unconditional cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam and the end of "other war aggression" as a pre-condition to peace negotiations, Hanoi said.

"In your message you have proposed direct talks between the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam and the United States," Ho said.

"If the U.S. Government truly desires such a conference the U.S. government must first of all halt its bombing against the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam.

"Vietnam will never submit to talks under the threat of bombing."

TRICK CLAIM

Another Hanoi broadcast carried a North Vietnamese foreign ministry statement on the exchange of messages in which the North Vietnamese charged that Johnson had "resorted to a trick in extending the halt of the bombing of North Vietnam after the Asian Lunar New year."

The statements did not directly mention the South Vietnamese peace proposals reported in Saigon earlier today.

The President summed up the meeting with South Vietnamese leaders and the military and diplomatic advisers of both countries as "very constructive" sessions that brought both countries closer, although he stressed the goal of peace and Ky stressed military pressure.

Johnson spoke first to newsmen and then to the men who man and maintain America's might B-52 Stratofortress bombers. He said there has been no momentous decisions made at the conference.

Before reaching the air base from Nimitz Hill where the conference was held Johnson stopped for 20 minutes at a U.S. Naval Hospital and toured wards filled with war wounded from Vietnam.

Furious Battle Chops Up Reds Major Attack

SAIGON (UPI)—Troops of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division defeated a Viet Cong regiment of nearly 1,500 men in a furious battle today and sent them fleeing back into Cambodia, leaving 423 dead on the battlefield. It brought Communist dead in two days of War Zone C fighting to 711.

Is was perhaps the greatest allied victory of the year and it cost the Americans 30 killed, 109 wounded and three men missing. But it crushed Hanoi's hopes of a propaganda victory during President Johnson's Guam meeting.

TROOPS LANDED

A spokesman disclosed that a battalion (up to 1,500) of U.S. marines made a joint helicopter and amphibious landing yesterday just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) to protect American 175 millimeter Long Tom artillery pieces from an enemy attack.

The Communists struck with 600 rounds of mortar and rocket fire in an extremely intense barrage but were unable to harm the big guns in their first across-the-border attack. The Long Tons fire from Gio Linh 20 miles across the DMZ into North Vietnam where the Reds have massed three divisions.

Three Marines were killed and 71 wounded. Enemy losses were not known.

STEEL PLANT HIT

With the ground war gaining in intensity U.S. warplanes bombed the giant Thai Nguyen steel plant 36 miles north of Hanoi for the fourth time in 11 days, while B-52 bombers, striking while Johnson was still on Guam, hit four suspected

Reagan Discounts Bid For President

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A liberal Republican group's report that he will make a serious bid to become president in 1968 was discounted today by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Reagan was asked at his weekly news conference about the report by the Ripon Society, a small group of self-styled liberal Republicans who issue reports from time to time.

Mall Criticized: 'Taj Mahal West'

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Plans for a formal mall nearly a mile long through the center of Marincello barely squeaked by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Approval of the plan, including reflecting pools, artificial water falls, and geometric patterns of landscaping, was by 4-3 vote, with Commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Hugh Dougherty and Claude Stoller dissenting.

Stoller, an architect, put up the strongest dissent, saying he found the proposal contrary to the whole idea of Marincello. He believed the proposed planned community will get its strength by contrasting urban cluster with green hills and open space. Running more green space straight down the center would weaken the effect, he said.

"I think it would be rather boring," said Stoller.

Dougherty agreed and called the long mall "Taj Majal West."

Under the plan presented by Kalvin Platt and Edmund C. Heine Jr., the creek running down to Rodeo Lagoon would be buried in a culvert. The first stage of the mall would be 200 feet wide and 2,000 feet long. A second extension to the west would be just as long, but narrower.

The main idea, Platt said, would be to give pedestrian access to shops, offices and apartments planned on both sides of the mall and to "focal points" of interest. There would also be side malls leading into shops.

The first development will have about four acres of water, mostly pools about two feet deep. Some of the water will be

Brighter Economic Outlook Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) —William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, today predicted "a resurgence in economic activity" later this year.

He gave this assessment in endorsing President Johnson's proposed tax increase as insurance against another outbreak of inflation and tight money.

Martin told the Senate finance committee that he saw "no inconsistency" in restoring tax incentives for business investment now and increasing income taxes about July 1; as Johnson has proposed.

But acting committee chairman Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., said that "almost all" economic indicators are pointing toward a downturn. Smathers said that Johnson's refusal to abandon his tax increase plan "puzzles me."

Smathers warned that a tax hike could "push us farther toward a recession."

The committee is in its second day of hearings on Johnson's request for restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation rules, both of which were suspended last October in order to fight inflation. The House last week approved the measure, which would give business a $1.8 billion tax break.

After telling the committee he supported restoration of the investment incentives, Martin turned to the even more controversial question of a possible income tax increase later this year.

Tam District Teachers Ask 7 Pct. Raise

By CAROL MARSH

Tamalpais High School District teachers last night asked the district board of trustees for a 7.1 per cent salary increase, which would cost the district $224,657 for the 1967-68 school year.

In a discussion of merit pay which lasted well over an hour, the teachers protested the difficulty of producing a merit pay plan. However, in their salary proposal they included a "systematic professional growth" plan for additional pay not based on teaching performance.

Final board consideration of the salary proposal is scheduled for April 17, and Trustee John C. Siemens asked the teachers to present a comparison of their salaries with those paid other teachers in Marin County, and to report further on the "professional growth" plan.

Duane Miller of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association salary committee said the teachers would like salaries increased from the present scale of $6,185 to $12,700 to a scale of $6,620 to $13,600, a 6.5 per cent increase.

However, Miller noted, this year a quarter of the teachers are at the top of the scale, and

Reagan To Eliminate Another 1,224 Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced today the elimination of another 1,224 state jobs and said he will recommend a compromise University of California budget of $254 million.

The governor told his weekly news conference that his task force of loaned businessmen had found it could save $15.6 million in the Public Works Department budget during the coming year.

The key to the savings will be elimination of the jobs—through attrition, Reagan emphasized, and not by dismissals.

The Reagan administration had announced last week plans to eliminate nearly 4,000 other state jobs, mostly in the Mental Hygiene Department.

Reagan said the new university budget, about $24 million lower than the U.C. regents originally asked, would maintain university quality and not deny admission to any students.

The quality and admission questions have been "foremost in our discussions with officials of the university," Reagan said. "And it has been met."

At Santa Barbara last month, regents voted to seek $264 million, but told university officials to move ahead on the assumption they would get only $255 million.

The savings in the PUD, he said, "will not impair the essential services of the department."

"To the contrary, cost-cutting at the operating level will make these funds available for construction—primarily in the Division of Highways."

The task force of business continues to seek other areas of savings. Any further reductions in the 166,000 state job force will be done through attrition—by not filling vacant jobs—if at all possible, he said.

But Reagan would not pledge there might not be further layoffs of state employees, such as the 2,632 in the Mental Hygiene Department.

On the university budget, Reagan said new, reduced, enrollment projections, indicate that the $254 million budget figure would allow all qualified students seeking admission to the university to attend.

Marichal Bound For Giants' Camp

Special to the I-J

PHOENIX — Hold it, the holdout is due back.

San Francisco Giant pitcher Juan Marichal, a 25-game winner who has been holding out, will report to the Giants' spring training camp here Saturday, manager Herman Franks announced this morning.

Marichal, who at one point wanted as much as $125,000 and is still holding out for a $110,000 salary, agreed to join the Giants in a telephone conversation with Franks last night from his Dominican Republic home.

The Giants reportedly have offered Marichal a $100,000 contract.

Pay Study Wanted

Marin County supervisors today asked for a scale study of pay for all committees and commissions serving the county, and postponed action on a County Employee Association request for pay for members of the personnel commission, one of the few remaining unpaid.

Polls Open Today For Bonds Ballot

Polls will be open until 7 p.m. today in Bolinas-Stinson School District's election on a $275,000 bond measure.

Polls at Bolinas and Stinson Beach schools opened at 1 p.m.

The bonds would finance purchase of four acres at Bolinas School, six new classrooms at Bolinas, and repair of the old Bolinas building.

Steady Flow Of Rain For Spring

Soft, steady rains pattered spring into Marin County at 2:37 a.m. today — the time of the vernal equinox.

Rain fell in amounts ranging from .05 of an inch at Novato to .86 at Tamalpais Valley in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. San Rafael had .39 of an inch for the 24 hours to noon.

The giant storms of January are still having after-effects. In Mill Valley, a slide started by the January rains continued to move below the William P. Underwood residence at 390 Vista Linda Drive, undermining the deck of the house. Mill Valley Building Inspector Loren K. Rohde said the slide is beginning to eat under the carport foundation, and street department crews have been clearing the street below almost daily of mud sliding from the Underwood property.

Clouds, but not rain, were predicted for the second day of spring tomorrow.

Sonic Booms Due For Three Days

Marinites can expect to have their windows rattled tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

Planes from bases of the North American Air Defense Command's western region, including those of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, will be staging a defense exercise, the regional headquarters at Hamilton announced today. And they'll likely break the sonic barrier in their flight.

The exercise will include all 30,000 men of NORAD's component parts, according to the headquarters.

Critical Part Of Voyage Over

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (AP) — Sir Francis Chichester, sailing alone around the world in his 53-foot ketch Gipsy Moth 4, reportedly has rounded stormy Cape Horn, completing what was considered the most perilous part of his voyage.

The solitary sailor was expected to have comparatively smooth sailing crossing the Atlantic. He hopes to reach Plymouth, England, by May 18.

Reports reaching Punta Arenas, Latin America's southernmost port, said Chichester navigated the cape in bad weather Monday. Newsmen said the ocean appeared choppy but the waves were not running too high.

Milk Holding Boss Receives Phone Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — Oren Lee Staley's wife and three children were whisked from their home to a secret location last night following a telephoned threat against Staley, president of the National Farmers Organization which is withholding milk in 25 states.

The six-day-old holding action aims at boosting by two cents a quart the price paid dairy farmers for milk.

CONFIDENT

"We're very confident that the available supply of milk is being cut into very rapidly and that the industry is doing everything possible to shift things around. And their supply is getting very thin," Staley said.

Police refused to say where they took Staley's wife and three children, ages 10 through 15, but the family was returned to its Whitesville, Mo., home before midnight.

Staley said only that the caller threatened the family "generally." He said he was not worried because "I have a lot of local NFO neighbors and they will take care of the situation." Staley spoke from NFO headquarters in Corning, Iowa.

MORE ARRESTS

Meanwhile, arrests and incidents of violence multiplied, millions of gallons of milk were spilled and tempers rubbed raw. But effects were hard to gauge.

Staley claimed a two-cent-a-quart retail milk price increase in Omaha was an NFO victory, though retailers argued it was merely a market correction after a price war.

Some areas confessed lack of success. "It's not a heavy holding action," said NFO official Reuben Anders in Bucks County, Pa.

A producer official claimed there were "no noticeable or significant effects" in Philadelphia. And in Milwaukee, two large NFO shippers dropped the holding action.

But there was no doubt of the action's success in some areas. Producers said supplies in the Erie-Crawford area of Pennsylvania were down nearly 35 per cent. Dealers in the Cincinnati area said they were beginning to feel the pinch, and voiced thanks that school is out this week. Cincinnati schoolchildren drink more than 50,000 half-pints of milk a day.

Tighter Firearms Checks To Be Sought For State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Concerned over the ease with which a person can equip his own army, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee chairman announced today they plan to seek sweeping new firearms laws.

In a joint statement, Democrat Lynch and Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R - Riverside, said that when the legislature reconvenes next week, they will seek new laws.

Banned would be sale and possession of operable combat type of armaments, including grenades, rockets, machine guns and parts, bombs, anti-tank guns, hand rocket launchers, guns powered by compressed gas and most firearms of over .60 caliber — excluding shotguns.

Lynch said that while there are laws governing the sale and possession of regular firearms and even low - powered target pistols, "anyone can buy a 20 millimeter anti-tank gun from a dealer without even giving his name."

Mrs. McDonald told the Marin citizens of various formation methods and activities of art councils throughout the state.

Quints Born, But Two Die After Birth

VASTERAS, Sweden (AP) — Quintuplets were born today to Mrs. Fredrik Lars Jansson, 28, who had been treated with a hormone fertility drug, but one died shortly after birth and another died several hours later.

Dr. Rolf Faahreaus, in charge of the Vasteras Maternity Hospital, said Mrs. Jansson was in good condition. But he said the next few days will be critical for the three remaining babies. They were placed in incubators.

Delivery of the infants, Mrs. Jansson's first children, took 25 minutes, a hospital spokesman said.

The hospital said the four girls and one boy, born three months prematurely, weighed between 16½ and 28 ounces. The spokesman said the smallest of the infants, a girl, died first, followed by a second girl.

The mother had been under treatment at the clinic of Prof. Carl Gemzell of Uppsala, originator of the hormone treatment for barren women which has resulted in a number of multiple births.

Despite the tendency of the new fertility drugs to produce multiple births, authorities say that the chances of quintuplets are only about one in 54 million deliveries.

Octuplets were born March 10 to a woman in Mexico City but all eight died within 14 hours of delivery.

The last known set of quintuplets were born to a woman in Big Piney, Wyo., Feb. 11 but all died.

Youth Facing Murder Charge

OAKLAND (UPI) —Rene Valdiva, 18, Kensington, faced murder charges today in the fatal shooting of a Berkeley youth which at first appeared to be a sniper slaying.

Don Garcia, 18, died yesterday in an Oakland hospital. Inspector Jerry Dineen said the shooting took place inside of a car Saturday night.

After the shooting, Garcia was moved to the back seat and a bullet was fired through the rear window to back up a sniper story, Dineen said. Valdiva and Juan Ortiz, 18, Berkeley, reported the incident.

Senate Approves Extra Viet Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, after voting overwhelmingly to provide $12.2 billion more this year for Vietnam fighting, begins considering today defense spending for fiscal 1968.

Before the Senate is a measure authorizing $20 billion for military purposes beginning July 1. Even opponents predict speedy passage for the measure, which deals with only a fraction of over-all defense requests.

While the Senate concerned itself with defense spending, the House voted 357-0 yesterday to increase pension and other benefits for an estimated 2.8 million servicemen and their dependents.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate, would increase cost-of-living allowances by up to 8½ per cent and boost service-connected disability payments.

Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, swid the administration-backed bill "rounds out the problem of bringing Vietnam veterans under the same rules and regulations" as other veterans.

The measure providing supplemental funds for Vietnam cleared the Senate 77-3 yesterday. It brought to $72.13 billion the amount earmarked for defense and war. Afterwards Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.—one of the three dissenters—urged that the authorization bill be brought to a quick vote since "it's more of the same."

Any debate today on the measure probably will involve a recommendation that part of it go toward deploying an antiballistic missile defense system should current talks between the United States and Soviet Union fail.

The two nations have started discussions aimed at avoiding costly expenditures on both sides for missile defense systems.

The House also gave final passage to a measure authorizing shipment of 3 million tons of grain to drought-stricken India this year. The measure, already approved by the Senate, requires that the U.S. contribution be matched by other countries.

The House Agriculture Committee approved a one-year extension of the nation's food stamp program. The administration had asked that the program be placed on a permanent basis.

Courthouse Square Gets New Zoning

San Rafael City Council last night rezoned courthouse square, which it intends to buy from the county, from unclassified to retail commercial.

The new zoning calls for a "front yard" of 30 per cent of lot depth, maximum land coverage of 50 per cent and maximum floor area of double the lot area.

RESTRICTS USE

It restricts ground floor use to retail commercial and provides for commercial and office use above ground level. It also provides for residential use including condominiums above ground level.

It permits deviations under planned unit development if they are consistent with the purposes of the zone.

For example, offices are restricted from the ground floor, but could be permitted under planned unit development if deemed appropriate.

San Rafael hopes to sell its corporation yard property along San Rafael Canal to obtain funds to purchase courthouse square, which will be abandoned by the county when the Hall of Justice is completed.

At the close of the session, Mayor C. Paul Bettini appointed Harold H. Fulkerson, an attorney of 22 Il Cerrito Avenue, to the San Rafael Library Board.

Fulkerson will succeed James S. Goodale, who resigned because of a change of residence. He will serve Goodale's unexpired term which ends next month.

The San Rafael City Council also:

BUILDING CODE —Adopted an amendment to the building code which requires landscaping be completed before an occupancy permit is granted.

MARINE USES — Set for Apr. 3 at 8 p.m. public hearing on a zoning ordinance amendment which would permit marine operations and yacht harbors in a commercial zone.

PAY RAISE — Raised the pay to LaVon Eller, accountant, from $565 to $593 a month.

REZONING HEARING —Set Apr. 3 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on rezoning of a lot at from single-family to transient residential, for an apartment house requested by Constance Schwarzer.

TRAFFIC HAZARD —Agreed to ask the county public works department to consider placing lane change signs at the point near Harbor Estates where four traffic lanes narrow to two, after noting the lane change is a traffic hazard.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 11:45 a.m. today at city hall to receive a certified list of candidates for the municipal election April 10.

Road Slide Areas Detailed By Rawles

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles warned the San Rafael City Council last night of four potentially dangerous roadway slide areas, which will require repair work.

The slides have developed since the major January rains and each has moved "from the existing edge of pavement with a possible threat of undermining the roadway if they become larger," Rawles said.

He listed the four slides as follows:

1. Along Miraflores Avenue, south of Second Street, an area 75 feet long, 40 feet wide and 47 feet high.
2. Along the north side of Miramar Avenue, an area 89 feet long, 20 feet wide and 55 feet high.
3. Along the south side of Twin Oaks Avenue, near the northern end of the avenue, 23 feet long, 25 feet wide and 15 feet high.
4. Along the north side of Bret Harte Road, east of M'Liss Lane, 30 feet long, 30 feet wide and 16 feet high.

He said he would have an estimate on the cost of repair in four weeks, and also would report what work will be needed to stabilize the areas.

In the meantime, he said, he will investigate the possibility of having adjoining property owners share in the cost of repair. "A portion of each slide is on private property," he explained.

If property owners decline to participate, the city will just do the work necessary to protect the streets, he said.

The council also discussed improvement of Bret Harte Road from Southern Heights Boulevard to La Loma Court, which was partially closed by a slide during the January storm. Rawles estimated it would cost $40,000. The street has never been improved to city standards.

Donald J. Croft, president of the Bret Harte Heights Association, said he would find out whether property owners are interested in forming an assessment district to finance the project.

When Croft asked if the city would participate financially, councilmen said it has been city policy to contribute one-third of the cost in such projects.

Powell Pictures Himself As Agent To Unify Negroes

BIMINI, The Bahamas (UPI) —Adam Clayton Powell says he has no regrets over his exclusion from the House of Representatives because his fall might serve to further the Negro's cause.

"Maybe I can become the catalytic agent to bring unity to the whole Black movement," Powell conjectured in a television interview recorded yesterday aboard his fishing boat, Adam's Fancy.

The Harlem Democrat, who has spent his days fishing, playing dominoes and occasionally preaching since the House voted to bar him last month, added that he now intends to keep up his position as a leader to his race.

"I had planned to retire," he said, "but because of the great monstrosity of injustice perpetrated against me I am going on forever."

Reiterating his belief that he was "victimized" because of his race, Powell declared, "I am the first black man to say that I was going to act like a white man, and the whites —including the northern liberals —want to keep the black man down.

"They are just using me to let the black men know the Negroes have to stay in their place."

In between fishing and relaxing at his retreat on this tiny island, Powell has conferred with a number of Negro leaders in sports, entertainment and civil rights.

He made no mention of when he hoped to be able to return to New York City, where his lawyers were reported to be working on getting his legal problems there cleared up.

Secret Service Is Silent About Crime Computer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service now possesses a high-speed, computerized information system that would have pinpointed Lee Harvey Oswald as a threat to President John F. Kennedy, says Rep. Tom Steed.

The Oklahoma Democrat said yesterday that if such an information system had existed in 1963, the Secret Service and other law enforcement agencies would have known of Oswald's presence in Dallas.

They also would have known that Oswald worked in a building overlooking the route of Kennedy's motorcade, said Steed, chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee that handles the Secret Service budget.

The Secret Service refused to comment on Steed's statement.

Soviets Pay Alaska Fine On Trawler

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A matter of honor has been settled in U.S. District Court with the arrival of a $5,000 check to pay the fine levied against the skipper of a Russian fishing trawler caught violating U.S. territorial waters.

Nicolai G. Zernov, 52, was found guilty by a federal judge March 6, five days after the Coast Guard seized the Russian vessel for fishing only one mile off the Alaska coast.

PAY VOLUNTARY

Two hours after he was convicted and ordered to pay the fine within two weeks, Zernov had been whisked back to his ship on a Coast Guard plane, thus making payment of the fine a voluntary matter.

The check arrived yesterday addressed to U.S. Attorney Richard McVeigh, who prosecuted the case. It was drawn on Riggs National Bank, Washington, D.C. McVeigh couldn't make out the signature on the check, but he presumed it was that of a Soviet government official, since Zernov was an employe of the Soviet Ministry of Fisheries.

'FAIR AND JUST'

"I am pleased that the fine arrived in the time agreed upon," McVeigh said, "and I think it has been a fair and just result."

Zernov had entered a "no contest" plea, which means he neither admits nor denies guilt. Under the law, the skipper could have been fined up to $10,000 and given a one-yer jail sentence.

ANGRY PROTESTS

A number of angry Alaskans, including Gov. Walter J. Hickel and hundreds of fishermen, have protested that Zernov should have been given the maximum penalty. A group in Kodiak sent a strongly worded telegram to President Johnson, asserting that the trawler should have been impounded.

Board Balks At Haste On Juvenile Library

The county schools office, seeking approval of a library at the juvenile hall school funded largely by a federal grant, ran into a barrage of questions from county supervisors today and retreated to prepare additional information.

Supervisors Peter H. Behr, who emphasized that he was not against libraries, said he was critical of inadequately prepared requests and last-minute requests.

Stanley Fiese of the county schools office told the board that a $44,306 federal grant for 6,000 books, subscriptions to 70 periodicals, 250 pamphlets and documents, 350 film strips, 75 slides and transparencies, and 12 maps and globes was approved two months ago, but the county had to provide housing. He said the grant might go elsewhere if the county did not pick it up soon.

"Here you've known about this 60 days and now you've got a gun at our heads!" Behr said. "I don't think that's fair, do you?"

Friese said that he had been suggesting the board take a look at the proposal ever since federal approval was granted, but supervisors heard about the problem for the first time today.

Needed in county funds for this year is $2,100 to cover three months' rent of a portable classroom and purchase of furniture, including 28 chairs and files. Next year $2,700 will be needed for the portable classroom rental alone. Behr wanted to know about salaries and other county costs in the future.

He further questioned the need for subscriptions to 70 periodicals, and for 28 chairs.

Allen Brooks, principal of the school operated by the county school superintendent at juvenile hall, said the school's office was not really proposing a library, but more of a "resource center."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss wondered why the books in the county library could not be used. Behr said the county book mobile now goes to juvenile hall twice a month.

Brooks said that most of the children at juvenile hall are retarded and need reading of "high interest but low content level."

The project, said Brooks, is unique, never tried before in California.

PAY

next year a third will be at the top, so the actual cost of the increase is 7.1 per cent.

The teachers also asked that new teachers who have secondary credentials be started at $10,628, rather than at the bottom rung of the pay ladder.

The "professional growth" plan would put another scale atop the present one, with an additional 1.05 to 1.25 per cent raise. Miller explained that a teacher would prepare his own professional growth plan. The plan would be equivalent to 15 units of college work, he said, but would not necessarily include formal college work. Only teachers at the top of the scale and with 60 college units beyond the bachelor's degree could qualify.

The plan would be evaluated by a committee composed of three teachers from candidate's department, one administrator, and one other teacher.

Chairman Cyril Beattie of the teacher's merit pay study committee told the board teachers could not possibly come up with a merit pay plan by June.

"Sounds to me like you won't produce a plan by 1980," Trustee Berton C. Jacobson said, "I'm convinced that we are getting nowhere with this. I was convinced before tonight."

Beattie said the main problem was in defining the role of a teacher. He said before a program to reward a teacher for fulfilling his role could be produced, the role would have to be defined.

"You try to be objective," Miller said. "So you write down the things you are looking for in a teacher. Then all the teachers try to conform to the things you have written down, and teaching becomes mechanical."

The teachers asked that trustees and administrators take part in merit pay discussions, but board members rejected this.

Siemens said the board expected answers at least to the questions of whether a need for a merit pay program exists, whether the teachers want one, and whether it is possible to develop one.

Beattie said he does not believe the teachers will ask for a merit pay system "they know nothing about."

Teacher Gerald M. Lucey said teachers have ambivalent feelings about merit pay, because the system not only would reward good teachers, but would "shame bad teachers out of the system."

Police Seek Owners Of Small, Biting Dog

San Rafael police today sought information about a dog which reportedly bit Deborah White, 13, of 309 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, on the leg while she was riding a bicycle near Convent Court about noon Saturday.

Police said they want to determine whether the dog, described as small, shaggy-haired and buff colored, has been vacinated against rabies.

WAR

Viet Cong hideouts in South Vietnam.

The big Communist defeat came in War Zone C 70 miles northwest of Saigon where Operation Junction City already has overrun what an American general described as the Communist "Pentagon" directing the entire war effort in South Vietnam.

The guerrillas came charging through the dense brush at U.S. Army units driving through the war zone where the Viet Cong has made its headquarters for years. They showered the American positions with mortar shell and then came screaming and firing their small arms at dawn's early light.

American guns mowed them down. The fight took place only a few miles from the spot where a surrounded 150 U.S. troops yesterday slew at least 288 of about 2,500 Viet Cong who had surrounded them in an earlier vain bid for a propaganda victory.

The battle in the U.S. Army's record 50,000-man operation Junction City erupted after the North Vietnamese, for the first time in the war, unleashed artillery barrages from their own soil against American Marines in South Vietnam, spokesmen said.

Hotel Uproar Leads To State Hospital

Barbrey Kaminska, 45, of San Rafael, was taken to Napa State Hospital this morning after she reportedly threatened the owner of the hotel where she was living and tried to hit a policeman.

San Rafael Patrolman Robert W. Marvin reported he was called to the Wilkins Hotel at 1135 Fourth Street, by owner Hans C. Jorgensen, who said Mrs. Kaminska had attacked another guest. While Marvin was there, he reported, she grabbed Jorgensen and threatened him.

base, he donned a raincoat and decorated 12 men for gallantry in the air over Vietnam.

The United States and its allies "are making substantial progress" on the military, political and social fronts in Vietnam, the President told assembled airmen and their families.

Earlier, he had warned that despite progress, it will take "a lot of extra effort and a good deal more time" to bring the war to a successful end.

He listed seven major American concerns discussed at the parley on Nimitz Hill:

"First, the military progress of the war, both in the South and the North.

"Second, the political progress that is being made in South Vietnam.

"Third, we discussed the morale, the health, the training, the food, clothing and equipment of our superb fighting men . . .

"Fourth, the national reconciliation program in Vietnam.

"Fifth, the land reform program which is moving steadily forward.

"Sixth, the extent of civilian casualties and what is being done to help those who are injured or wounded by the war.

"Seventh, the possibility of bringing an end to this conflict by an honorable settlement."

But Johnson warned several times that Hanoi has made no moves to indicate it would come to a peace table.

Priorities Voted On Novato Parks

Development of Pioneer Memorial Park on Simmons Lane was given top priority among Novato park projects by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night.

Second priority was given to acquisition of the San Marin park and the Lions Club park at Stafford Lake; third, to developing the Lynwood School playgrounds for a park. After that the commission would acquire the Canyon Lake site for a park. Consideration of the Scottsdale ponding area was put over.

The commission adopted an increased rate for use of the Novato Community House. Largest increase came for use of the dancing, raised from $45 to $100 for five hours.

The commission will meet with the city council at Cloud Five restaurant at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Convicts Stage Soledad Sit-In

SOLEDAD (AP)—A thousand prisoners at Soledad Correctional Training Facility went on a sit down strike today in their rooms to which they had been driven by tear gas.

Guards used the tear gas yesterday afternoon when prisoners sat down on the floor of the E wing when ordered to their rooms. Four tear gas cartridges fired against the walls sent the prosoners running to their rooms. Three were bruised by riccocheting shells.

Today 1,000 wouldn't come out. Six hundred others in the central section carried on routine duties.

The strike was the prisoners' answer to restrictions placed on them as a result of a stabbing last week and a fight between 20 Negro and white prisoners.

Novatan Appointed

County supervisors today named Novato Planning Director Robert Lagle to the ad hoc committee studying management of the county fairgrounds and auditorium at the Civic Center, replacing Joseph Wright, who resigned. The appointment was conditioned on approval by the Novato City Council.

Yacht Club's Plea Will Be Heard Tonight

Sausalito Yacht Club's request that open area district regulations be amended to permit yacht clubs will be heard today by the city council at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The club requested the amendment as the first move toward expanding its facilities north of the Trade Fair. The waterfront was designated an open-area district after the club located there, making it a legal but non-conforming use.

The central waterfront plan, now being considered, recommends relocating the club north of the sandspit.

Also on the planning commission agenda is a proposed ordinance to give the city power to revoke a firm's business license for "failure to deliver goods, wares, merchandise or services within a reasonable time after receiving payment therefor."

Fix-Up Pact Still Unsigned

Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday agreed that consultants for the proposed paint-up, clean-up must sign the revised contract with the chamber before payment of expenses, reported Chamber President Edward M. Mills.

The color consultants, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Field of Woodside, agreed two weeks ago to contract revisions in a telephone conversation, Mills said, but have not signed the revised contract.

The consultants and chamber agreed early this month to cut back the paint-up of commercial districts from 80 to 40 buildings. The Fields' fee would be reduced by one-half under the revised contract, and they would be allowed up to $600 expenses before their plans are completed. To date, Mills said, the Fields have submitted bills to the chamber for expenses totaling $219.

Storer Defends Historic Barn

An old barn, threatened with destruction at the Point Reyes Station National Seashore headquarters, is an architectural classic and should be preserved, County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer declared today.

He said that Herschel Chip, vice chairman of the art history department at University of California at Berkeley, said the barn was modeled after structures in Early England believed to be forerunners in design to the great cathedrals.

Supervisors directed that Storer write Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall this information, urging that the barn be saved and suggesting it could be used for lectures or for an art gallery.

Pistol Shot Wounds Victim In Both Legs

Frederick Blake Burmer, 21, of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, was in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after accidentally shooting himself in both legs with a single shot from a .45-caliber Colt revolver.

Burmer told police he was loading the weapon last night when it fired. The bullet passed through the calf of his left leg and entered the right ankle, embedding itself in the right foot.

Hub Planning Votes

BOUNDARYOF THE LAW ENFORCED BY SURVEYOR

When a surveyor peers through his transit, he may see something else besides landscape.

One working on top of Lyford Drive in Tiburon yesterday saw a car stop at 8 Bartel Court at 10:15 a.m., a man get out and enter the house, then return in a few minutes carrying a white sack that looked full.

The survey or wrote down the license number of the car and telephoned the Tiburon sheriff's office.

Sheriff's Lt. George R. Barnes checked the owned by Charles H. Knight Jr. Sure enough, the front door had been jimmied open. Barnes sent out an alarm for the car.

Minutes later, it was stopped by Sausalito police as it headed toward San Francisco. Its occupants, Robert John Barthel, 34, and William Mason, 33, both of San Francisco, were booked at the Marin County Jail for investigation of burglary.

Knight said a hasty search of his house disclosed two cameras were missing.

Lieutenant Barnes did not disclose the name of the sharp-eyed surveyor, but he doubtless inscribed it on his own roll of citizens who help enforce the law.

Mill Valley Council Awards Road Project

A Corte Madera firm was last night awarded a $262,295 contract by Mill Valley City Council to widen and improve East Blithedale Avenue.

The accepted bid of E. A. Forde Co. was the lowest of seven submitted for the job and was $15,680 below the engineering estimate, said City Engineer Stanley Bala.

Work will begin next month on the seven-month project. The avenue will be widened to four lanes from Camino Alto to the Alto Wye, except for the curve around Enchanted Knolls which will be regraded and resurfaced.

Last night the council agreed to use fill taken from land belonging to E. C. Harter. Bala said between 3,000 and 5,000 cubic feet would be needed and Harter would provide it at no cost to the city.

Council members decided to buy a strip of land on East Blithedale instead of acquiring an easement. City Mgr. Bert Balmer said the cost, $3,500, was little more than the easement would have cost. Money will come out of gasoline tax funds.

The county will pay $42,000 towards the cost of the East Blithedale project, the council was told. This will be to construct the Highway 101 ramp.

The council set for April 17 at 8 p.m. a hearing at the city hall into the amended proposal of the Blithedale Park Assessment District. Contractors' bids will be opened at 11 a.m. the same day.

This is a one-owner assessment district to install public facilities in a subdivision of about 20 homes between West Blithedale Avenue and Manzanita Place.

Balmer told the council his review of Mill Valley Refuse Service Co. operations will take another month. The council has deferred action on a proposed increase in garbage collection rates pending information from the company.

Councilmen Rodric L. Robinson and Dean N. Meyer were absent.

Farm Workers Study Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An expert on migrant workers says California should start worrying now what to do about farm laborers who will lose their jobs to automation in 15 years.

The solution, in part, should be retraining of the workers, the fifth conference of Families Who Follow the Crops heard yesterday.

Dr. Uvaldo Palomares, former farm worker himself and now a San Diego State College professor, said the migrant worker problem is demonstrated by farm labor organizer Cesar Chevez.

"He is a sympton of a growing need in our society of people who are saying 'Help. Let's do something so that people may live.' "

Cushion Drives Are Ruled Out

A few sharp shocks are ahead for about 200 car drivers in Mill Valley.

Those who have placed concrete on the curb at the entrance to driveways to insure their car's homecoming is smooth and shockfree will be told to take it away.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer told the city council last night the city intends to endorce its ordinance against illegal encroachments. The concrete forced storm water out onto the street and cost money in wear and tear, he said.

Twice before, the city considered enforcing the ordinance — in 1958 and 1963 — but it was not followed through.

Balmer added, prophetically: "We expect some problems — public relation problems — but we will try to handle them."

In some cases, drivers will have to make a minor adjustment to get rid of the encroachment. In others, it will require city-owner co-operation to solve the problem, he said.

High Court Will Decide On Loitering

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court will make the final verdict on the constitutionality of California's anti-loitering law.

The issue was sent on to Washington after the District Court of Appeal yesterday refused to consider a decision by the San Francisco Superior Court holding the law was constitutional.

A Los Angeles court has found the law unconstitutional.

The local court upheld the law's requirement that a person identify himself when requested to do so by police who believe he is acting suspiciously.

Marshall W. Krause, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said the case would be taken to the Supreme Court because of the conflicting decisions.

It goes to the federal court, rather than the California Supreme Court, because the violation is a misdemeanor, not a felony.

Governor, His Wife To Part

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Gov. Roberto Sanchez Vilella, 54, announced last night that he and his wife, Conchita, 46, are separating after nearly 31 years of marriage and that he will retire from politics at the end of his term in 1968.

"An irreconcilable and irreversible situation has resulted in a separation between myself and my wife," the governor said in a statement shortly after returning from a weekend governors' conference at the White House.

Sanchez's retirement from politics apparently was the result of pressure from the ruling Popular Democratic party. He had been a contender for renomination as the party's gubernatorial candidate in 1968.

The governor and his wife have two daughters and five grandchildren.

Resort Zone Set To Buffer Airport

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted 6-1, with Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. dissenting, to recommend industrial and resort-commercial recreation zoning around the Marin County Airport at Novato.

Schultz's dissent was based on the use of the relatively new resort-commercial recreation zone to block development. Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said it appeared the best zone available to keep housing tracts from developing near the airport.

Evelyn Allison, one of the owners of the land involved, noted that the zone extended nearly a mile from the airport to Petaluma Creek. "It's big enough for Disneyland," she said.

She was also worried about the "non-conforming cows" that are grazing in the area, wondering if they would have to go once they started ranging over an area designated for recreation.

Zucker said the ordinance was not too clear on the point, but he was sure the cows would be allowed to stay.

Some of the 700 and more acres had earlier been placed in the receation zone. The changes recommended yesterday included a switch from manufacturing to recreation at the north end of the runway, on the ground that it would retard development in an area that might be needed for expansion.

"I think this is a sad commentary on the zoning procedure," Commissioner Schultz declared.

Reservations Over Greater Zucker Role

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday generally favored assigning more power to Planning Director Paul C. Zucker and his staff, letting him approve or deny applications for architectural supervision now handled by the commission.

In a discussion near the end of yesterday's commission meeting, close to 7 p.m., the most reservations came from Commissioner Hugh Dougherty. He suggested that Zucker might be allowed to approve but not deny applications for architecural supervision.

Under Zucker's proposal, he would approve or deny, with the applicant having the right to appeal to the commission and thence to the board of supervisors. He also would change the term from architectural supervision to design review.

Zucker said that he would like to have a group of architectural advisers to assist the planning staff in just about all cases.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. doubted that a group of architects should evaluate another architect's work, but he thought Zucker's idea worth a try.

Dougherty said he had several questions, but chairman Margaret Azevedo, with an eye on the clock, suggested that he write out his questions so they could be discussed at the next commission meeting on April 3.

Raft Associate Gets Boot Too

LONDON (AP) — American gambler Dino Cellini went to France today after the British government rejected his plea to stay in the country.

Cellini, 52, is a director of the Colony Club, the casino at which actor George Raft was host. The government refused to let Raft return after he went to the U ed States last month for a vacation.

Both Cellini and Raft were told their presence in Britain "would not be conducive to the public good." The government is reported worried by the growing number of Americans with interests in British gaming clubs.

Planners Pass West Marin's Plan

The West Marin Master Plan was finally approved by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday and sent back to the Board of Supervisors for further public hearings.

Only debate was over the boundary of an area at the south end of Tomales Bay that the commission some time ago had recommended be purchased with public funds and retained as a bird refuge. The action was taken so long ago that the commission was not sure if this should include all tidal areas at the end of the bay or just the area west of the onetime proposed alignment of Shoreline Highway.

It was finally agreed that it should be only the area west of this alignment.

Supervisors next Tuesday are scheduled to decide when they will call a public hearing on the plan.

Safety Agency Hit By Nader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader accused the government's traffic safety agency today of moving with "agonizing timidity" and said it issued totally inadequate safety standards for 1968 cars.

The lanky safety crusader assailed the automobile industry and the national traffic safety agency alike in testimony for the Senate Commerce Committee, "with very few exceptions," Nader said, "these standards did not advance the level of existing safety beyond what would have been the case without the law."

"Among the worst performing vehicles on the road today (are ones which) can meet or exceed the standards set for the 1968 models," he said.

High-Risers Proposed For Enchanted Knolls

High-rise development has been proposed for Enchanted Knolls, Mill Valley Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon disclosed yesterday.

The proposal by owners of the undeveloped portion of the Knolls, about 80 acres, was received in the mail March 13, and presented to the Mill Valley Planning Commission that night.

Commissioners commended the rough sketch by Sherrill Broudy, Santa Barbara architect and an owner of the property, Bragdon said. No action was taken, as none was asked, but Broudy was asked to supply a cross-section of his plan.

Highlights of the sketch were two hotel buildings eight to 12 stories high, a restaurant, professional office complex, educational center, motel, convention center, shops, recreation facilities and gas station. Development would be concentrated on the east side of the ridge above Highway 101 and on Enchanted Point.

Previous plans for single-family and townhouse development of the property fizzled, Bragdon said, because they were not feasible above the freeway.

According to a letter Broudy sent with his sketch, "an extensive area could be devoted to a landscaped park setting." High-rise buildings, he conceded, "might create much criticism."

Bragdon said he suggested that Broudy provide a sketch "to see what it would look like." High-rise buildings, he said, "could fit in very well with the hill as a backdrop."

Club Takes No Bond Issue Stand

Sausalito Women's Club officers today asked that the Independent-Journal make known that the club did not go on record for the $250,000 Sausalito Library bond issue, which narrowly failed of passage March 7.

The club endorsed the proposed plan and location for the library, but took no position on the bond issue.

Credit Bureau Probe Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher said today his House subcommittee will investigate the distribution of information on citizens by private computerized services.

Congress has been told that as of a few years ago, 2,000 independent credit bureaus maintained more than 70 million records. Many other bureaus assemble and distribute a wide variety of information touching on the characters of individuals or details about their lives, Gallagher said.

The New Jersey Democrat said he wants to protect the industry as well as the right to privacy of the individual citizen.

Hearing Set Despite Bolinas Lagoon Freeze

The Marin County Planning Commission agreed yesterday to start looking at Muskrat Corp.'s plans for the north shore of Bolinas Lagoon, a month before the "freeze" on development expires.

John Campbell, architect for the corporation, asked that the commission start considering his plans prior to expiration of the freeze to avoid further delay. He said his plans were developed several months ago, but have never been before the commission.

The corporation's 15.5 acres are among properties that the county wants to purchase for park and open space. Campbell has designed 11 homes in two clusters that would leave much of the beach open.

He told the Independent-Journal he believed the plan would provide considerable open space and public access, giving the county what it is trying to achieve without the expense of buying the property.

Commission Chairman Margaret Azevedo told Campbell the only way he could get the plan properly before the commission would be by applying for a use permit. Under the freeze, development can be allowed only through use permit and then the use must comply with the master plan. The lagoon master plan shows the Muskrat property in open space.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said that by the time the use permit was discussed, the freeze would have expired.

He suggested that Campbell present development plans May 1.

ZONE DENIED — Denied Dunya Chernenko's request for rezoning from single family to administrative and professional a lot at Cardinal and Flamingo roads in Tamalpais Valley.

ALMONTE AREAS — Voted to replace commercial zoning with single and multiple zones at Wisteria Way and Almonte Boulevard and Stadium Way and Almonte Boulevard. Commissioners Michael Praszker and Dougherty dissented, objecting to the extent of multiple zoning.

DEDICATION — Voted 5-2, with Commissioners Niels Schultz Jr. and Eugene R. Trombley dissenting, to require Alfred J. Stearn, developer of the 170-acre Dias Ranch west of Mill Valley, to dedicate 20 feet for widening of Shoreline Highway with each increment of his development.

TIME — Adjourned at 7:15 p.m.

Student Club Opposes Fees

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The California Club, made up of 180 student leaders from the nine University of California campuses, yesterday voiced opposition to tuition at U.C.

The club also endorsed a "mass public relations campaign to fill the communications gap between the university and society."

Ron Peterson, club president, said the group felt that if tuition is inevitable, the tuition funds should be used for scholarships or loans to disadvantaged students. The club opposed any use of tuition funds to balance the state's budget.

On the public relations proposal, Peterson said the club felt that students and U.C. regents could both benefit from such a campaign.

Key Figure In Dominican Feud Shot During Ride

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, a key figure in the Dominican turmoil two years ago, was shot and apparently wounded on a street union protest.

First reports said Imbert was in the outskirts of Santo Domingo today.

First reports said Imbert was fired upon while riding in a car and that the vehicle had 23 bullet holes in it. Imbert himself was in International Hospital here but there was no announcement of his condition.

Imbert was one of the two survivors of the men directly involved in the assassination of dictator Rafael L. Trujillo in 1961.

After a rebellion two years ago by forces seeking to return Juan Bosch as president, Imbert headed a national reconstruction junta. He resigned when Hector Garcia-Godoy took over as provisional president in 1965.

Sausalito Citizens Study Fate Of Library Proposal

A citizens committee to study Sausalito's proposed library was formed last night at the library board's meeting, reported Board Chairman Alice Scarborough.

Twenty persons in the audience volunteered to work on the committee, she said, and about 25 more will be asked to join it. The committee includes opponents and proponents of the $250,000 bond measure which failed March 7 to get the necessary two-thirds margin at the polls.

First meeting of the committee will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Campbell Hall, with a second meeting scheduled there March 28, also at 8 ,.m.

The committee is to make recommendations on site, size and financing of a library to trustees on April 3, the day before trustees are to recommend "the next step" to the city council. W. Bruce Shafer, Sausalito real estate broker, was elected chairman of the committee.

City. Mgr. George M. Patterson reported last week to city councilmen that the city's application for a $148,906 federal grant for the library will remain in force if new plans for financing the library can be made by April 17.

Trustees set a special meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the library to discuss preliminary budget requests for fiscal 1968.

Overdose Treated

Novato Trustees End Wait On Civic Center

The Novato Unified School District, after more than two years of waiting for the City of Novato to select a civic center site, will start looking for its own site for an adminsitration and service center building, the district board decided last night.

The district more than two years ago announced that money in its last bond issue for a new administration building, would be held to be used at a site to be chosen by the city for a civic center. The city council last week abandoned the idea, deciding to keep city hall at its present location.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack, attending his first school board meeting last night, expressed the city's regret that the two agencies would not occupy the same civic center site.

The board directed the staff to investigate the use of the Marion School site, going in with Marin County with a branch library, or going onto some other site.

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

PRINCIPALS — Approved advertising for principals both within the district and elsewhere for the new Wilson Avenue junior high school and San Marin high school. Both schools will be opened in the fall of 1968.

BIDS — Called for bids to be opened on April 17 on site development on the Wilson Avenue junior high school.

REPORTS — Heard that the district will try to hire one reading specialist for each elementary school.

EMPLOYMENT — Officially appointed Stanley Onderdonk as principal of Novato High School for next school year; hired Kathleen Coletto to teach at West Novato School, and Elizabeth Vernon and Phylistel White to teach at Hamilton School next year.

Salazar Bridge Is Turning Into White Elephant

LISBON, Portugal, (AP) — Nearly a year after inaugurating the $75-million Salazar Bridge—the world's fifth longest—Portuguese are wondering whether the span has turned out to be a white elephant.

The toll bridge straddles the Tagus River, linking Lisbon with the underdeveloped agricultural south, but the traffic hasn't come up to expectations.

Many workers, who make up the bulk of the commuters across the river, cannot afford the 28-cent roundtrip bus fare and prefer the flat-bottomed ferries costing 6 cents or less. More than 50,000 workers recently signed a petition protesting the higher bus fare.

U.S. Steel International, which built the bridge, predicted 20,000 vehicles would cross it per day, but the average daily crossings have reached only 8,300 at about $1.40 per vehicle.

Negro Wins Rental Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Negro social worker said today she would move into an Alameda apartment house after its owner agreed to rent to her at a hearing of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

The owner, Raymond E. Hanson, also agreed to adopt and advertise a nondiscrimination policy for the Atlanta Apartments.

Mrs. Catheryn Tate charged last September that she was refused an apartment in the 186-unit complex because she is Negro.

What was to be a two-day hearing before the commission ended after 4½ hours when Hanson agreed to accept Mrs. Tate as a tenant.

Driver Sought On Charges In Fatal Smashup

An unemployed laborer was sought today by Merced County authorities on felony manslaughter and drunken driving charges in connection with the flaming head-on collision that killed a young Mill Valley couple and two friends March 7.

Killed on Highway 152 five miles east of Los Banos were Mill Valley Post Office carrier Ralph Larry Grayson, 24, and his wife, Helen Frances, 23, of 50 Greenwood Way, Mill Valley; Cheri Kolb, 19, of Vancouver, B.C., and Michael Harrison, 25, of San Francisco.

Merced County Dist. Atty. Pat Hallford said a warrant had been issued for Wilbert Hall, 42, of Fresno, driver of the car which Hallford said crossed the center line and hit the Grayson's small foreign car, igniting a butane tank the Grayson party was taking on a camping trip to Yosemite Valley.

Hallford said testimony furnished by other motorists that Hall was driving erratically and a blood test for alcohol were the basis of the charges. The district attorney said Hall had disappeared from his Fresno address when arresting officers went there Friday, and an all-points bulletin for his apprehension has been issued.

Collision Victim In Good Condition

Cynthia Johnson, 37, of 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today. She was injured Sunday morning in a two-car accident on Highway 101 near Terra Linda overpass.

Driver of the car she was riding in, Thomas A. Lenhart, 29, of 103 First Street, San Rafael, has been released from the hospital after treatment for a cut chin.

Rec Chief's Student Hiring Idea Vetoed

County Administrator Alan Bruce turned thumbs down yesterday on a proposal by Pierre W. Joske, parks and recreation director, that the county pay $2.50 an hour to students of University of California in a summer intern program.

Joske proposed it at the start of a lengthy budget hearing with Bruce and staff. He called the program "feasible and desirable."

The county administrator, however, was unenthusiastic and suggested this and other cuts in the hiring of extra staff. One alternative discussed was the use of youth job corps workers when available.

The director's total request budget of $468,780 was whittled down to $414,880. During the current year, the department is expected to spend $161,861.

Among the major capital projects in mind for next year is extension of Manzanita Marina Green, for which $110,000 was requested, including $22,590 unspent from the current budget.

A request for $20,000 for the Bolinas Beach access was kept in the upcoming budget, although Bruce and his staff considered the county should "ease up" on money spent there in view of the large amount earmarket for Bolinas Lagoon land acquisition.

The 1967-68 recommendations, with current year's estimated spending in brackets, are as follows: Salaries ($62,'78 ($52,202); services and supplies $54,175 ($38,738); fixed assets $298,127 ($70,921).

County Assessor Bert W. Brommell made requests in his department's budget totalling $751,297, compared with spending in the current year of $630,336. He expected one extra clerk would be added to the payroll.

Dealing with the county's fire protection budget, Bruce said his office would support Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom's recommendation that a fire training officer be appointed next fiscal year.

Bloom agreed to delaying a proposal to establish a new site for a Tomales sub-station. His requests in the upcoming budget totalled $487,307, compared with estimated spending in the current year of $480,170.

One-Car Crashes Hospitalize Two Marin Drivers

Two Marinites were in Marin General Hospital today after their cars went off rain-slick Highway 101 yesterday and today.

Christel Else Herda, 23, of 630 Woodbine Drive, San Rafael, was reported in good condition with deep cuts on eyebrow and back and bruises, suffered when she went through the windshield.

She was driving north in congested traffic on the San Rafael overpass at 12:05 a.m. today when her car skidded into the guard rail, then spun across the road into the bridge rail, according to California Highway Patrol.

Bryan John O'Reilly, 38, of 251 Flamingo Avenue, Mill Valley, suffered facial injuries, a cut cheek and bruises and was reported in good condition today.

California Highway Patrol reported that as he turned into highway 101 at the San Quentin Wye, yesterday at 3:20 p.m., his car spun on the wet road and hit the divider rail.

Tam Trustees Hear Sports Center Request

Rev. Samuel L. Banks of Marin City last night asked the Tamalpais High School District Board to consider development of the Marin City High School site as a "Southern Marin sports center."

Banks said the area offers "no wholesome recreation at all" except for a boys club started six months ago for boys 7 to 14 years old. He said teen-agers now use Drake Avenue, Marin City's main street, as a drag strip. He suggested a safe drag strip could be developed on the unused high school site.

BALL DIAMOND

He also suggested development there of a baseball diamond, a sauna bath, and a hobby center to include leather craft, photography and drama.

The program could possibly be financed through federal funds, he said. Churches, Boy Scouts and Boys clubs might help with a "leadership training program."

Trustee William B. Lewis said the board would need more details before the plan could be considered. He said one of the responsibilities of a proposed citizen committee on school building needs will be to consider use of the Marin City site.

REPORT ASKED

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle asked Banks to prepare a detailed written report for the citizens committee, and Banks agreed.

The trustees outlined the responsibilities of the citizens committee. The 12 committee members who will be appointed April 3 will be asked to determine district building needs concerning a new high school in San Geronimo Valley, expansion of facilities for Redwood High School, a new high school on the Tiburon Peninsula, building needs at Tamalpais High School and expanded central educational facilities.

The Tamalpais High School District Board also:

INFORMATIONAL MEETING —Agreed to devote the May 1 board meeting to answering written questions from residents on any district matter, and informational discussion with the audience.

FEDERAL FUNDS — Approved applications for federal funds for four programs: distributive education, clerk-typist, machine transcription, and food services training, which would cost a total of $38,[illegible]90, of which $17,897 would be in district funds.

PORTABLE CLASSROOMS — Awarded a $28,895 contract for a five-year lease of portable classrooms to low bidder Designed Facilities Co.

DUST COLLECTION — Awarded a contract for a dust collection system for the industrial arts program at Sir Francis Drake High School to low bidder Knoles Inc. of San Rafael for $4,133.

REDWOOD ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of part of Redwood High School to Larkspur.

EVENING SCHOOL — Approved a list of teachers and class assignments for adult evening school.

$300 To $600 Extra Pay To Tomales Bay Teachers

Teachers in Tomales Bay Elementary School District last night were granted pay increases of $300 to $600, beyond the regular step increases in their salary scale.

The district board adopted a new pay schedule increasing the scale from $5,300-$9,800 to $5,600-$10,400 per year.

The Tomales Bay Joint Union School District Board also:

MARSHALL—Adopted a resolution returning the old Marshall School to the heirs of the Kleiser Estate on June 30. No action was taken on disposing of the Bloomfield School site, also no longer used.

BUS SERVICE—Approved an agreement with the Tomales High School District for bus service next year at an increase from 25 cents to 30 cents per round trip per student.

BONDS—Learned from David Raffo, principal, that the bond assumption election for the former American Valley and Bloomfield districts will be held on April 18. Neither district has any bonded indebtedness but residents are voting on assuming their share of the $80,000 Tomales District indebtedness when the three districts merge on June 30.

Joint Recreation Meeting Scheduled

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission and representatives of the Fairfax Recreation Department last night agreed on a joint meeting of the San Anselmo and Fairfax commissions April 18 at 7:45 p.m. at Red Hill School to discuss joint programs.

The commissione set a kite flying contest for April 8 at Memorial Park for San Anselmo elementary school children and learned the San Anselmo Little League has donated $150 for improvements at Memorial Park.

School Advisers Ask More Building Plans

Mill Valley School District's Citizens Advisory Committee studying the proposed June bond election of more than $3 million last night agreed it could not make recommendations on a building program without details on the program.

Architects for the building program do not expect to have preliminary plans ready until late in April. Monday is the deadline for trustees to adopt a resolution formally setting the election June 13.

The committee also agreed trustees will have to decide whether to phase out some neighborhood schools before selling voters on a bond measure, reported Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson. This decision will have a "very significant" effect on the outcome of the measure, the committee agreed. Trustees have asked their architects to recommend whether some schools should be phased out.

Approximately 20 of the 37 members of the committee attended last night's meeting. Next meeting of the committee will be April 3 at 8 p.m. in the school district office, 26 Miller Avenue.

Chief of police of the City of Larkspur is Howard Clark.

Students See How Board Performs

It was the first time half of them had ever been in the Civic Center, let alone attending a Marin County Board of Supervisors meeting, but today nearly a score of Marin high school students sat attentively through the supervisors' weekly verb-fest, taking notes with never a yawn.

The first morning of the Model County Government program sponsored by the Marin YMCA, designed to teach high school seniors county government first hand, was devoted to attending the supervisors' meeting.

Dale Greenlee, program associate for the YMCA, said the new model government program attracted 27 students, interested in augmenting their academic studies of government in their senior year.

Tomorrow, student "department heads" will spend the day with their adult counterparts in regular county government. A mock board of supervisors meeting will be held April 15 to hear proposals from the "county administrator" and "department heads."

This morning the students sat in the supervisors' chambers, mini-skirts and sneakers in contrast to the dark suits around them, and heard the board plough through an agenda that included appointments, a complicated transfer of funds to get the county airport out of hock, and a discussion of the National Park Service's intention to raze a barn at Point Reyes National Seashore.

Greenlee said a similar model program is scheduled for May — a model judicial program — when students will pose as attorneys, witnesses, jury and defendants in a mock trial at the county courthouse under a real judge.

Attorneys will work with the students and coach them in their roles, said Greenlee, to mark Law Week.

High School students participating in the model county government program include: Marin Catholic: Palua Frideger; Redwood: Nick Krause; San Rafael: Harry Barbier, Bill Joost, Gerald King, Gregory Molloy, Jim Newey, Michael Polk, Don Timmer, Ken Waxman, Ned Johnston; Terra Linda: Suzi Arago, Steven Bajor, Wendy Banks, Leroy Barrow, Mike Einstein, Chris Harris, Dan Kiilhoven, John Leonard, David Long, Barbara McCarthy, Charlotte Millis, John Mosher, Carol Parkinson, Decote Phillips, Cam Toomas, and Mariette Tuinzing.

Supervisors Transfer Cash For Airport Buy

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today unanimously voted for transfer of $62,992 from the hospital medical care fund to the airport project to cover a last-minute shortage in funding.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the board that the Federal Aviation Agency has finally given approval tto the project, which included realignment and enlargement of the runway.

The need for additional funds for the $535,000 project arose through the board's decision to purchase rather than pay severance on 21 acres, and through changes in design required by FAA.

Supervisors praised Robert Middagh of the department of public works for his work on negotiating land purchase, which included sessions with the 16 heirs of the Bodkin estate and travels to Reno on his own time and expense to take some of the heirs.

County Administrator Alan Bruce, meeting with Frost in budget discussion yesterday, gave his approval to a $69,983 airport budget for next fiscal year. This will include an airport manager starting Oct. 1 at $753 a month and one fulltime and one half-time airport attendant, with fulltime monthly pay at $510, starting next Jan. 1.

The budget would also provide for additional capital expenses, including installation of underground pipes, and fuel storage tanks.

Sausalitan Found Dead In Garage

John F. Mailer, a 56-year-old Sausalito salesman, was found hanging from the garage rafters at his home at 512 Main Street yesterday.

Deputy Coroner Keith C. Craig said Mailer was found about 3 p.m. by his wife, Beverly Ryder Mailer, when she returned from work. Earlier in the day, she had been told by his secretary he had not arrived for work at Recorder Printing and Publishing Co. in San Francisco.

Craig said Mailer had attempted suicide by taking pills March 6, and his wife said he had been drinking excessively.

Born in Montreal, Canada, Mailer had lived in Marin 14 years and in California 16 years.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Teen-Agers Hurt In Cycle Mishap

Two Corte Madera youths were injured when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with a car near 577 Paradise Drive in Corte Madera yesterday at 8 p.m., according to Corte Madera police.

Stephen D. Coleman, 16, of 249 Balcutha Drive, driver of the motorcycle, suffered a leg injury and multiple bruises and was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital. Rober Hubell, 14, of 149 Westward Drive, a passenger, was also in good condition at the same hospital with multiple cuts, scrapes and bruises.

James H. Actgen, 68, of 3 Monoma Drive, Corte Madera, driver of the car, was not injured.

Jury Trial Set On Grand Theft

Jury trial for Dave Townsel Jr., 20, of Larkspur, charged with grand theft from Harold Smith in Sausalito on Jan. 9, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for June 12.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson yesterday denied a motion for dismissal of the theft complaint on grounds of insufficient evidence.

City Employees To Defend Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — City employees decided to mount a counter-offensive and raise a $100,000 "fighting fund" last night to defend recent pay hikes of $10.4 million.

Some 2,000 white collar workers jammed Nourse Auditorium to hear city officials and union leaders promise an "all out" campaign against a referendum sought by the Homeowners Alliance.

The alliance, headed by realtor George R. Goodwin, seeks to have the voters rescind the pay hike. Opponents must gather 23,819 signatures by April 6 to get the matter on the ballot. They won a court order yesterday allowing them to resume gathering of voters' signatures.

MIDAIR TRAFFIC JAM

Two Methods Of Solving Drainage Problems Given

Two methods of solving Belvedere and Tiburon's mutual drainage problems were weighed last night by a drainage committee of the two city councils.

Chairman Edwin J. Dreschel of the Belvedere council said a committee favored reconstruction of an old drain from the holding pond on Tiburon Peninsula Club property which would empty into the bay at Elephant Rock.

The alternative to this would be a drain across Northwestern Pacific Railroad property, emptying into Belvedere Cove, a proposal that has drawn strong objection from some Belvedere residents and yachting interests in the cove area.

Advantages of the old drain to Elephant Rocks cited by Dreschsel were that it would allow construction of a non-tidal canal for drainage, recreation and beautification by Tiburon; that it would best relieve drainage problems on Tiburon Boulevard; that it would serve more people, thus costing less to construct under an assessment district.

Committee members, Dreschel said, will report their recommendations to their respective city councils in April.

Fliers Saved From Sonoma Mountainside

NAPA (AP)—A little plane crashed in the rain against a mountain.

For more than five hours, the two men it had carried lay injured in a remote, rough area while a ground search party tried to find them. The "fix" for the search was a radio message the injured pilot managed to send out.

Today the pilot, Arthur S. Mars, 49, and his flying pupil, Thomas Suellau, 25, both of Napa, were recovering from their injuries in hospitals at Vallejo and Napa.

Their Cessna 150 single-engine plane crashed about noon yesterday on the west side of Mount Veeder, 10 miles north of Sonoma. It was almost 6 p.m. before the search party of Napa and Sonoma County sheriff's deputies found them.

The steep, thickly forested region was so rough that most of the party's equipment bogged down trying to get there.

The litters, with wire baskets, had to be carried a mile and a half from the nearest road.

An Albatross flying boat from the 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base provided radio communication during the rescue, being unable to land in the area.

Senator Claims LBJ's Income Tax Plan Hoax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams said today President Johnson doesn't really want an income tax increase this year and instead plans to pump $9.3 billion into the economy before the 1968 election.

The Delaware Republican said of Johnson's proposal for a 6 per cent surtax on individual and corporate income taxes: "They don't really want this and they don't expect to get it."

Both Republicans and Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee sharply questioned administration motives yesterday as Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler testified on proposals to restore tax breaks to business.

Williams, ranking GOP member of the committee, told Fowler that in seeking to restore tax incentives to business, "you are killing your chances" for the income tax surcharge.

KITTY'S FATE RUSHED

Mistake Admitted By Humane Society

Immediate execution of a cat taken to the Marin County Humane Society for adoption — even while its owner was filling out the paper giving it to the society — was disclosed today in a letter to the Independent-Journal.

Mel L. Morse, executive director of the humane society, admitted "we goofed."

"There apparently was a misunderstanding and somehow the cat got put to sleep," Morse said. He said he called a staff meeting to determine responsibility and avoid further such mix-ups.

The event came to light in a letter to the I-J from Mrs. Norah Maclennan Lee of 79 Live Oak Avenue, Fairfax.

She said she took the cat, for which she and her husband had been caring for months since it was found abandoned, to the society last Thursday. Mrs. Lee said the society had assured her over the telephone a new home would be sought for the animal.

Upon arrival, she related, the cat was taken from her by an attendant and taken to a rear area.

"We inquired of the clerk what his chances of adoption would be," Mrs. Lee wrote. "She said she doubted he'd be adopted and probably would be put to sleep."

When the couple said they did not want the cat exterminated and asked for him back, the clerk said the cat had already been "put to sleep."

"This all happened within four or five minutes," Mrs. Lee said. "Our intent was to find this lovely cat a home, but the people in the office overruled us and decidec he should die."

Morse said today "it was not the policy of the society to let this happen, and there's no reason why the cat shouldn't have been taken for adoption.

"We try to avoid this sort of thing."

Death Row Appeal Due For Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The fight of a Sacramento cop killer to avoid the gas chamber April 12 will be heard by the U.S. Court of Appeals on April 6.

The court today granted the hearing to Aaron C. Mitchell, 36, convicted of killing a policeman during a Sacramento holdup. The hearing will be on Mitchell's appeal from denial of a writ of habeas corpus last Nov. 23 by U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli.

Mitchell, an itinerant cotton picker from Arkansas, was convicted of the murder of policeman Arnold Gamble during the Stadium Club robbery in Sacramento in 1963.

Mitchell's lawyers contended that Mitchell took the stand and in effect testified against himself by allowing his past record to be brought in on impeachment proceedings and that he did this to avoid having the trial judge comment adversely if he failed to take the stand.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that the California law permitting such comment is unconstitutional.

Ski School Loses Cash, Cigarettes

Burglars broke a window of Mira Monte Marina Ski School on Redwood Highway, Novato, to steal $110 cash and 18 packages of cigarettes Saturday, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said the owner, Robert Wineman, reported no loss of sporting equipment, however.

Jerome Arthur Gifford, 380 South Morning Sun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, told officers locked home that day, taking two cameras and a portable radio from a bedroom and two bottles of liquor from the kitchen. No force entry was evident, he said.

Burglars last Friday pried a board covering a broken window at the Valley Garage, Forest Knolls, according to owner Ronny D. Roberson Jr., entering to steal a small butane tank and a small quantity of auto parts. Roberson reported the break-in the same day. The sheriff's report became available today.

A locked car owned by Andrew L. Pansini, 180 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, and parked in the 800 block of College Avenue in Kentfield was entered Friday by breaking a ventilator wing, officers said today. Taken were an $80 stereophonic set and 10 stereophonic tapes.

San Rafael Shoe Store's Cash Stolen

Burglars entered Karl's Shoe Store, 941 Fourth Street, San Rafael, last night and stole about $12 from the cash register. It was not known whether any shoes or other merchandise were taken.

Entry was through a skylight at the rear of the building.

NEARLY A MILE OF MALL—This is how "open space" with pools and geometric patterns of landscaping will appear, running in a direct line for 4,000 feet through Marincello, as approved yesterday by the county planning commission. The drawing was presented with the plan by Kalvin Platt and Edmund C. Heine Jr.

Council Has Questions On Police Plans

The Corte Madera Town Council asked last night for new direction in the plan to form a county services area in unincorporated areas to assume the cost of police protection.

The move came when Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows asked in a letter for the council's vote of confidence on a recommendation by the Marin City-County Services Committee that certain areas of police work remain as county-wide responsibility to be borne by all taxpayers.

The council, acting on a recommendation by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, agreed that consideration should first be given to formation of a services area before determining methods of taxpayer support.

The council then asked Usher to prepare a memorandum on the council's stand for presentation to officials of other cities March 29 at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen in Deer Park Villa, Fairfax.

Under a county service area, the patrol functions and other services now financed by county-wide tax would be borne by taxpayers in unincorporated areas.

However, the committee agreed recently that detective service, police protection in Marin City, protection connected with tourism, regional police need and a certain minimum level of patrol would stay as county-wide responsibility. The jail and civil departments also would be supported county-wide, it was recommended.

Cyclist Is Hurt In Novato Wreck

Stephen Lyle Johnson, 18, of 825 Eucalyptus Avenue, Novato, was cut on his hands and head when his motorcycle skidded at 3:10 p.m. yesterday on Center Road, Novato, according to Novato police.

Johnson's motorcycle skidded 174 feet from 2255 to 2265 Center Road, police reported.

Mile-Long Marincello Mall Plan Squeaks By

recirculated to higher levels, providing artificial water falls. A large pool in the center will be shallower than the others. It will have steps around it and can be drained for street dancing and theatrical or musical events.

Stroller emphasized that Marincello and the architects should be commended for setting aside so much open space, but he could not generate enthusiasm for the plan.

Heine said the mall would obviously appear as "man-made open space" and would contrast with the hillsides.

Darrel Coneybeare of the county planning staff emphasized the scale of the proposed mall by showing it was as long as St. Peter's square in Rome.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the department was not recommending against the proposal "but it's not the design we would have come up with."

Commissioner William F. Upton suggested the configuaration of the mall be determined by the natural slopes and curve of the canyon rather than setting it down in a straight line. However, he voted in favor of the plan.

Compromise Set On Unit Variance

Despite pleas from the owners, Marin County Planning Commission voted 5-1 yesterday to deny a variance allowing three living units in a single family zone at 315 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley. Commissioner Hugh Dougherty dissented.

Commissioners, however, agreed to compromise and permit rearrangement of the existing units to provide two living quarters.

Owners Mr. and Mrs. Javier Benedet said there had been at least two units before they bought the property in 1956. A third unit was constructed before they realized it was not allowed, they said.

Valley Residents Planning Cleanup

San Geronimo Valley Association last night agreed to take part in a valley cleanup campaign to start April 1.

Valley merchants will get litter bags to distribute to customers from the San Geronimo Valley Lions Club, which is initiating the campaign. County refuse crews will pick up collected litter as needed from three sites to be set up in the valley.

The association announced a candidates' night for the Lagunitas School Board election will be help at 8 p.m. April 10 at Lagunitas School.

The Red Cross blood bank will be set up April 8 at the Woodacre Improvement Club, it was announced.

Heart Attack

Byron L. Haviside Jr., 35, of 116-A Edwards Avenue, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital after suffering a heart attack yesterday in Rico's Restaurant, 1214 Bridgeway, Sausalito. Firemen rushed oxygen to the restaurant at 3 p.m. and took Haviside to the hospital.

Corte Madera Beauty Timetable Approved

The second step in a five-year municipal beautification program was approved last night by the Cort Madera Town Council.

The council voted to apply for federal funds totaling $25,630.89. Total cost of the work was estimated at $68,275, with Corte Madera sharing the tab primarily in the use of the town's labor force.

Work scheduled this year includes further turfing and irrigation and construction of a parking lot at the new town park; shopping area landscaping; installation of an irrigation system on Paradise Drive, and more landscaping at the public safety substation.

Completed or nearly finished in the first year of the program in 1966 were an interior drainage system, a parking lot and covering of an open ditch, all in connection with construction of the town park; extensive landscaping and planting of trees around the town.

The town estimates the final three years of the beautification program will cost about $397,000.

The council lauded a proposed summer recreation program outlined by Larkspur Recreation Director Robert C. Bundy, and passed it onto the town's Park and Recreation Commission for approval. Corte Madera and Larkspur are engaged in a joint program.

Planned for Corte Madera this summer are a 40-day playground program of athletics, arts and crafts, museum visits, outings, archery, music and drama at San Clemente, Larkspur-Corte Madera schools and in town park; a 12-member tennis class at town park courts; baseball instruction for 7-year-olds, and overnight camp-out in either Samuel Taylor or Tamalpais state park.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

ANNEXATION — Approved, after a public hearing, annexation of a 2.41-acre section of property south of Meadow Sweet Drive, known as the Sanford property.

MURAL — Unveiled in the council chambers a mural depicting the town's history, painted by Corte Madera artist Kenneth Potter in connection with the town's 50th anniversary last year.

ELECTION — Set for April 25 a special election on de-annexation to Larkspur of some 20 lots of property along Elm Avenue. Polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in residence at 163 Elm Avenue for the area's 31 eligible voters.

STREET DEDICATION — Dedicated Robing Drive, a new street in the Uplands area.

CONGESTION — Planned to consider April 3 recommendations to eliminate traffic congestion around Tamal Vista Boulevard and Fifer Avenue, near Redwood High School. Mrs. J. W. McClintock of 20 Buena Vista also complained of incidents of careless driving in the area.

PROPERTIES —Set for 7:30 p.m. pril 17 public hearings on annexation of properties on Christmas Tree Hill, portion of William Avenue, the Berkeley Co-opertative property, and the State Department of Motor Vehicles porperty.

ELECTRICAL CODE — Introduced an ordinance updating the town's electrical code.

APPOINTMENTS — Postponed until April 3 appointment of two council members to a joint Larkspur-Corte Madera library study committee.

SEMINAR — Authorized Finance Director John R. Vance to attend the annual seminar of the California Municipal treasurers Associations, April 18-21 in Anaheim.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Woman Arraigned On Marijuana

Judith Ann Ferguson, 20, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of marijuana possession. Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 2 p.m. April 3.

Miss Ferguson, also known as Jodi Sumpter, was arrested Friday after sheriff's officers saw two plants which appeared to be marijuana growing at her home, Cabin 5 at Muir Beach.

Deputies said she also had marijuana in her purse when booked at county jail.

It has long narrow set-in sleeves tipped with chocolate brown and white. Center, art nouveau print of the palest water color lilacs, yellows and blues by Castillo. The easy A-shape features Castillo's favorite cut-out petal neckline. Flower-shaped hat emphasizes floral motif seen throughout the cool collection. Rodef Sholom's Sisterhood Plans Gala Purim Carnival

Fun and games are only a few of the activities to be featured this year at Temple Rodef Sholom's annual gala Purim Carnival Sunday.

The 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. event will include games, booths, grab bag activities, costume parade, food fare as well as the first annual Art Show featuring paintings, ceramics, and sculpture by Temple members. Art items will be for sale as well as exhibit.

Designed for children of all ages, as well as adults, the Carnival to be held in the social hall and Sunday School rooms, includes many traditional features in addition to many new ones. Children will compete for prizes in the Purim costume parade with awards given for the best and most original attire pertinent to the holiday, and, following the tradition of the Festival, everyone will get a Hamantashen, the little pastry reminiscent of the three-cornered hat worn by the evil Haman.

The joyous Festival of Purim honors the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from an evil plot. Haman, the wicked minister to King Ahashuerus, persuaded the King to destroy all the Jews in his kingdom. Esther, the beautiful Jewish queen to the King, at the urging of her cousin, Mordecai, pleaded with the king to spare her people, which he did.

Thus Jews celebrate the holiday with great merriment, the donning of costumes, and the razzing of the name of Haman who was duly punished.

Mrs. David Lapidus is in charge of the Art Show and sale; Mrs. Roy Calder, bazaar; Mrs. Lawrence Landy and Mrs. Myron Kaplan, food. General chairman is Mrs. Earl Sobel.

The Carnival is under the sponsorship of the Sisterhood of Temple Rodef Sholom.

ADMIRING several of the paintings and other items which will be featured when the Sisterhood of Temple Rodef Sholom holds its Purim Carnival on Sunday are, from left, Mesdames Earl Sobel, general chairman, Roy Calder and David Lapidus. The carnival, to be held in the social hall at the temple, will also include a costume parade for the youngsters. (Independent-Journal photo)

Oops — From American fashion designer Adele Simpson comes the story which might be titled, "How a First Lady Must Keep Her Political Guard Up" — or "Elephants' Longevity Shortlived . . ."

It seems that India's Prime Minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, had sent Lady Bird Johnson some sari fabric and recently the First Lady asked Adele Simpson to make some of it up into at-home clothes. Mrs. Johnson was about to buy trousers with a long overblouse made from the saris when her eagle-eyed secretary stopped her. "The President wouldn't like that!" she exclaimed. Mrs. Johnson looked closer and agreed—the pattern of the fabric included dozens of tiny elephants.

EASTER ACTIVITIES and events are in the offing at the various clubs in Marin this week. The Marin Country Club will have an Easter egg hunt and a buffet brunch on Sunday. The kiddies' Easter egg hunt will be held at the pool area in three sessions, at 11 a.m., 12:30 p.m., and 2 p.m. for children of club members. Brunch will be served from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Forget Double-Dealing And Go Back To The Double Dating

DEAR HELEN:

This girl and I have been realy good friends for five years. We double-dated with a couple of nice boys until the boy she was going with—we'll call him Joe—put her down. I continued going with Jerry.

Here's my problem. My girl friend is beginning to like Jerry too well. She hangs around him all the time. That makes Jerry feel like a big man, so he bet me if he asked her out, she'd accept. I bet she wouldn't, out of loyalty to me.

But, Helen, I'm not sure. What if she accepts? There goes a best girl friend and also a boy friend—and it's all my fault for calling him on that bet!

Should I tell her to say "No" when he asks her? I'm not even sure if he will or not.—B.F.

DEAR B:

Why not keep quiet and work like sixty to find your girlfriend a new boyfriend, so you can forget double-dealing and get back to double-dating?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you say to a girl who is constantly saying, "I don't mean to hurt your feelings but . . ." and proceeds to be so darn frank she gives me a complex for a week. (About things I can't change, like how big my feet look, etc.) She usually does this when we're with a crowd, and there are boys around.—DEFLATED.

DEAR DEFLATED:

Give her a long, thoughtful look, then burst out laughing and say, "My, my, dear, aren't you ever the cat's meow!"—H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can I stop feeling responsible for someone's death? I was 14 when my brother introduced me to Buddie. He was four years older and, of course, I was at the age where I'd flip over any guy. We went together a whole summer, and just before school started he gave me his ring. But I wasn't ready to go steady and three days later I gave it back, saying my folks would object. He was rather hurt and we gradually lost interest in one another.

Then he was killed in an auto accident.

I felt it was God's punishment to me for being so foolish. After his death I discovered I'd lost the one person I really loved. I am now 18 and still feel very guilty. Will I ever get over this?—A.F.W.

DEAR A:

You won't get over it, honey, until you start being completely honest with yourself. Go back to age-14 and remember how it really was . . . An 18-year-old boy temporarily interested in a little freshman, whose head was turned because an Older Man Cared. The infatuation didn't lastand you both lost interest. He didn't die from love of you, but because fate planned it that way. You weren't in love with him then, and you aren't now, but you hate the idea that his life was cut short—and you cry over what might have been. You're looking for something to blame it on, and you've settled for—YOU.

Fear of death, and resentment when it comes close to you, often causes guilt feelings. But remember: you had nothing to do with it, and he was only a friend, someone you would probably never have dated again.

Your minister can tell you much better than I that God does not snuff out life to punish others. Let him!—H.

The Latest In Stockings Is Neon Or 'Non-Color'

Words on color in women's hosiery this spring should either be shouted or whispered. Though stockings will come in a full range of colors, the two extremes of hue — the neon brights and the soft, almost-not-colors —will be dominant below the hemline.

While the neon look will be primarily reserved for the very young on party occasions, the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers predicts that women of all ages will find the soft, muted pastel colors eminently wearable. The subtle new colors for spring have been translated into glitter stockings, textured stockings and new opaque, non-sheer stockings, as well as sheer nylons.

Pale colors are especially attractive in the spring textured stockings. In the palest pastel colors the intertwining scrolls and point d'esprit patterns give a delicate lace-curtain effect to the leg. Some textured nylons are so subtle that the texture is apparent only when light strikes the stockings a certain way.

GLITTER STOCKINGS continue to be with us, but the new glitter has been modified to befit the new subtle colors. The trend here definitely is toward a more lady-like shine. Stockings for spring have the pastel glow of pearls. And the new pearl leg also looks right in the daytime, with silks and linens, as in the evening.

Mrs. Leonard Downing, left, who will talk on "Indian Universities and Schools," shows Mrs. Charles Fauvre one of the art objects she acquired during five years' residence in Pakistan. State P-TA Opposes Tuition, Urges Abortion Law Change

Opposition to all college and university tuition bills was voted by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers on Thursday, in Los Angeles.

The action was taken by the representative board of managers at the bi-monthly meeting and reflected the policy of tuition-free education for California's young people. Mrs. Neil Cox of Pomona, unpaid lobbyist for the P-TA's education legislation, said the action was not directly related to the current controversy over tuition but rather is a reflection of longtime P-TA philosophy.

Active support of the Therapeutic Abortion Act bills of Beilenson and Biddle was also voted. Mrs. Laurence B. Martin, president of the large statewide organization, stated that the decision was reached after a study of the abortion question by the board's health study committee. "The action was taken after careful consideration and deliberation. It reflects P-TA's awareness of illegal abortions as the greatest single cause of maternal deaths and its concern for the care and protection of youth, in this instance, the young victims of incest or rape," she said.

Other legislation which will receive P-TA's all-out support includes the so-called Magna Carta of Education, Senator Miller's bill to revise and streamline Division Seven of the Education Code (where elementary and secondary school subjects are mandated). Aim of this measure is to return home-rule to local school districts and allow for more curricular innovation in California classrooms.

Dominican College To Get Library For Music Research

The California Federation of Music Clubs has voted to promote and sponsor an American Music Research Center Library at Dominican College in San Rafael.

Mrs. June Weybright Reeder, president, announced the federation's decision today, praising the college for its interest in preserving and collecting musical Americana.

Sister Mary Dominic, O. P. of Dominican College, who was the federation's chairman of American music three years ago, is an avid collector of early American music scores and has interested many of the students in researching this country's heritage in music. It was her enthusiasm which prompted the northern district to sponsor the research library. It will be the only known one of its kind in Northern California.

A tea to launch the library will be held on March 30 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gustave J. Snelling, vice president of the state federation, 2002 Paradise Drive, Tiburon. Sister M. Antoinette, O. P., head of the Sister Dominic will perform some piano compositions of Gottschalk.

What may be the only authentic cello concerto Haydn ever wrote, the Cello Concerto in C Major, recently discovered in a Scandinavian library.

The debut of Joanna de Keyser with the Oakland Symphony. The 27-year old Southern California violincellist, winner of the 1966 Young Artist award competition, will play the Haydn concerto in its first performance by a professional orchestra in the Bay Area.

Another interesting happening at the April concerts will be the performance of Nono's "Memento — Epitaph No. 3," based on a text by the Spanish poet Lorca, and using the orchestra, speaking soloist Ann Graber, and the 92-voice Oakland Symphony Chorus as a speaking chorus.

Climaxing the concerts will be Schubert's Mass in G with three guest soloists, the Symphony Chorus and the orchestra. Solists will be tenor Patrick Daugherty of Berkeley, heard in the Bay Area in San Francisco Srping Opera; soprano Delcina Stevenson of Los Angeles, top winner in the 1966 San Francisco Opera Award Auditions, and George Baker of Fairfax, leading bass-baritone in the Western Opera Theater.

$ee for yourself . . .

They're pretty amazing, these I-J Want-Ads. They can sell a tractor, get a job, find a puppy. And do it fast, at low cost.

Do they have a secret power? Nuclear energy? Special ingredient? No. Something better than that—human interest. The interest of more than 40,000 families in Marin who read I-J Classified night after night. To sell what they want, and find what they need.

Behind every I-J Want-Ad, then, is this amazing human drive to find a bargain, or sell one . . . to look to the largest single marketplace in Marin County for action. Imagine, thousands of people looking, weighing, deciding to buy . . . all because this is the great LOCAL MEDIUM that meets every local need.

When you advertise a sofa, a horse, a hi-fi, an appliance, the huge I-J reader audience SELECTS YOUR OFFER in the classification under which you run your Want-Ad. Can't miss it! Wouldn't miss it. (Because they know other buyers are in the market, too!).

Buyers are actually LOOKING FOR YOUR AD! That's the secret. Human interest that moves into action fast.

Better get your ad in . . . and see for yourself. But stay handy to the phone. There's nothing like I-J Want-Ads to ring the bell!

Look at this for results!

Policeman Sued Over Hunter's Point Death

Last year's fatal shooting of a Hunter's Point youth by San Francisco Police Officer Alvin J Johnson of Mill Valley has resulted in a $500,000 lawsuit, filed yesterday against the City of San Francisco.

The shooting of Matthew Johnson Jr., 16, by the policeman on Sept. 27 touched off days of rioting in Negro sections of the city.

In the suit filed yesterday, the boy's mother, Eula Johnson, charged that Officer Johnson, a 23-year veteran of the San Francisco police, "recklessly, carelessly, wantonly and imprudently" shot and killed her son as he ran from a suspected stolen car.

Johnson was exonerated by a coroner's jury of any wrongdoing in the fatal incident.

The boy's mother also charged that San Francisco "failed in its duty to the public" by allowing Officer Johnson to carry a gun.

The boy's remarried father, Matthew Johnson Sr., filed a claim against the city last year for $505,000. The claim was denied by the city and the father's attorney is preparing a lawsuit.

Plea Scheduled On Armed Robbery

Loverd Howard, 18, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of armed robbery. Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled plea entry at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Howard, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, allegedly robbed Richard Lomax and Nanya Baker at her apartment, 901 Drake Avenue, Marin City, on Feb. 11. Lomax resides at 325 Turney Street, Sausalito.

Party Candidates Win In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—For the first time since the Communists seized power in 1948, Hungarian voters in some districts had a choice of candidates in Sunday's elections, but virtually none of the opponents of the Communist-led Patriot Peoples Front party won a seat.

The Hungarian news agency MTI reported yesterday that in the nine districts with two candidates for the 349-member Parliament, the official nominees of the party were elected.

Chamber Against Fund Transfer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Officials of the State Chamber of Commerce say they are "unalterably opposed" to a plan to divert state highway funds for construction of rapid transit facilities.

Legislation was introduced into the Assembly last week which would appropriate some funds raised by gasoline taxes for construction of rapid transit systems.

Chamber officials said yesterday they regard the proposal as a potential new tax.

Dinner Discussion

The Novato City Council and Parks and Recreation Commission will meet for dinner discussion of the city's parks and recreation program at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at Cloud Five Restaurant.

Party Candidates Win In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—For the first time since the Communists seized power in 1948, Hungarian voters in some districts had a choice of candidates in Sunday's elections, but virtually none of the opponents of the Communist-led Patriot Peoples Front party won a seat.

The Hungarian news agency MTI reported yesterday that in the nine districts with two candidates for the 349-member Parliament, the official nominees of the party were elected.

Chamber Against Fund Transfer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Officials of the State Chamber of Commerce say they are "unalterably opposed" to a plan to divert state highway funds for construction of rapid transit facilities.

Legislation was introduced into the Assembly last week which would appropriate some funds raised by gasoline taxes for construction of rapid transit systems.

Chamber officials said yesterday they regard the proposal as a potential new tax.

Pro-Mao General Takes Over Canton

HONG KONG (UPI) —Peking has dispatched a top Communist Chinese army general to Canton to take personal command of Kwangtung province and crush anti-Mao forces, Hong Kong newspapers reported today.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai, in a speech reported by Peking radio, meanwhile called for farmers to steer clear of the national power struggle and get out the rice crops. It lent weight to reports of famine fear in China.

Two newspapers, the Hong Kong Times and the Kung Sheung Daily, quoted travelers from Canton as saying Gen. Huang Yung-sheng had taken over the Kwangtung military control commission.

The commission was established to put the entire province under military control.

The travelers said handbills had been circulated in Canton saying Gen Huang was in command. Gen Huang is also a member of the Communist Chinese National Defense Council and an alternate member of the powerful Communist Central Committee.

Canton has been one of China's most troubled cities ever since Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung launched his "cultural revolution" last year.

The cultural revolution was a purge intended to liquidate all opposition to Mao and his brand of Communism. Mao and his right hand man, Lin Piao, formed the "Red Guards," bands of teen-age boys and girls who foraged cities seeking out elements opposed to Mao.

More Clues Reported Of Economic Slowdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Though the cost of living continued to hold relatively steady in February, the poor performance of two other economic indicators added to the evidence the economy is slowing down.

Personal income rose during the month at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $2.4 billion, the smallest gain in 10 months, while new factory orders for durable goods declined to a seasonally adjusted level of $22.2 billion, its lowest point in 17 months.

The brighter cost of living picture, reported yesterday by the Labor Department, showed only a modest one-tenth of 1 per cent gain from January.

At 114.8 per cent of prices in the period 1957-59, the February index meant that the same parcel of goods and services that cost $10 in the base period cost $11.48 last month.

Over the three months from December through February, the cost of living rose only three-tenths of 1 per cent, the lowest rise for any three-month period in about 18 months. For the overall rise for all of last year was 3.5 per cent.

The Labor Department said grocery prices continued their gradual decline of recent months, falling four-tenths of 1 per cent from January's prices.

But a seven-tenths of 1 per cent rise in medical costs, along with increases in the costs of eating out, transportation, and services over-all, wiped out the effects of lower food prices in addcng up the total cost of living.

Medical costs ended the month 9 per cent above a year earlier. New car prices in February were down three-tenths of 1 per cent from January, but used cars prices were up slightly. Mortgage rates also declined marginally for the second consecutive month.

Arraignment Held In Stolen Property

Arthur Ray Frazier, 40, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of receiving a stolen boat trailer owned by Keith Waddell Smith of 240 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley. Preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. March 31.

Frazier, of 515 Eldridge Avenue, Novato, originally was charged with theft last June 28 of the 22-foot trailer.

Quiet Man Folley Says He's Ready For Cassius

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Zora Folley's manager says the heavyweight challenger's greatest moment in the ring so far has been his knockout of Britain's Henry Cooper in 1961.

"Zora is ready now and in the same mental and physical condition for Cassius Clay as he was for Cooper," said Bill Swift, Folley's manager, today.

"Cooper had beaten Zora in 10 rounds in 1958," said Swift. "When they met again in December of 1961 in London, Zora weighed 195 pounds and was sharp as a razor. He knocked out Cooper in the second round. He was great that night. He can beat Clay."

Swift, Folley and trainer Johnny Hart are among the very few in town who believe the 34-year-old, No. 1 contender has a chance against the undefeated Clay at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Folley said he will weigh between 200 and 205.

Folley, a mild, stolid, modest man, almost has to be prodded to comment on the fight. He now says, "I will beat him by decision or knockout. I will be the next champion Wednesday night."

He says it as if making a memorized speech.

A pro 13½ years and unbeaten in his last 12 fights, Folley has a 74-7-4 won-lost-draw record including 40 knockout victories. He has been stopped five times.

In boxing circles they whisper that "Folley blows the big ones. He doesn't have the heart. He'll freeze against Clay."

Newsmen put the delicate question to Folley. He didn't get upset.

"I've heard that talk," he said. "But I know I won't freeze. He's not a Joe Louis. puncher. He's not a Joe Louis. I've been in with some deadly punchers — Sonny Liston and Johnny Summerlin (both knocked Folley out a few years back). They could really punch.

"But he's not a deadly puncher. I think I'm a deadlier puncher than he is. And I think I can punch just as fast as he does. Remember, I've scored 40 knockouts. I must be able to punch."

Clay has a 28-0 record, including 22 knockouts.

Ernie Terrell went 15 rounds with Clay when the champion retained his title on a decision at Houston last Feb. 6. George Chuvalo also went the 15 round distance with Clay on March 29, 1966, and German Karl Mildenberger lasted 12 rounds until he was stopped on cuts last Sept. 10.

Clay, half serious and half joking, said yesterday after his last workout that Folley might go 15 rounds.

"I'm not a knockout fighter — I can't punch," said Clay. "All I want to do is to box and dance, be artistic and show class. That way the advertisers can get a chance to show their commercials on television."

Then, in answer to questions, he said ominously (for Folley) that his condition, mental attitude and weight would be about the same as it was for his second fight with Sonny Liston.

He weighed 206 pounds on May 25, 1965 when he knocked out Liston in the first round with one controversial punch at Lewiston, Me.

Don't Believe 'Em; A QB Has Got To Go

TRADE WINDS—Don't believe all that double-talk from the front office and coaching staff that the 49ers plan to keep three quarterbacks—John Brodie, George Mira and Steve Spurrier.

STEVE SPURRIER

The chief of my Central Intelligence Agency tells me that before last Tuesday's pro football draft the San Franciscans tried unsuccessfully to deal Brodie or Mira to the New York Giants and that within the past few days they offered either Brodie or Mira or rookie Spurrier to the Chicago Bears for middle linebacker Dick Butkus.

Papa Bear George Halas, who is really desperate for front line quarterback, nevertheless growled a loud no, No, NO!

The 49ers are still dickering with the Bears and also dangling their wealth of quarterback talent before the hungry eyes of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

You can wager that San Francisco will have two and not three quarterbacks next season. Take it from old Shamus. My spies are everywhere.

Take It Or Leave It, Juan

MY OTHER undercover agent reports from Phoenix that the Giants have rephrased an old coin by telling pitcher Juan Marichal: "Call us, we won't call you."

This is the latest episode in Juan's holdout for more dinero. The Giants, you will recall, started the tug-o'-war by offering $90,000 but Juan balked (take a base) and demanded 125 thou. The Giants countered with $100,000 while Juan dropped to the $110,000 plateau.

Horace Stoneham and Chub Feeney, the Giant check signers noted for their fairness but firmness, refused to budge a nickle and are at the take-it-or-leave-it stage. Next move is Juan's and it's a cinch he'll take it and swallow his pride instead of bananas.

Greatest Scout In Chapman Clan

SUPER SCOUT—Irv Chapman, the well-heeled San Rafael shoe pedal-er (bless his sole), says he'll miss his annual junket to Arizona for Giants' spring training but adds, "Instead, we are sending the greatest baseball scout in the entire Chapman clan—my dad, Edward, who recently hit 78 (that's his age and not his last golf score).

"As he was raised with the Giants in the old Polo Grounds and can still quote batting averages, pennants and pitching records, we are certain he will bring back a thorough report on the 1967 team's chances, so hold back your predictions until you hear from him.

"Dad used to spend each year's vacation at the Polo Grounds and it's always been a family mystery that he didn't replace Bill Rigney as manager when Horace Stoneham brought up Tom Sheehan."

Check Of Russ' Tonsils Needed?

The senior Chapman drove to Phoenix with old friend Hugo Chiappari of San Rafael, a popular fixture around the local Elks Club.

Among the other Marinites who have trekked to Phoenix this spring are San Rafael Buick Baron Don Collins and Dr. Russell Klein of Larkspur.

The latter mixed business with pleasure. As sportscaster Russ Hodges' personal physician, Dr. Klein wanted to see if old golden throat's tonsils are in good shape for the April 11 opener.

And no, you wise guys, Dr. Klein is NOT a pediatrician.

BYE-BYE BABY!

New Legal Move By Clay To Avoid April 11 Draft

CINCINNATI (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay asked the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today to issue a temporary restraining order to prevent him from being inducted into the Armed Forces.

That was one of two motions filed by Hayden C. Covington, New York attorney, in behalf of "Muhammad Ali, otherwise known as Cassius Clay Jr."

The other motion asked for leave to appeal from a U.S. District Court decision at Louisville, which denied Clay an injunction.

The motion for leave to appeal from the Louisville court's decision said Clay would suffer "irreparable injury" if he is inducted.

It said Clay and his manager, Herbert Muhammad, had entered into contracts for a $250,000 heavyweight championship fight in Tokyo, Japan, on May 27; a $10,000 exhibition bout in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on April 15, and a $200,000 heavyweight championship fight against Thad Spencer at San Francisco.

It said Clay stood to lose $460,000.

'Offense' For U.S. Soccer

NEW YORK (AP)—The new National Professional Soccer League, in a move aimed at encouraging more offensive play by its 10 clubs, announced today the adoption of a unique point system to be used in determining team standings.

Under the system, a team will be given six points for a victory, three points for a tie and none for a loss. In addition, bonus points will be given for each goal up to the maximum of three in a game.

Thus, if a team wins a game 6-3, it will receive six points for the victory plus three bonus points for a total of nine. If a game ends in a 3-3 tie. each team will receive three points for the result plus three additional points for the goals.

Ken Macker, NPSL commissioner, pointed out that even if a team loses 6-3 it would be credited with three bonus points for the goals it scored.

Under the European soccer system, team standings are determined on a basis of two points for a victory, one for a tie and none for a defeat.

Cities represented in the NPSL which begins play next month, are New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Atlanta, Toronto, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Wet Games For Marin Baseballers

The busy, busy Tars are at it again.

After winding up a three-game, two-loss stint at the San Jose Invitational Tournament, College of Marin's baseball team treks to Yuba for the Yuba Invitational Tournament tomorrow beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The Tars bowed to San Joaquin Delta in the opener at San Jose, 8-1, came back to bounce Monterey, 5-2, then lost a mud-packed washout, 1-0, to San Jose City College in a game in which the first run meant victory.

Former Novato standout Wayne Jones pitched a six-hitter in the victory over Monterey, but Ralph Garner did him five better against San Jose, as he pitched five innings of one-hit ball in rain and wind before an infield single, a walk, a sacrifice bunt, another walk and wild pitch undid him and the Tars.

Because of steady rain, it was agreed that the team to score the first run would win the game in the San Jose mudslinger. It still took five innings to do the job.

Catcher Phil Toble went three for three and Bob Lombardi had a 3-8 showing to highlight the Tar hitting for the tournament.

The Tars are now 4-8 on the season.

Raiders Sign Huge Lineman

OAKLAND (AP) — Richard Sligh of North Carolina College was signed last night by the Oakland Raiders, the American Football League team announced.

Sligh, 22, stands 7 feet and weighs 300 pounds. He was the Raiders' 10th draft choice and first of the 1967 draft crop to be signed.

The big lineman will report to the Raiders' training camp in July, a club spokesman said.

Both Teams Limping Into Playoff Opener

OAKLAND (AP)—The Western Division champion San Francisco Warriors and third place Los Angeles Lakers begin tonight a National Basketball Championship series which could reward either with $70,000 if it carries through to the NBA title.

A capacity crowd of 14,000 is expected to see the 8:30 p.m. tipoff in Oakland's new Coliseum Arena. The game will be broadcast by KNRB, San Francisco, but not televised.

How much Jerry West, the old West Virginia Mountaineer, plays could be a determining factor in the best-of-five series, although neither team is in top condition.

WEST HOBBLING

West, the Lakers' leading scorer with a 28.7 average, is suffering from 1, a broken nose; 2, a cut over his left eye; 3, a pulled hamstring muscle, and 4, a sprained and badly swollen left ankle.

"If I had to decide now if he would start," team physician Dr. Robert Kerlin said yesterday, "I'd have to say no. But tomorrow (Tuesday) he might."

The Warriors' key, Nate Thurmond, will start with a cast protecting a fractured bone in his right hand. The 6-11 ace picked off 1,360 rebounds although missing 20 games.

Guard Paul Neumann reinjured a charley horse Sunday and guard Al Attles missed the final road trip because of a back injury. Forward Tom Meschery probably will miss two games with a hand fracture.

STARTERS

However, the Warriors expect to start their NBA scoring champion, Rick Barry, averaging 35.6 points, and Fred Hetzel, (12) at forwards; Thurmond, (18.5) center and Neumann, (14.1) and Attles, (7.3), guards.

For the Lakers it looks like Elgin Baylor, (26.6-point average), and Tom Hawkins, (8.2) forwards; Darrall Imhoff, (10.8) center, and Archie Clark, (10.2), and West or Gail Goodrich, (12.1) guards.

Clark, a rookie from the University of Minnesota, is one of the league's hottest developments. He's averaged 17.5 points in his last 19 games, hitting 52 per cent of his floor shots.

The Warriors have won $17,500 as division champion and the Lakers $5,000 for third. Each gets $10,000 for showing up in this series.

CHAMPIONSHIP TRAIL

The winner advances to the division championship, best of seven games, where the winner gets $20,000 and the runnerup $15,000.

The division playoff winners then meet in another best - of - seven series in which the rewards are $35,000 to the NBA champion and $25,000 for runnerup.

All money won for the division championship and from the playoffs will be divided among the 12 team members.

The Warriors and Lakers play the second game at Los Angeles Thursday night and go to San Francisco's Cow Palace Sunday for an 11 a.m. Easter holiday television special.

Barry Ends NBA Season As High Man

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association has a new scoring king — but deposed ruler Wilt Chamberlain is still sitting pretty.

Rick Barry of San Francisco became the highest-scoring forward in NBA history and ended Chamberlain's seven-year reign by tossing in 2,775 points, according to final official statistics for the 1966-67 season released by the league office today.

But, while Barry averaged 35.6 points a game in 78 games for a comfortable margin over runner-up Oscar Robertson and third-finisher Chamberlain, Philadelphia's 7-foot-1 pivotman established five all-time records in leading the 76ers to their second straight Eastern Division title.

Chamberlain led the league in field goal percentage with a .683 mark, smashing his own 1965-66 record of .540. He set a record of 630 assists by a center in finishing as the No. 3 playmaker behind Chicago's Guy Rodgers, who broke the all-time record with 908, and Cincinnati's Robertson.

Wilt also connected on 35 successive shots from the floor in a four-game stretch, topping his previous record string by four, and extended his mark for most career points to 23,442 in eight seasons and his consecutive-game streak without disqualification on personal fouls to 624. Chamberlain has never fouled out of an NBA game.

Robertson scored 2,412 points, for a 30.5 average, and Chaberlain had 1,956, a per-game mark of 24.1. Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, Los Angeles' 1-2 offensive punch, finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in the scoring derby.

Chamberlain paced NBA rebounders with 1,957 for an average of 24.2 per-game. Bill Russell, Boston's player-coach, was second with a 21.0 average off the boards.

Cincinnati's Adrian Smith took the free throw title, converting 90.3 per cent of his shots from the foul line.

THORNY PENNANT?

Giants Lead Cactus Loop

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Willie Mays has his first homer of 1967, Gaylord Perry seeks to continue a shutout skein and Cesar Gutierrez maintains his bid to stick with the San Francisco Giants as a seasoned rookie.

Mays walloped his shot in the first inning with Jesus Alou on first base yesterday to account for the only two earned San Francisco runs in a 9-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale.

Wondrous Willie kept his batting average at .500 and has collected at least one hit in every game he has played.

Perry has pitched three and five innings in the Cactus League action to date without giving up a run and only five hits. The 21-game winning right-hander could be the Giants' opening day pitcher since Juan Marichal and the Giants are yet to come to terms.

Venezuelan Gutierrez got his big chance when regular shortstop Tito Fuentes injured an ankle last Wednesday and the 24-year-old has taken advantage.

Batting .320, he collected two hits on Sunday and three yesterday including a triple in each of the two games.

The Giants mounted an 11-hit attack and gratifying was the five-inning pitching stint of Ray Sadecki, whom the club hopes will come back to give support from the southpaw side.

Sadecki went five innings, gave up three runs and emerged with the victory. Right - hander Art Mahaffey, battling to win a place with the Giants, gave up three tallies in two frames while Lindy McDaniel shut out his former teammates over the final two.

Mays' homer came off Joe Niekro, the rookie trying to make a success with the Cubs and follow his brother Phil to the major leagues.

The Giants' victory put them atop the Cactus League exhibition game standings with a 7-4 record, their last four outings successful. The Cubs, who met them again today in Phoenix, stood at 6-5.

Increased Support Shown For 'Open' Tennis Play

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The record showed increased support today for open tennis, the source of a controversy raging within the sport's governing bodies the world over.

In a meeting which saw tempers flare, the Australian Lawn Tennis Association voted yesterday to urge a two-year trial period for open tennis.

The tennis-minded Australians voted to take the proposal before the International Lawn Tennis Association meeting July 12 at Luxembourg.

By its action, the Australian group joined Herman David, the director of the famed Wimbledon tournament, in pushing to take down the barriers preventing amateur players from playing against professionals.

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, in favor of open tennis in 1962, now is on record with a resolution instructing its delegates to the ILTF meeting to oppose open tennis.

However, there is some strong pr-open sentiment in the United States.

In open tennis the pros would play strictly for the purse, with no appearance money, and the amateurs would play under existing conditions. The association staging the tournament would be responsible for the purses, which would be obtained through sponsors.

Marin Lifters Capture Title

MarVel Athletic Club of San Rafael can sure throw its weight around.

The San Rafael entry returned to top-notch oomph form last Saturday as it regained the Northern California Senior AAU senior weightlifting championship in the Norcal meet at San Jose YMCA. It was the fifth time in the last seven years that MarVel Athletic Club has won the title.

Winning individual titles for MarVel were San Rafael High School student Lee Freel who totaled 385 pounds in the 123-pound class; Terry Johnson of San Rafael with a 570 total in the 148-pound class, and Heavyweight Chet Kistler with a 930 total.

JIM MURRAY

Wilton N. Chamberlain Vs. William F. Russell

For every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction.

This law of physics, provable in the laboratory by the principle of the bazooka gun, is provable in basketball by the presence of William Felton Russell. If it weren't for William Felton Russell, Wilton Norman Chamberlain would long since have digested basketball and now be spitting out the bones. When Wilt Chamberlain first ambled out on a court in the NBA in the winter of 1959, the rest of the league shuddered and murmured, "I only hope it's not hungry."

IT IS NOW eight years later, and Wilt has gobbled up nearly every record lying around loose—most points, lifetime; most points, season; most rebounds; most field goals attempted; most field goals made; most points in one night (100). He has won everything but the world championship. Bill Russell has jammed that bauble right back down hist throat year after galling year.

ONE RESULT is, Wilt has wandered around about the league like a waif with a note tied to him. He has devoured coaches along with rebound records. Dolph Schayes, Neil Johnston, Frank McGuire disappeared like aspirin tablets, Wilt worked his own side of the street and the way to get along with him was to call him "Mister" and get out of his way. He was as hard to handle off the court as on it.

ALEXANDER MURRAY Hannum was kind of the coach's version of Wilt Chamberlain. He plied up and down the league like a tramp steamer, too, and the two passed each other frequently. They tied up at the same dock only once. Alex was pausing at San Francisco and so was Wilt. And two curious things happened: An otherwise weak San Francisco team went all the way to the championship finals, and Wilt Chamberlain, whose assists totaled 148 in his great scoring season of 1960-61, suddenly had 403 assists.

AN ASSIST in basketball is like the hit-and-run in baseball. It's not as good in one situation as a home run and not as dramatic in any situation. But, if you ask a manager whether he'd rather have 40 homers out of his cleanup hitter—or 340 hit-and-run executions, don't expect him to hesitate too long.

When Wilt Chamberlain went back to Philadelphia from San Francisco (for one player who never showed up and two who might as well not have) his assists promptly dropped back to 250. If you needed Wilt, you look for him under the offensive basket.

THAT'S WHEN Hannum got fired at San Francisco and hired at Philadelphia—and found he had an old world to conquer. One of the troubles playing with the Old Wilt was that the basketball was just a rumor for the other four players. A golf caddy has as much to do with winning or losing a tournament.

QUITE SUDDENLY, though, the Philadelphia 76ers turned out to be the best team that ever played the game. One of the reasons was that Alex had put into port with this team when it was the Syracuse Nationals. He wove Wilt Chamberlain into the team rather than vice versa. If you look at the records, you will see the team has won a boggling 68 games while losing but 13. It is a team in the tradition of the 1927 Yankees, the 1940 Chicago Bears, the 1947 Fighting Irish. If you look down in the "assists," you will see why. Wilt Chamberlain has over 600. More than any non-guard has ever made in this league.

ASSISTS ARE supposed to be made by guys who have to stand on tiptoe to shake hands with center in this league. Bob Cousy made assists records. Oscar Robertson holds the all-time record of 899. Stuff-shot specialists like Chamberlain are supposed to hand the ball over only to referees. But, quite suddenly, assists were being made from above, not below. Chamberlain's reach such that he can almost hand the ball as far as most can throw it. The first five feet of his "passes" are arms—which makes interception with anything short of an axe impossible.

THE ISSUE is squarely up to the "equal and oposite reaction" in the forthcoming playoffs. Bill Russell could handle the old head-hunting Wilt Chamberlain, the free-swinging home-run hitter. If Wilt starts luring him out from the basket and passing off to the open man over his head, the game of basketball had better head for the hills. Or the only trace of it will be a belch from the vacernous stomach of W. N. Chamberlain, game-eater.

Abalone Tide Coming Saturday; Quick Review Of Regulations

STEVENS

With the 1967 season now six days old and with the next low tide coming this Saturday, a quick review of the rules and regulations governing abalone picking is in order.

Abalones may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. A 1967 sportfishing license is required and the limit is five abalones regardless of the type.

Abalone pickers and divers are reminded that there are different size limits, however. The minimum limit—measured over the maximum shell diameter are: Red abalone, seven inches; green abalone, six and one-quarter inches; pink abalone, six inches; black abalone, five inches; all other species six inches.

YOU MUST CARRY an accurate measuring device to properly check each abalone of doubtful diameter. And, get this: Anyone finding he has picked an undersized abalone must return it to the rock from which it was plucked. Abalones brought ashore must be alive and attached to their shells, the regulations state. It is illegal to bring home any abalones not attached to their shell.

You divers are reminded that scuba gear may not be used in the taking of abalones north of Yankee Point in Monterey County.

FOR THE benefit of tyros at the game of abalone picking, abalones may be found almost any point along the coast where rocks abound.

Regardless of the temperatures of air and water, the wise guy wears warm clothing—preferably woolen underwear, old trousers, woolen shirt and old shoes. Remember that the rocks you will negotiate are extremely slippery, and that you will find few if any abalones near or on top of the rocks. It is much betterf that you get in the water and stay there while exploring the sides and overhang of each partially submerged rock. Have with you, beside the measuring stick, a metal pry. (a half auto spring makes a good tool for prying off an abalone.)

THE WISE guy also has with him a strong sack (a gunnysack is suggested) to hold the abalones. Last, but very important, have along in your car a complete change of dry clothing.

Mays Not Talking About Home Runs

By JACK STEVENSON

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Willie Mays shrugs off the suggestion that he may be the one to break Babe Ruth's lifetime record of 714 home runs.

"I don't even want to talk about home runs," the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder said today. He hit his first homer of the spring yesterday as the Giants beat the Chicago Cubs 9-6.

With 37 last year, the Mays' total reached 542, second only to the great Bambino.

To the suggestion he might be more relaxed this spring after reaching goals expected of him in the homer department last season, Mays answered "I'm just doing the same things getting ready this spring as I usually do. At least I think I am.

"Pressures last year? Just the one, No. 512."

That was the one which topped the National League record established by the late Mel Ott of the New York Giants.

Willie equalled Ott's record with No. 511 off Jim Owens in Houston's Astrodome on April 24.

After nine trying days during which cameras trained on his every swing and newsmen crowded Candlestick Park's pressbox, Mays drove a pitch by the Dodgers' Claude Osteen out of the premises.

On Aug. 16, he hit No. 534 which tied him with Jimmy Foxx as the greatest right-handed home run hitter of all time. This time the deadlock lasted only a day as he hit No. 535 off the Cardinals' Ray Washburn.

Reaching age 36 on May 6, Mayes faces a tremendous task to reach the Ruth mark, yet no one watching him this spring would term it impossible.

He hit safely in the first six exhibition games, was given a vacation the next day and came right back with hits in the next pair, two for extra bases. So it goes with the star who broke in with the Giants in 1951 as the Say Hey Kid and now rates as the club's elder statesman, the captain of the team, with a $125,000 annual salary.

When a newsman at another game wondered out loud whether the Giants might, in later years, try Mays at first base similar to the Yankees' experiment with Mickey Mantle, Cleveland shortstop Larry Brown quipped:

"Sure, maybe when he's 65."

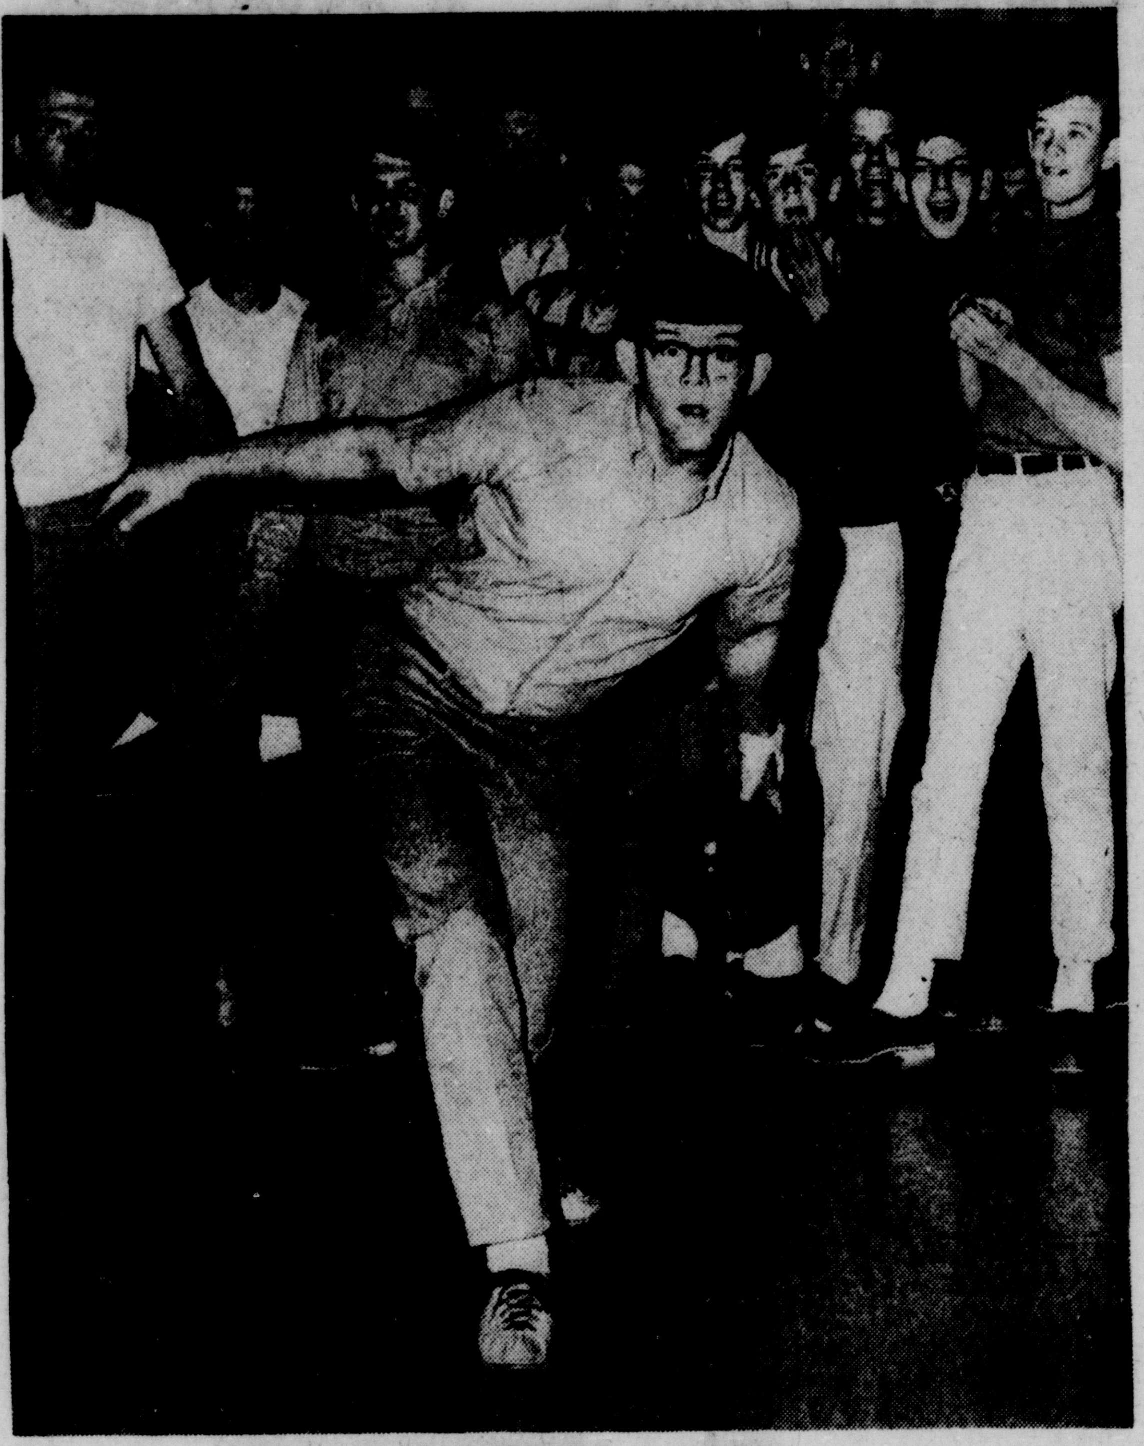
Although his average fell to .288 last season, lowest for him since .274 in his first major league season, Mays established three major league records, tied two more and set four National League marks and equalled another pair.

And for the 13th time, Willie was selected to the All Star team.

He much prefers talking about the ball club than records.

"I think the club will be stronger ," he said. "The pitching was good last year but you can always use help. The bench should be better with Norm Siebern and Billy Sorrell plus guys like Jim Davenport and Jack Hiatt."

He mentions other fellows and other factors, but once again a key factor must be the man in centerfield.



52 HOURS LATER

Steve Dreier, junior counselor for the Mill Valley DeMolay chapter, throws a record-breaking ball at Greenbrae Lanes yesterday at 1:30 p.m. as the Mill Valley chapter, using approximately 25 bowlers, cracked a 52-hour marathon bowling mark set by a Michigan chapter. The Mill Valley group started at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and planned to finish this afternoon at 5:30 for a streak of 80 straight hours. They plan to break that new record sometime this summer. Stars Galore In NBA Playoffs But Watch Out For Those Bulls

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The stage is set tonight for the National basketball Association playoffs, and the spotlight will be on such stars as Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Oscar Robertson and Rick Barry.

But watch out for those guys in the wings.

They're the Chicago Bulls, and they would like nothing better than to steal the show hardly anyone thought they would be in.

This looked like the year the Detroit Pistons would make the playoffs for the first time since 1962-63, but the Bulls, in their first NBA season, pulled off a major surprise by beating out the Pistons for the fourth and last playoff spot in the Western Division.

Early in the season, Player-Coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks said of Chicago:

"They'll be lucky to win 10 games this season."

33 VICTORIES

But they did win 33 en route to a playoff berth, and if they win three more, Guerin and the Hawks will be through for the year.

The Hawks, second in the West, and Bulls meet tonight in St. Louis in the first game of a best-of-5 series.

Other first-round openers have Eastern Division winning Philadelphia at home against third place Cincinnati, fourth-place New York at Eastern runner-up Boston and Western winner San Francisco at home against third place Los Angeles.

The Bulls are led by veteran Guy Rodgers, obtained in a trade with San Francisco, who set an NBA assist record of 908 this season. St. Louis' strong point is offensive rebounding.

Philadelphia and Boston, the latter seeking its ninth straight world championship, figure to have little trouble advancing to a semifinal series against each other.

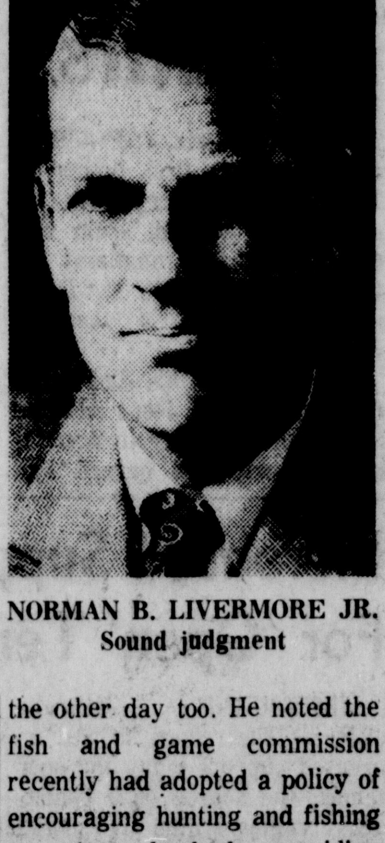
Philadelphia beat Cincinnati eight times in nine games during the season, and the Celtics have whipped New York 19 straight times dating back to March 17, 1965.

Cincinnati will have to stop Hal Greer's outside shooting, the 76ers' strong rebounding and of course Chamberlain, who has the added incentive of never having played on a world championship team.

MARIN'S 'IKE' LIVERMORE

Resources Chief Praised

By EDWIN S. CAPPS



NORMAN B. LIVERMORE JR.
Sound judgment

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Norman B. "Ike" Livermore Jr. of San Rafael, the new administrator of California's resources agency, has shown some pretty sound judgment in his couple of months in office.

First off, of course, was Livermore's insistence that Walter T. Shannon be retained as director of fish and game. Some circles in the adminsitration of Governor Ronald Reagan wanted to make a clean sweep of all state directors, based on the huge plurality for Reagan at last November's election.

But this element found it a bit difficult to replace Shannon. He has been with the department for nearly 30 years and served as an executive in the department under Governors Earl Warren, Goodwin J. Knight and Edmund G. Brown.

VETO POWER

Livermore reportedly had the veto power over an appointment in his agency and apparently used the veto on all other candidates, with the result that after about three months of waiting, Shannon got the nod for reappointment.

Shannon's operation of the department should fit in well with the new administration, as he has operated an efficient department and kept costs down.

Livermore had some pretty sensible things to say about private hunting and recreation the other day too. He noted the fish and game commission recently had adopted a policy of encouraging hunting and fishing on private lands by providing guidance for the participation of private landowners.

Livermore reported that the number of private pheasant hunting clubs in California had increased in the past 10 years from 107, with 56,000 birds taken, to 193 clubs with 176,000 birds taken in 1965-66. He said the popularity of the state cooperative areas began to dwindle, despite practically no cost.

"Of course, this dashes another myth," Livermore said. "For on our public hunting areas, or any of our public recreation areas away from the centers of our cities, the people we are usually providing for are not the truly underprivileged.

"For the really underprivileged lack the automobiles and the gear and all the other things to take advantage of the 'free' opportunity," he said. "The person who makes most use of hunting and fishing facilities is the average middle-class citizen, the man with the car and the boat and the scope sight, the trailer and the camper and the tents and stoves and lanterns and all the other gear you see when you get out on the road.'

AVERAGE EXPENSE

Livermore said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service estimated the outlay for such a person at $123 a year and said he's certain it's more for many of them.

"He already has made a sizable investment," Livermore said. "And like most investors, he is likely to be willing to 'put a little more with it' if that seems to promise a more certain return."

Livermore said he did not mean that public agencies should abandon their responsibility in favor of the private sector.

"I am only saying that there is a role that the privatesector can plan, that there are ways in which it can help to meet the public need." he said.

Marin Prep Sports Again Washed Out

Rain halted everything on the Marin County Athletic League spring sports practice schedule yesterday, but the Healdsburg Invitational Baseball Tournament in which both Marin Catholic and Redwood high schools are involved was scheduled to resume today with the semi-finals and end with finals tomorrow.

In yesterday's slated track action, Marin Catholic was forced to cancel its meet with Cardinal Newman, while the only other event, Marin Catholic vs. Riordan in golf, was also washed out.

The Marin Catholic Linksters have now suffered three straight washouts—Washington, St. Ignatius, and Riordan—but previously managed a split with Novato . . . and are scheduled to meet both St. Ignatius and Riordan later during the season.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stock Fluctuation By Per Cent Only

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We own 13 shares of General Reinsurance Corp., bought years ago. This has been fluctuating between 280 and 300. Our investment pays us only $26 a year. We are 65, retired, and wonder if we should sell despite the excess profits tax. We need income, rather than growth. Why does it fluctuate so much?" E. H.

A. I congratulate you on your profitable investment. You own an excellent stock, but if you require a better return I believe you shouldn't allow the capital gains tax to deter you from selling. In your circumstances the tax impact might be less than you expect, but if you are concerned about it, you should consult a tax specialist for specific advice.

You could increase your income about $13 a month by switching into 30 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey and 55 Duquesne Light, and I advise you to do so. Now as regards fluctuation, what seems to you to be a wide trading range is only a moderate variation on a percentage basis—which is what counts.

Q. "Would you advise us to buy Melville Shoe? I have never read about it in your column." R. M.

A. Melville has been mentioned here frequently but yours is the first inquiry I have had for over a year. The company is one of the largest shoe manufacturers and retailers in the U.S. The shares have shown rather wide variations in earnings in the past, but operations have been upgraded and results have improved considerably since 1962. I believe the shares are reasonably attractive for further appreciation.

Early Gain Erased At Market's Close

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market failed to hold a small gain and was slower at the close today. Trading was active.

Wall Street had some fairly encouraging news, including a statement by Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board that an economic upturn is likely as 1967 progresses.

Stock prices failed to respond to this stimulus, however, and the result was some discouraged selling.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.94 million shares compared with 6.33 million yesterday.

Gains outnumbered losers by about 3-2 but there was considerable softness among blue chips with the result that the averages rose only slightly.

There was little of a definite nature in the news background to spur prices one way or the other.

Brunswick paced the list on volume and rose fractionally.

Gulf and Western Industries fell more than 2 in lively trading.

Avco climbed nearly 2 and Admiral sank about 1½, both in active trading. Colt Industries rose about 1½.

IBM advanced about 4 points. Up about 2 were Alcoa and Xerox.

Losses of 2 points or so were shown by General Electric, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Loan Funding For Homes Is Loosening

There are some indications that loan money in Marin County for financing the purchase and construction of homes is loosening.

According to Daniel F. Deedy, executive manager of the Marin County Real Estate Board, "money has always been available—at a price." But that price has dropped about one-half of one per cent in the past six months, more properties are coming in for sale, there is more enthusiasm on the market since November and December, says Deedy, "and the money lenders are now running around knocking on the door."

James W. Barnett, manager of Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn., reported the average interest rate for new loans on existing homes is now about 6 and three-quarter per cent. "As long as we pay 5 and one-quarter percent to depositors I do not believe that rate will come down," he said. According to Barnett, savings and loan associations now find themselves in a position of having surplus funds, due to an increase in savings accounts.

Marin County real estate loans by savings and loan associations in November totaled $2,251,080; in December, $2,798,130, and in January, $2,552,350, according to the Data Sheet of Title Insurance and Trust Co. But John A. Zandstra, treasurer and controller of Ross Valley Savings and Loan, reported his firm's loans have increased in February and March. "It takes about 60 days before an increase in lending is registered in the figures," he said.

Zandra attributed more money becoming available for home loans in part to the fact that "rates on government securities are no longer so attractive as they were."

Kenneth Boosey, manager of the Northgate office of American Savings and Loan Association, confirmed that more money is available and said he expects increased activity in real estate sales and construction this spring and summer.

Chemical Plant Set For Korea

LOS ANGELES — Plans to construct a $50 million chemical complex in Korea have been announced jointly by Fred L. Hartley, president of Union Oil Co. of California, and Chong Chul Kim, chairman of the board of Korean Chemical Industries, Ltd.

The complex, subject to government approval, will be the first step in a program to develop a petrochemical industry in the Republic of Korea, a major objective of the country's second five-year economic plan.

Up To Parents To Keep Reckless Youth Off Hwy.

Last week in this space we described a Michigan law that gives parents control over teen-age drivers.

California has similar laws that are even more stringent.

Whereas in Michigan, parents can yank the drivers' licenses of their children up to 18 years of age, the California Vehicle Code (CVC) gives parents control until their child is 21 years old (or 18 years old and married).

Section 17701 of the CVC provides that no application for a driver's license shall be granted to any minor unless signed and verified by the parents or guardian.

And a "minor," under the California vehicle Code, is defined as anyone under 21, except those who have been married and are over 18 years of age.

Section 17711 gives parents the authority to cancel a license of a minor. Parents "may file a verified application with the department, requesting that the license of the minor be cancelled."

Since the laws are in the books, and a simple procedure is available whereby parents can quickly take their minor children out of the driver's seat, responsibility for the reckless driving of teen-agers rests squarely with the parents.

Those who lament the reckless driving habits of their minor children and yet do nothing to bring such children into line are shirking their responsibility.

The most effective control over irresponsibility by minors is through their parents. And the parents have been armed with a legal weapon of control which can be invoked at their discretion.

Instead of sitting back and throwing up their hands at the behavior of certain minors on the highways, those concerned should be exercising parental authority and taking some of the load off law enforcement agencies.

Most young drivers are careful and responsible. But in the rare cases where minors disregard the warnings of parents and the laws of society, they should be taken off the highways. Parents have that authority; let them use it!

TEEN-AGER REPENTS STOLEN BIKE

A 13-year-old boy with a nagging conscience surprised police in Benton Harbor, Mich. The unhappy lad left a bicycle he had stolen next to police headquarters with this note attached to it:

"Dear Sirs: I am sorry I stole the bike. Here it is. Please don't look for me because I'm 13 years old and didn't realize the trouble I could get in."

The note was signed: "Yours truly, Mr. Sad."

To be conscious of one's own shortcomings and to show initiative in rectifying them is a healthy sign, especially in the young.

Many persons fall into a permanent pattern of wrongdoing because they are too embarrassed to admit they have done something wrong. Instead of frankly admitting mistakes before God and man, asking forgiveness and making amends, they gradually slip into habits of wrongdoing that are difficult to break.

Keep aware that the Lord knows all you think, say and do. Then you will avoid most transgressions and quickly rectify those into which you may fall.

"Godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation and brings no regret."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Taking Dead Aim At The Civil Service Hierarchy

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan may be getting into the real meat of cutting down state expenditures, which is the elimination of unnecessary personnel.

Reagan's executive secretary, Phil Battaglia, announced some 3,000 jobs would be cut out in an economy move, most of them in the department of mental hygiene.

EXPENDITURES WOULD be curtailed approximately $20 million a year as a result of this move, or at least, this is the amount that would show on paper.

Although Battaglia said in making the announcement that the governor's office had been assured the jobs to be cut out are in the surplus category, the usual plaint was heard from state employees that the services would be "ruined."

VIRTUALLY EVERY TIME an attempt is made in the direction of economy, and sound administration of government, either the civil service contingent, or some affected group joins the weeping parade in a desperate attempt to convince the people of the state that the world is coming to an end.

It is largely these kinds of moanings at the bar that have acted as deterrents to the reasonable administration of government on sound business principles. These types of complaints would not be recognized in private industry, whose operators generally have to make a dollar do a dollar's worth of work, else they will go bankrupt.

The practice in the past in government operation has been to let the taxpayer pick up the tab for surplus personnel.

It still is a practice, as the 3,000 jobs the Reagan administration plans to eliminate are only a drop in the bucket of what could be accomplished if the administration starts state operation on a business basis, rather than continuing the socialistic conception that the people of the state should support unnecessary employees.

ACTUALLY, ELIMINATION of the jobs is not expected to cause undue hardship, nor any great mass exodus out of any of the departments affected. It will be accomplished over a period of several months, and normal attrition or turnover will accomplish most of the objective.

The case-load under the mental hygiene program has dropped tremendously, the administration found, so the logical reasoning is that personnel should drop along with this decrease in the number of patients.

But in the face of this situation, every effort possible is being made to discredit the administration in its effort to effect economies which eventually will redound to the benefit of the taxpayers. And as all the people are taxpayers, the move can't be all bad, as those hurt, if anyone is, will be only the relatively few whose immediate jobs are affected.

ONE THING THE administration moves are pointing up is that the more jobs there are in any given department doesn't mean it has a great record of excellence in performance.

For a good many years, the civil service hierarchy has been engaged in the expensive process of empire building at taxpayer expense. This constitutes one of the evils of civil service. Once such a program gets under way, it's almost impossible to stop. However the administration's move in curtailment may serve notice that, sometime, the party has to end.

School Park Idea Liked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At the March 10-11 Community Assembly at Tamalpais High School, Penrod Moss of the Dixie school district spoke compellingly on the expanding possibilities of individualized instruction.

I admit I was sold — and so were many others. We would all like our children to have a completely individualized education. One question that disturbs me is — how can this be achieved under the centralized school-park approach advocated by many participants in this gathering?

Many seemed to feel that in such a large school complex, better teachers, smaller class size, more individual attention would somehow be magically achieved. But is this really true? Does "bigger" really mean "better"? From all I have heard, a large institution fosters regimentation and loss of identity, tends to have larger class sizes, and does not challenge the best teacher — who really wishes to have some control of her day, if she is to give her best to the children.

The "educational park" approach is idealistic. But is it workable? Let's remember — it's never been tried!

Hippy Cartoon Right To Point

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to commend the I-J's Paul Miller on his editorial drawing in the March 15 issue along with the letter in the same issue from Richard W. Shand of Mill Valley.

Mr. Shand expresses, "It is quite possible that the 'hippy' is representative of the failure of a section of our society." I would like to reaffirm this point by saying that in my mind the very existence of the "hippy" is a reaction of the young persons in the Bay Area to the revulsion that they feel toward the shallowness of the society which has been created for them by the white middle class.

We are seeing more of this rebellion from youth in our area. I, as a school teacher, continually see a type of rebellion, often directed towards myself, but perhaps only out of the feeling of frustration and contempt for my adult counterparts. A similar reaction appears on our university and college campuses and is again found in the music and literature of the young.

Can we, the middle class, sit back and pass judgment on these people? Can we condemn them upon the face of the iniquities in our middle class moralities? When we ourselves disregard the laws, as when we speed in our automobiles when no cops are in sight, or fudge a little on taxes, or cheat a little in business, can we really condemn their actions? When we take a "trip" on good old booze, or cheat a little on our wives, can we question their supposed decadent morality?

The "hippies" need not be regarded as a threat to our society from the point of law and order in that it appears that the only laws they tend to disregard are the poorly conceived narcotic laws. . . . Where the threat and the crime lies is in the loss of these productive persons in our society.

Small Wonder About Hippies

Editor, Independent-Journal:

What a shocker was voiced over the airwaves recently by an able officer of San Francisco's finest. In his comment he said, "A young girl could disappear in the dives of the Hippie Colony."

Much was revealed in a few short words. Crime is rampant in the Haight-Ashbury district in the city that knows how. In this fair city, Saint Francis, in the twilight zone dreamy do-gooders offer meeting halls plus facilities of coffee houses, with goodies, all for free. This is like sticking one's hand into a basket of rabid rattlesnakes. The hand that supplies the sustenance is bound to be bitten. Let no one forget these misfit Hippies are here to tear down the last vestige of law and order of any community.

We Marin-knights doff our helmets and with kudos praise the prompt action of our alert sheriff's office. They raided a Hippie hangout at Tomales Bay. In this roundup a missing young girl was found, sought by the San Francisco police.

The expeditious floater law is a dilly. Let other than us shoulder the grief is the attitude San Francisco is noted. Just dump the undesirable over the fence. Let the next county care for them.

No wonder San Francisco is now the Hippie Empire of the West. . . .

We counties that fringe the Bay Area must ever be vigilant against this abuse, by keeping these misfits out. In time "the city that knows how" would be forced to clean up their putrid mess, they so wittingly tolerate.

Some Real Facts On Assessments

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your readers and taxpayers must be completely bewildered by the governor's bill, by the inter-county 25 per cent of appraisal value for assessment purposes, the recommendations and bills by other legislators, the supposed benefits to property taxpayers by the state advancing certain monies to school districts—all supposedly to help reduce total property taxes.

It is a sad fact, however, that not one single one of these palliatives will accomplish such a purpose. . . . It is very definite that the 25 per cent inter-county average IS GOING TO RAISE PROPERTY TAXES. It is also a fact that to do away with the taxes on household furniture and store merchandise inventories can only decrease the property tax base. As a result the tax rate MUST be raised to get the same amount of revenue. Also it is a sad fact that the so-called school help WILL BE MORE THAN OFFSET BY HIGHER SCHOOL BUDGETS and by generally HIGHER property appraisals for assessment purposes.

It is a fact that when property taxpayers receive their 1967-68 tax bills you are going to find they have been increased by 15 to 50 per cent. . . .

Why everyone is so adamant against adopting a gross transaction and sales tax system for producing local revenue and doing away with property taxes, we simply cannot understand. Such a system would treble the tax base over the present state-wide property tax base and would spread the tax burden among ALL citizens on an equal basis. It is the ONLY system that would positively reduce the total taxes as paid by property owners at present, by more than 50 per cent. Is this so very hard for taxpayers to understand?

Critical Days Ahead After Shooting Ends In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Critical days for the United States come after the shooting stops.

No doubt many Americans would want the United States to pull out of Vietnam altogether after the fighting. It can hardly afford to and isn't likely to.

This country is now helping the South Vietnamese, who have had practically no experience in democracy, to set up a constitutional government.

They won't learn overnight. The country has strong factions. Many of the Viet Cong will choose to remain in South Vietnam when peace is restored.

If the United States withdraws in a hurry, one of several things will probably happen.

The new government will succeed, it will degenerate into a dictatorship, or under factional disputes will collapse into a chaos, making it possible for the Viet Cong to take over, with or without guns.

Viet Cong control in the end would make a bitter farce of all the American sacrifices in men, money and supplies.

President Johnson this week repeated one of the "basic objectives" for the American part in the war.

It is to give the world a "concrete demonstration that aggression across international frontiers is no longer an acceptable means of political change."

Would-be aggressors of the future can take that to mean war with the United States if they try what the North Vietnamese Communists tried on South Vietnam.

But — if the United States pulls out of South Vietnam too quickly, and the Viet Cong take over, two American reactions are predictable.

One is a feeling that all the American effort in Vietnam was in vain, the other is a reluctance to get involved in a similar episode anywhere.

Communism itself, if the South Vietnamese government collapsed from its own inadequacy or lack of American stand-by help, might conclude subversion, even though slower, would be better and less expensive than direct attack.

It is hardly an accident that the communique that Johnson agreed to at the Manila conference last fall was vague on the American pull-out.

It said "when the aggression has stopped. . .the people of South Vietnam will ask their allies to remove their forces and evacuate their installations as the military and subversive forces of North Vietnam are withdrawn, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence thus subsides."

The communique did not put a time limit on when South Vietnam should decide it was out of danger and safe enough to ask the Americans to leave.

The North Vietnamese have had their minds on the American stay, too.

Knowing the erratic and unreliable history of previous regimes in South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese have demanded in the past that American forces must be withdrawn before there can even be peace talks.

North Vietnam hasn't stressed that point lately. But the United States has ignored it, just as it has ignored French President Charles de Gaulle's suggestion that the United States must announce in advance that it will withdraw its forces before a peace settlement is reached.

Hiring Of Aussies Halts Russ Bases

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin is having second thoughts about building a strategic space tracking station in Australia — rivaling the big one the U. S. has there.

Reason for the Soviet's reversal is Australia's firm insistence on applying the same terms required of the U.S.

Key condition is that all personnel, including security, be Australian.

THIS DEMAND APPARENTLY chilled the Russians' enthusiasm for setting up a landbased tracking station "down under" as part of their vigorous man-on-the moon program.

With the exception of a network within the Soviet borders, the East European satellites and in Mali and Egypt, they have no worldwide system of land-based tracking stations. Instead they use specially equipped trawlers to monitor their orbiting cosmonauts and spacecraft.

U.S. authorities strongly suspect that these ships, loaded with radar and electronic devices, also are used for surveillance of U.S. space shots and military activities.

IN A MOVE TO EXPAND its limited land-based tracking network, the Kremlin sounded out Australia on erecting a station there. The response was prompt and cordial. Moscow was told it would be most welcome; that every facility would be extended to make the proposed station a success — including providing the necessary Australian technical and other personnel.

To Russian protests at this, the Australians pointed out the U. S. was required to do the same, and obviously no partiality could be shown another country, particularly one that wasn't an ally.

This ended the discussion — and Soviet plans for a land-based tracking station in Australia.

The Russians are extremely secretive about their space operations. Apparently, they gagged at the idea that foreigners would man one of their tracking stations as demanded by Australia.

The U.S. has had no difficulty because of that condition.

ITS TRACKING STATION, about 40 miles from Canberra, is one of the largest and finest in the world. It is run by 140 Australians, 90 of them engineers, under contract with the U.S. Aeronautics & Space Administration.

The U.S. has a $400 million worldwide network of space tracking stations that includes facilities in Bermuda and Antigua in the Caribbean, Ascension Island in the south Atlantic, the Canary Islands off Morocco, Malagasy in the Indian Ocean, Guam and Canton Islands in the Pacific, and in Spain, South Africa and Mexico.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Spring Marks Novato's Annual Battle Between Dogs And Yards

It is that time of year again when the annual battle between people and dogs come to our attention. During the rainy season, the people are more confined indoors and do not notice the neighborhood dogs roaming.

With the spring weather, people are working in their yards and growing disgusted with having to clean up after dogs. Also some canines can do much damage to newly planted flower beds.

THAT IS NOT the only problem. This spring in the greater Novato area there have been many sheep killed by dogs. Every few days the people report more sheep lost. There have been thousands of dollars worth in the past two or three months.

Buck Azavedo, who has been in the sheep raising business for many years, said that a good ewe, producing both wool and lambs, would be worth about $50. A registered lamb or sheep might go as high as $250 to $450, he said.

Some of the sheep killing dogs have been identified and their owners notified. We do not know whether restitution for the damage has been made or not, but the needless slaughter continues.

Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said that the best protection a person has for his flock of sheep is to shoot the dogs. If he does, he has immunity from the law against shooting inside the city limits because he is protecting his own property, the chief said. Of course, this hinges on catching the dog in the act.

There is an animal control law in effect, the chief said. This law does not require that an animal be chained at all times, but it must be under the control of its master and not running loose.

THAT IS the crux of the situation. Far too many people turn their dogs loose late at night or the first thing in the morning. The dog runs off his energy, covering a wide range of territory and then returns home to lie meekly around the yard or house for the balance of the day.

Most of the sheep killing in the Novato area has been done early in the morning. This probably holds true for other messes as well.

The control of animals is placed in the hands of the Marin County Humane Society. When their truck patrols the area, usually midmorning and afternoon, the dogs are safely at home.

Di Grazia says he thinks that the Humane Society is doing a good job of animal control.

MANY PEOPLE have complained to us that the society does not do well. In fact, there is considerable talk of Novato having its own dog catcher or animal control officer. Such a person could be on hand in the early morning hours or at night when the dogs are allowed to run.

The chief said that this would be a fantastic cost to the taxpayers.

Charles Foster, finance director for Novato, said that the city has collected $4,700 in dog licenses so far this fiscal year. As we understand it, this goes to the Humane Society for animal control.

THIS FIGURE might be increased if through better patrol, all dogs were licensed, although Di Grazia said he thought that the majority of the dogs were licensed.

Why should dog licenses alone be made to carry the cost of all animal control? Why not license cats and other animals? It is also a matter of record that the Novato police receive many calls to corral horses and cows that have broken out into the streets.

Between the cost of added licenses and the fines which people would have to pay to reclaim their captured pets, the animal control office might pay its own way.

As it now stands, there are many people dissatisfied with the animal control as it now exists in the Novato area.

Most dog owners are careful with their pets, and such a change in the law enforcement of the animal control law would not affect them.

I, TOO, have a dog, but it is not allowed to run at large.

TV Service Meeting

The Novato Council Committee on Community Television Antenna Service and the city staff will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the Novato Community House to process the applications of companies seeking to establish television antenna service in Novato.

MORRIE RYSKIND

The 'Oily Bird' Is Really The Bird To Be Aware Of

I DON'T SAY Lewis Carroll was wrong when he warned, "Beware the Jabberwock, my son, the jaws that bite, the claws that catch," but I do say the Jabberwock is nothing compared to that predatory feathered vertebrate, the cuckoo. That's the bird to beware of!

There are many species of cuckoo, but all show the same family traits. They will seize any territory that looks good to them, by fair means or foul, and then claim permanent possession; and they have a habit of slipping their eggs into the bottom of others birds' nests to be hatched, which gives them a lot more free time than most parents.

Indeed, what with having invented the doctrine of squatter sovereignty and being the first to use baby sitters, the name cuckoo seems incongruous. Who's loony now?

EVEN THE CUCKOO EGGS show their genes by being precocious and hatching before the more legitimate ones. They thereupon kick the rightful eggs out of the nest and thus get all the food meant for the brood.

The foster-parents must often wonder why, out of five or six ova, they wind up with only one offspring — and that one with no resemblance to his father. A thing like that has been known to lead to the divorce court — with the real parents snickering to themselves.

But, for today's lesson in political ornithology, I propose to concentrate on the human cuckoo, that rara avis, the Professional Liberal, popularly known as the Oily Bird, because of the utter unctuousness of his call. (In Brooklyn, he's known as the "oily boid" and is said to subsist entirely on woims, an insect peculiar to that locality.)

COME TO THINK OF IT, he's not as rara as he used to be. On some college campuses —their favorite habitat — the species is as thick as the proverbial fleas on a hound dog. The dog is still there, of course, but you can't see the forest for the fleas.

By much the same method of proliferation, they have taken over the academy groves which gave them sanctuary—tenure is the technical term—and lived to regret it, like the Arab who let the camel into his tent.

When they lift their voices in viscous song, dripping with liberal cliches, the quieter campus voices are drowned out and few know they even exist.

E.G., UCLA HAS the reputation, like its sibling colleges, of being entirely the abode of the left, a condominium off-grounds to rightists. Yet its economics department has many conservative teachers. Indeed, the famed Milton Friedman of Chicago U. is just now winding up a highly popular three-month session at UCLA.

I say highly popular because I recently attended an extracurricular evening lecture he delivered to a hall filled with Business School alumni and students. Now it is no secret the prof. was for Goldwater, and I half-expected that a group of UCLA cuckoos would burn themselves to death in protest at this desecration of Alma Mater.

But I was grievously disappointed. Not even a riotous lie-down or sit-in. The lecturer was respectfully listened to and his sallies greeted with laughter and applause. Even the question-and-answer period that followed indicated the conservative tinge of the audience.

HOW THEN DO THE Oily Birds contrive to give UCLA the image of a leftish monolith? By using the same methods as their fellow-birds.

Thus, the campus daily is not a free-enterprise product, as many college sheets are, but is subsidized, willy-nilly, out of student fees. And the Oily Birds have managed, by squatter sovereignty, to seize control.

So when the liberal editor attacked Governor Reagan's tuition plan, he packed the paper with interviews and letters from faculty bigwigs who approved his stand. Never — so I'm assured by a member of his staff—did he ask for an expression from the conservatives of the economics department who lined up with Reagan. And so it looked like a Cook County landslide.

AND OUT OF THOSE same students fees came the money to send the editor to a Vietnik meeting in Chicago.

So never mind the Jabberwock. Keep your eyes on the Oily Bird.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Compliment To His Hostess Certainly Displeases Wife

"I must say you're an excellent bridge player," I said to my hostess as we left.

My wife waited until we had driven away from the door, and then she hissed, "How could you possibly say that?"

My wife was thinking of the next-to-last hand of the evening.

Opening lead — ♡ K

Our hostess ruffed the second round of hearts, drew a round of trumps and led out the ace and 10 of clubs.

West took the queen of clubs and returned the deuce of diamonds.

STOOPS TO CONQUER

Declarer played low from dummy and I managed to put the queen of diamonds on the table.

The lady fell on this with the king of diamonds like a wolf on the fold.

Then she led a diamond from her hand and turned the color of her eye shadow when West discarded a heart.

My two diamond tricks defeated the contract.

SHOULD REFUSE

"All she had to do was refuse that first diamond trick," my wife observed mournfully. (Guess whose partner she had been!)

It was true.

If I then returned the jack or 10 of diamonds, declarer could win in dummy and finesse through me with the king-nine.

If I returned the eight of diamonds, she couild play the nine at once.

If I returned anything but a diamond, dummy could ruff while South discarded a diamond.

The game was certainly no matter how the missing three diamonds were divided.

"Then how could you say she's an excellent bridge player?"

"I didn't. My exact words were: 'I must say you're an excellent bridge player.' Isn't that what a good guest must say?"

"Very funny," said my wife. "Save it for the column."

And she turned on the radio.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ A K Q J 8 4
♥ 10
♦ K 9 7 4
♣ A 10

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is not quite good enough for a forcing opening bid, but it is far too good for a shutout bid.

Open with one of your long suit and await developments.

Public Servants Have It So Good

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—This city goes on summer schedule during January, February and March.

Government employees work from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and have the rest of the day off to go to the beach and enjoy the midsummer sun of the southern hemisphere.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, March 21, the 80th day of 1967 with 285 to follow.

The moon is between the first and full stages. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

American theatrical producer Florenz Zeigfield was born on this day in 1869.

On this day in history:

In 1790, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia became the first United States Secretary of State. He was appointed to the cabinet of George Washington.

In 1918, American and German soldiers fought in the key battle of the Somme.

In 1945, some 7,000 Allied airplanes dropped more than 12,000 tons of explosives on Germany in a daytime raid.

In 1962, Soviet Premier Kruschev pledged that Russia would cooperate with the United States in the peaceful exploration of space.

A Thought for the Day — German philosopher Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegal once said: "Life has a value only when it has something valuable as its object."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The co.umn of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

What Do You Call A Perfect Home?

Must it have 4 bedrooms with least 3 baths upstairs? And a powder room off the entry hall — with a very formal dining room, and a breakfast room, and a really outstanding family-game room opening to a formal pool? Should the living room be huge with high ceilings, with a den tucked away for warmth & privacy — and should the style be something stunning and different yet with a motif strongly suggestive of the traditional? And should the site be heavily wooded with along, formal driveway leading to an absolutely private site which is level and drenched with sun, with an immense view, priced under $175,000?? Naturally! We have one listed for . . .

☼ ✱ ○ • SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

THE HEAVENS IN APRIL

Planetary Spectacular Scheduled

By JAMES STOKLEY
Science Service

The finest display of bright planets in years is the treat that April brings to the evening sky.

Mars this month is at its brightest, as it makes the closest approach to earth of this trip around the sun. It shines in the southeast, in the constellation of Virgo, the virgin. Sirius, the brightest nighttime star, is only a little brighter. It is visible in the southwest, in Canis Major, the great dog.

Venus, in the west, is still brightening and will reach its greatest brilliance in July. But even in April it far outshines any other object in the evening sky, except for the moon. At mid-month it will be nearly eight times as bright as Mars.

Jupiter is the third brilliant planet. It is in the southwest, in Cancer, the crab, and is a little brighter than Mars.

The accompanying maps show where the principal stars and planets are located about April 1, at 10 p.m., your own kind of standard time. The skies look about the same at 9 p.m. on the 15th and 8 p.m. on the 30th.

Venus, however, changes during the month, because it is moving rapidly across the sky. A line on the southern map, passing through Taurus, the bull, shows its path. Three of the symbols for a brilliant object show where it will be about April 6, 15 and 30.

Mars also is moving against the starry background, but not as rapidly. The map shows its position in the south at the middle of the month. Mars, distinguished by its ruddy hue, is about 10 times as bright as the nearby star Spica.

Jupiter moves more slowly than either Venus or Mars. It is in the southwest, in Cancer, but close to the border between that constellation and Gemini, the twins.

The maps show seven other very bright stars, that is, of the first magnitude in the astronomer's scale of stellar brilliance. Those close to the horizon, however, are dimmed because of atmospheric absorption.

Mars is the feature of the April skies. On April 21 it will be 55.85 million miles from earth, closer than it has been since 1958. Then it was 45.4 million miles away.

Mars goes around the sun every 687 earthly days (about one year, 10.5 months). The earth makes its circuit in 365 days. Thus, every 780 days (nearly two years, two months) we catch up to Mars. Both planets are then in the same direction from the sun and they are closest for that particular circuit.

The earth's average distance from the sun is about 93 million miles, but it varies 1.5 million miles above or below that figure. The distance of Mars from the sun varies much more greatly. It can come as close as 128 million miles, or recede as far as 155 million.

Thus, the distance of Mars from the earth at opposition (when earth is between Mars and the sun) varies considerably. At a late summer opposition we pass Mars when it is closest to the sun. Then it comes close to its minimum distance from us. This last happened Sept. 10, 1956, when the separation was only 35.2 million miles. At the following opposition, in November 1958, the distance was 45.4 million miles.

Then oppositions came in December 1960, February 1963 and March 1966, with Mars farther and farther away. In 1963 and 1965 the distance was over 62 million miles.

But now they are improving. After this year, the next opposition will come in May 1969. At the one after that, in August 1971, Mars will be even closer than in 1956 — only 35 million miles distant.

Perhaps we can take advantage of that close approach by landing an unmanned space vehicle on Mars, to send back more information about its surface. From the Mariner IV space vehicle, which passed near Mars July 14, 1965, astronomers obtained close-up photographs that greatly altered many of their ideas about the planet. These pictures showed that the Martian surface is much like that of the moon!

The part that was photographed is covered with a variety of craters and rings very much like those of a lunar landscape. A few astronomers had previously suggested the possibility of craters on Mars, but such notions had not been widely accepted.

Out beyond Mars is a belt with swarms of tiny planets called asteroids, and some wander far from the middle of the belt. Many, undoubtedly, have hit the moon in the 4.5 billion years since our satellite was formed. Exploding on impact, they may have caused many, if not most, of the lunar craters. Probably the earth was similarly bombarded, but most of the terrestrial craters that resulted have since been erased by weathering and erosion.

They would have hit Mars as well. In fact, since it is nearer than earth to the asteroid belt, Mars should have been bombarded more heavily than earth or moon. However, the Mariner IV pictures seem to show only about a tenth as many craters as might have been expected.

This is only one of many mysteries of Mars. Some astronomers suggest that the craters, both on Mars and the moon, did not result from meteoric bombardment after all. They might have been caused by some internal disturbance. If we actually explore Mars and the moon during the coming decade, we may get the answers to such puzzles.

Killing Suspect Faces Questions

San Quentin Prison inmate Herman D. Brown will go before the prison disciplinary committee tomorrow in an investigation of Saturday's knife slaying of another prisoner, Bill Gene Cook.

Brown, described by Associate Warden Homer J. Hastings as chief suspect in the killing, was in an isolation cell today pending the committee appearance.

Cook was stabbed at 2:35 p.m. Saturday and died in the prison hospital half an hour later. Brown was treated for minor stab woulds at the prison hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Postnasal Drip Is One Of Most Common Ailments

VAN DELLEN

Postnasal drip is one of our commonest ailments. Mucus from the nose collects in back of the throat at the point of gag reflex especially when it is too sticky to escape spontaneously. The victim coughs, gags, or vomits in an attempt to dislodge it. Hacking is particularly bothersome in the morning.

The membranes of the nose and throat usually are covered by a thin layer of mucus that protects the lining and keeps it clean. As the secretion accumulates, it is carried down the back of the throat and is swallowed. In this respect a certain amount of postnasal drip is normal.

WHEN A COLD develops, the secretion increases and becomes thicker. The same occurs when the sinuses are involved. The mucus that gathers as a result of nasal allergy seldom adheres to the back of the throat.

Almost everyone with a postnasal drip is healthy. When in doubt, the sinuses are X-rayed and the nose and throat are investigated throughly. The disorder is more common in city dwellers who inhale polluted air. Overindulgence in alcohol and smoking does the same by increasing the secretions in back of the nose.

NERVOUSNESS AND changes in atmosphere may be causative when there is no evidence of infection. Many northerners are bothered in the winter months as they go in and out of overheated and underhumidified offices and homes.

The emotional origin is more difficult to explain. We know that some persons perspire more profusely than others and have more saliva and gastric juice. These secretions are controlled by the autonomic nervous system and so are the mucus-secreting glands in the nose. The nervous individual is hypersensitive to these secretions and is likely to complain more often.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request, to the Independent-Journal.)

PEELING PALMS

R.B.A. writes: What causes peeling of the palms of the hands?

REPLY

Contact dermatitis is the most common cause; the individual handles materials to which he is sensitive. Internal allergies can do the same except that peeling is not confined to the hands. Infections such as ringworm and syphilis are other possibilities. During the menopause, peeling occurs occasionally as a result of glandular disturbances.

COLON DISTRESS AT NIGHT

A. S. writes: Why is a spastic colon more troublesome at night?

REPLY

There is no reason why distress should occur more frequently at night and, in my experience, the majority of sufferers are bothered more during the day. Abdominal discomfort at night is more likely to stem from ulcer or diaphragmatic hernia.

DEPRESSION

Mrs. P. writes: What is hypomania?

REPLY

Mania is a mental disorder having symptoms that include excitability and instability. Victims who become subdued and somewhat depressed are said to be in a state of hypomania. Many drugs are capable of producing this effect.

SNEEZELESS

J. L. M. writes: Why can't I sneeze? I work up to the ker-choo stage and then nothing happens.

REPLY

If you insist upon bringing your sneeze to fruition, tickle your nose with a feather when the urge hits. Failure to sneeze is not an abnormality.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Fourth Network Will Debut Soon

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A fourth commercial television network, with a nightly two-hour show from Las Vegas as its entertainment keystone, is working toward a debut in the near future.

The organization, known as the UNITED Network, will put its Las Vegas program into competition with such late-night entries as NBC-TV's "Tonight" show and ABC-TV's upcoming Joey Bishop series.

SHOW SCENE

Studio facilities for the Las Vegas entry are expected to be finished by April 21 or thereabouts at the Hacienda Hotel, from which the new series will originate.

James Nichols, a key figure in the United Network—formerly known as the Overmyer Network — says 135 stations across the nation are set to carry the show, and that the number will probably go up to 145 or 150 by air time.

In an interview here, Nichols, a young Texan, said the Las Vegas series will have a single permanent host, as well as various rotating cohosts, and also a "Repertory company" of three men and a girl. Naturally there will also be guests and considerable attention to entertainment elsewhere in Las Vegas.

LONG FUTURE

Nichols said the United Network is interested in public affairs programming also.

"We want to take one step at a time," he said. "We expect to be around 25 years from now, and we want to move correctly and with no rush."

He added that the network is also contemplating moving into another area of programming, children's shows.

In the area of public affairs programming, Nichols said:

"It needs to be balanced in the first place, and it needs the full spectrum of political thought heard. I think that if the public has the chance to hear all sides, it comes close to making the right decisions.

"I have felt at times that we have not heard certain voices of the right and left because of a fear of controversy. It is out of all views and opinions that we get a consensus, and we intend to present a forum for all.

"As much as anyone has the capacity to try to assure that news is not slanted, we will dedicate ourselves to this. And in the area of editorial content, we will want to carefully label it as such."

The President of the UNITED Network is Ollie Treyz, who formerly was the boss at ABC-TV. Treyz naturally will report to the board of the new organization, but if a quick decision on policy is needed he will check with Nichols.

Mark Twain's Huck Finn Is Under Attack

PASCO, Wash. (UPI)—Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," considered by many as the greatest American novel, was under attack from a local civil rights leader today because it contains the word "nigger." The leader has never read the book through.

Rev. Howard P. Hawkins, former president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he had asked that the work be removed from high school English classes.

In the book, Twain makes frequent use of the word "nigger" in reference to Huck's friend Jim, the runaway slave who emerges as one of the heroes of the novel.

Rev. Hawkins conceded he had never read "Huckleberry Finn" through, but the Episcopal clergyman said, "I read enough to see the word "nigger" appear about 100 times." One of the major themes of the novel deals with Huck's rising above intolerance through his relationship with Jim.

Singer's Widow Gives Mementos

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maria Cole, widow of singer Nat (King) Cole, presented two of her late husband's prized possessions to entertainer Wayne Newton yesterday.

Mrs. Cole gave Newton her husband's watch and his make-up kit in appreciation for Newton's appearance last Friday at a charity event marking Cole's 48th birthday.

Newton flew here at his own expense to appear at the Century Plaza Hotel. Money collected from the event, which attracted about 1,200 persons, was turned over to the medical library at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Nave Drive Yield Sign To Be Installed

The stop sign for southbound traffic on Nave Drive just north of Nave Lanes, Novato, will be replaced by a "yield" sign Friday, county traffic engineer James Robertson reported today.

The stop where the north off ramp enters Nave Drive has caused extensive backup of commute traffic.

Public Meeting Slated On Drugs

A public meeting on LSD and marijuana will be held at 8 p.m. March 30 at the Novato Community House.

Jerry Van Raam, senior agent of the California State Narcotics Bureau, will show a film on the use of these drugs. A representative from the Novato Police Department will discuss their use at Novato High School, a representative from the Synanon House will tell of experiences with the drugs, and a physician will tell the medical side of the story. Following this there will be a question period.

Five Years Given In Burglary

Vincent John Frank Jr., 23, was given a year in county jail and placed on five year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for burglary and assault with intent to commit rape.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson also directed that Frank, who was returned from Atascadero State Hospital March 3 after a 90-day observation period, take psychiatric treatment.

Frank, of 227 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to burgling the apartment of John Tomczak and Dwain E. Essig at 190 Throckmorton Avenue last Oct. 3. He also pleaded guilty to assaulting a 19-year-old girl on Sept. 18, 1964, with intent to rape.

Police said Frank, once called the "Tamalpais Valley prowler," was arrested in the Throckmorton Avenue apartment after telling the occupants he broke in not to steal, but "looking for somebody to rape."

Prior to the latest commitment at Atascadero, he had served 21 months there for treatment as a sexual psychopath.

Bay Area Needs For Open Space To Soar By 80s

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The San Francisco Bay Area will need 40,000 more acres of open recreation land and 5,000 new campsites by 1980, a State Parks and Recreation Department report said yesterday.

The seven-county Bay Area will have a population of 6.2 million in 1980 compared with 3.5 million in 1960, and the demand for outdoor recreation "will more than double" the report said.

The new open space and campsites will be needed within an hour's drive of the Bay Area, the report said. Nearly 6,400 more campsites will be needed within a two-hour drive, said the report released by William Penn Mott Jr., California's new parks director.

CHP Officer Will Speak At Meeting

California Highway Patrol Officer Robert K. Richter will speak at a public meeting sponsored by Northgate Lodge of B'nai B'rith at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Terra Linda Recreation Center.

Richter will speak on traffic laws and violations, the CHP role in accident prevention, and the Marin County experiment with beefed-up CHP patrols to cut accident and violation rates. The talk will be accompanied by a Highway Patrol film. A question period will follow.

Annexation On Agenda Tonight

The North Marin County Water District board will consider the annexation of approximately 9,000 acres in the Point Reyes Station-Inverness area when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the district office at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Public hearing on the annexation was held at the board's meeting on Feb. 7, but action was delayed by the board until tonight's meeting, when it will also consider the district's policy toward new areas.

Residents of the West Marin area petitioned the North Marin District for annexation after the area around Marshall was annexed to the district. The annexation was approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission. Of the 700 registered voters in the proposed annexation who were notified of it, only 12 filed written protests, said Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager.

One hundred forty schools around the Bay Area have been invited to attend, according to Lyle Fisher, Redwood mathematics teacher who heads the conference. Students from Drake, Tamalpais, Terra Linda, San Carlos, Mission San Jose, and Redwood high schools will be among those attending.

Featured speakers will be Brother U. Alfred of St. Mary's College, who will lecture on "Discovering Mathematical Relations in Geometrical Networks," and Jean Lund of University of California, whose topic will be "Geometric Jigsaws Go Mod."

Speakers from Redwood will be Ed Seuringhaus, discussing "Coding Systems"; Mike Kast, "Lunar Orbital Planes"; Nick Suntzeff, "Flexgons"; Jeff Kirchmann, "Computer Logic and Programming"; Dave Treganowen, "What Domain of Prime Concern?"; Terry Shister, "Figurate Numbers"; Steve Bunker, "Tibonacci Numbers," and Gunnar Carlson, "Geometric Transformation."

The program has been arranged by the students.

10-Year-Old Writes About New School

Publicity about Reed School District's Granada School in Corte Madera, which has had several awards as a non-graded school without interior walls, has reached at least as far as the Bronx, N.Y., and inspired in a 10-year-old boy there the desire to attend the school.

He wrote a letter addressed to the principal of Granada School on March 6, saying:

"Dear sir,

"My name is Michael McNickle. I am very interested in your school and would like to enroll in your school immediately. But I am not a resident of California. How could I enroll?

"Respectfully yours,
"Michael McNickle."

A postscript from Michael's father, George McNickle, "authorized his son's inquiry and added that Michael is 10 years old and in the fifth grade.

Granada principal John C. Fitch replied to Michael and his father, commenting on the "difficult commute between New York and California" and enclosing a brochure with more information about the school.

Reed Trustees To Hear Report

Trustees of Reed School District will hear a briefing on the district's special education program at their meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

The briefing will be by Supt. H. Joseph Edgington and Reed School principal Jack Usilton.

A proposal for non-teaching salary raises amounting to $11,900 plus vacation allowances — which may run to $3,000 — will be presented by the district's newly formed chapter of the California School Employees Association. Superintendent Edgington will report on a study of salary raises for teachers.

Baking Art On Display

Lady Baltimore Bakeries, well-known in Marin for fine pastries and breads, are becoming specialists in custom cakes for weddings, receptions and special events.

To draw attention to this custom feature of their baking art, the Corte Madera Shopping Center outlet has on display for Easter two gigantic Easter motif cakes — one an Easter bonnet, the other an overflowing Easter basket.

The shopper who comes to Corte Madera Center to bring his child's Easter Bunny Coloring Contest entry can enjoy coffee, an appetizing sweet roll, or other pastries at the "at cost" coffee center Lady Baltimore maintains as a courtesy to Corte Madera shoppers.

Would Data Computers Destroy An American's Private Life?

WASHINGTON (SS) — A horrifying picture of a privacyless future was drawn recently for a Senate subcommittee studying the implications of a national data center that would computerize facts about individual Americans, their income, work, history and habits.

Although he did not oppose the establishment of the center, Arthur R. Miller, professor of law at the University of Michigan, insisted that "a range of controls, standards of care, and security techniques must be developed before the center is established.

"Science has destroyed our bastions of privacy," Miller said, mentioning the tools of eavesdropping and wiretapping now in use, and suggesting new ones for the future.

He agreed with subcommittee chairman Edward W. Long, D-Mo., that the "inefficiency of government in this field — where almost every American is chronicled somewhere from cradle to grave — is all that protects what privacy we have left."

The combination of computers with other advanced techniques in the immediate future bothered both men.

Miller suggested that "mail covers" (under which the Post Office Department observes the mail of suspected offenders) could be immensely speeded and broadened by optical scanners that could read the address and return address rapidly and store the information.

Further, Miller predicted a scanning device that could go farther — and actually read the letter inside without the bother of opening the envelope.

Any such data center, Miller predicted, would quickly develop branches around the country, and be more or less open to eavesdroppers along its telephone lines or microwave circuits. He recommended any such transmissions be scrambled.

Eventually, he said, it may be proved that computers themselves give off some clue to what is going on inside them, and that their secrets could be garnered from such emissions.

Moles, Warts Are Common Blemishes, Most Harmless

Almost everyone has a few minor skin blemishes such as moles or warts, and most of them are quite harmless. They can, however, be unsightly and in some instances uncomfortable.

A mole is a localized overgrowth of otherwise normal cells in the skin. They are commonly thought of as birthmarks, although in many cases they do not show up at once. They do, however, tend to disappear later in life.

The cells which overgrow to form the mole are those which are normally intended to form pigment. Moles may be raised or flat, colored either black or brown, or unpigmented, hairy or bare. They may be as small as a match head or may cover large areas of the body.

Only in very rare instances do moles become malignant. When they do, the cancerous growth is called a malignant melanoma. Malignant melanomas can be cured, especially if widely removed before any spread of the cells has occurred.

About most moles, nothing need be done.

Easter Bunny Coloring Contest Expanded Due To Great Response

Last year 14,000 Marin youngsters between five and 12 colored the Corte Madera Center Independent-Journal tabloid Easter Bunny "Color Me Contest," vying for the coveted, all-expense-paid trips to Disneyland.

That response exceeded all expectations as the youngsters poured into the center to submit entries and visit the Easter Carnival.

This year, through the cooperation of Corte Madera Merchants Council, 25 trips will go to children from ages 5-16, who submit the best color entries in their respective age categories.

If the response is as great as anticipated, the number of expense-free trips may be expanded to 100. The front page of this tabloid is the entry blank. Advertisement elsewhere carries contest rules. All entries must be in by noon Saturday.

Corte Madera Center's Easter Shopping Festival has been so successful that it is being emulated by a number of shopping areas throughout the state this year.

In Corte Madera, throughout Easter Week, shoppers and their children will have an opportunity to submit "color me" contest entries; enjoy the famous West Coast Shows Carnival; and feast "Sweden Soft Serve" cones, which will be available in a mobile unit tended by Job's Daughters of Larkspur Bethel, through the courtesy of Kelly's Refrigeration Service.

Rail Line Hit By Lion Slowup

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Apologizing for the recent late arrival of the night train to Morogoro, deep in Tanzania game country, East African Railways claimed lions were to blame

The driver picked out the pride in his spotlight as they straddled the line.

So hard did he jam on his brakes that a carriage was derailed.

One lion was run over and killed. The rest prowled around angrily, preventing repair work and delaying the train for six hours.

Lung Disease Deaths Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The number of American women dying each year from emphysema and chronic bronchitis has increased fourfold during the last 10 years, says Dr. Albert Roberts of the National Center for Chronic Disease Control.

A leaflet issued by the center attributes to cigarette smoking the rising toll of disability and death from the two lung diseases.

Redmond Heads Center Merchants

Richard I. Redmond, merchandising manager for Montgomery Ward in Corte Madera Center, has been elected president of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council, for a second term.

Redmond has been a rapid riser in the Montgomery Ward chain.

At 23, having completed a business administration major at San Jose State with a B.S. degree, Redmond was placed on a management efficiency team in the Oakland regional office.

Redmond was next transferred to Phoenix, where he was elevated to the post of merchandising manager. He then came to Corte Madera, where he has occupied the second spot.

He is active in Lions Club and Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife Sharon live in Mill Valley.

Serving as vice president is Richard G. Burns, Corte Madera attorney. Burns is past president of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, a former director of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce — which he helped organize, and a former secretary and director of the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Burns works primarily with family, business, and estate legal problems and was, for 10 years, associated with the late Judge George E. Crothers in San Francisco. He has maintained an office in Corte Madera for about five years, is a graduate of Stanford Law School and former case editor of the Stanford Law Review. He also attended University of California where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and organized the Inter-fraternity Scholastic Honor Society. He and his wife, Eloise, live with their two sons, Ken and Don, in Mill Valley.

Elected as directors are A. Munoz, manager of J. C. Penney; Louis Malvino, co-owner of Louis George; Arthur Poliquin, manager of W. T. Grant; Max Daoust, co-owner of Harmony Music Center, and Casper Borst, manager of Smith's.

B. A. Sill, manager of Crocker-Citizens National Bank, has been reappointed council treasurer; and Hollie L. Smith, insurance agent, renamed manager of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council.

Britain's Skies Rain Underwear

LONDON (UPI) — Flying saucers? No, flying panties.

Six pairs of panties —mini-panties to ko with mini-skirts— flew out cf John Stevenson's light plane recently as he was flying over southern England with a consignment of women's clothing for a customer in Chatham.

Just to be sure no one got the idea some pantie-less Martians might be on their way, Stevenson promptly notified police of his loss.

Cubans Granted Oyster Wishes

MIAMI (AP) — Cubans like small oysters. Exiles here found only big ones until enterprising Pedro M. Martniez located a supply in Maryland's Chesapeake Bay area.

"Out there the oysters are so big that people throw away the little ones," Martinez reported. "So I arrange for the rejects."

As a result, exiles are eating something similar to "ostiones de Sagua" (oysters from Sagua, Cuba, a midget species), to which they were accustomed at home.

They put them in a glass with lime juice, ketchup and hot sauce. No fork is needed. Just drink them down.

Hanoi Spurns Direct Peace Talk Bids From Johnson, Ky

LBJ Flies Homeward From Guam Parleys

HONOLULU (UPI)—President Johnson proposed direct peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam in a letter to President Ho Chi Minh on Feb. 2, it was disclosed today. Ho rejected the offer.

Hanoi Radio broadcast the Johnson offer and Ho's reply as the President stopped here en route from his conference on Guam to Washington.

The plane was on the ground for 15 minutes before beginning the last leg of the trip home. The plane is due in Washington at 7 p.m. EST.

It coincided with disclosures in Saigon today by South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu that Saigon also had made direct peace overtures to Hanoi and that its offer also was rejected.

Before leaving Guam, Johnson said the United States was making "substantial progress" on every front in Vietnam but that the end was not in sight and extra hard work remained.

Hanoi Radio disclosed that Johnson had made his peace offer through Moscow nearly six weeks before he called the Guam meeting of U.S. and South Vietnamese leaders. The Ho reply was dated Feb. 15.

HO'S TERMS

Ho called for the unconditional cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam and the end of "other war aggression" as a pre-condition to peace negotiations, Hanoi said.

"In your message you have proposed direct talks between the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam and the United States," Ho said.

"If the U.S. Government truly desires such a conference the U.S. government must first of all halt its bombing against the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam.

"Vietnam will never submit to talks under the threat of bombing."

TRICK CLAIM

Another Hanoi broadcast carried a North Vietnamese foreign ministry statement on the exchange of messages in which the North Vietnamese charged that Johnson had "resorted to a trick in extending the halt of the bombing of North Vietnam after the Asian Lunar New year."

The statements did not directly mention the South Vietnamese peace proposals reported in Saigon earlier today.

The President summed up the meeting with South Vietnamese leaders and the military and diplomatic advisers of both countries as "very constructive" sessions that brought both countries closer, although he stressed the goal of peace and Ky stressed military pressure.

Johnson spoke first to newsmen and then to the men who man and maintain America's might B-52 Stratofortress bombers. He said there has been no momentous decisions made at the conference.

Before reaching the air base from Nimitz Hill where the conference was held Johnson stopped for 20 minutes at a U.S. Naval Hospital and toured wards filled with war wounded from Vietnam.

Furious Battle Chops Up Reds Major Attack

SAIGON (UPI)—Troops of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division defeated a Viet Cong regiment of nearly 1,500 men in a furious battle today and sent them fleeing back into Cambodia, leaving 423 dead on the battlefield. It brought Communist dead in two days of War Zone C fighting to 711.

Is was perhaps the greatest allied victory of the year and it cost the Americans 30 killed, 109 wounded and three men missing. But it crushed Hanoi's hopes of a propaganda victory during President Johnson's Guam meeting.

TROOPS LANDED

A spokesman disclosed that a battalion (up to 1,500) of U.S. marines made a joint helicopter and amphibious landing yesterday just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) to protect American 175 millimeter Long Tom artillery pieces from an enemy attack.

The Communists struck with 600 rounds of mortar and rocket fire in an extremely intense barrage but were unable to harm the big guns in their first across-the-border attack. The Long Tons fire from Gio Linh 20 miles across the DMZ into North Vietnam where the Reds have massed three divisions.

Three Marines were killed and 71 wounded. Enemy losses were not known.

STEEL PLANT HIT

With the ground war gaining in intensity U.S. warplanes bombed the giant Thai Nguyen steel plant 36 miles north of Hanoi for the fourth time in 11 days, while B-52 bombers, striking while Johnson was still on Guam, hit four suspected

Mall Criticized: 'Taj Mahal West'

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Plans for a formal mall nearly a mile long through the center of Marincello barely squeaked by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Approval of the plan, including reflecting pools, artificial water falls, and geometric patterns of landscaping, was by 4-3 vote, with Commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Hugh Dougherty and Claude Stoller dissenting.

Stoller, an architect, put up the strongest dissent, saying he found the proposal contrary to the whole idea of Marincello. He believed the proposed planned community will get its strength by contrasting urban cluster with green hills and open space. Running more green space straight down the center would weaken the effect, he said.

"I think it would be rather boring," said Stoller.

Dougherty agreed and called the long mall "Taj Majal West."

Under the plan presented by Kalvin Platt and Edmund C. Heine Jr., the creek running down to Rodeo Lagoon would be buried in a culvert. The first stage of the mall would be 200 feet wide and 2,000 feet long. A second extension to the west would be just as long, but narrower.

The main idea, Platt said, would be to give pedestrian access to shops, offices and apartments planned on both sides of the mall and to "focal points" of interest. There would also be side malls leading into shops.

The first development will have about four acres of water, mostly pools about two feet deep. Some of the water will be

Brighter Economic Outlook Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) —William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, today predicted "a resurgence in economic activity" later this year.

He gave this assessment in endorsing President Johnson's proposed tax increase as insurance against another outbreak of inflation and tight money.

Martin told the Senate finance committee that he saw "no inconsistency" in restoring tax incentives for business investment now and increasing income taxes about July 1; as Johnson has proposed.

But acting committee chairman Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., said that "almost all" economic indicators are pointing toward a downturn. Smathers said that Johnson's refusal to abandon his tax increase plan "puzzles me."

Smathers warned that a tax hike could "push us farther toward a recession."

The committee is in its second day of hearings on Johnson's request for restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation rules, both of which were suspended last October in order to fight inflation. The House last week approved the measure, which would give business a $1.8 billion tax break.

After telling the committee he supported restoration of the investment incentives, Martin turned to the even more controversial question of a possible income tax increase later this year.

Tam District Teachers Ask 7 Pct. Raise

By CAROL MARSH

Tamalpais High School District teachers last night asked the district board of trustees for a 7.1 per cent salary increase, which would cost the district $224,657 for the 1967-68 school year.

In a discussion of merit pay which lasted well over an hour, the teachers protested the difficulty of producing a merit pay plan. However, in their salary proposal they included a "systematic professional growth" plan for additional pay not based on teaching performance.

Final board consideration of the salary proposal is scheduled for April 17, and Trustee John C. Siemens asked the teachers to present a comparison of their salaries with those paid other teachers in Marin County, and to report further on the "professional growth" plan.

Duane Miller of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association salary committee said the teachers would like salaries increased from the present scale of $6,185 to $12,700 to a scale of $6,620 to $13,600, a 6.5 per cent increase.

However, Miller noted, this year a quarter of the teachers are at the top of the scale, and

Reagan To Eliminate Another 1,224 Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced today the elimination of another 1,224 state jobs and said he will recommend a compromise University of California budget of $254 million.

The governor told his weekly news conference that his task force of loaned businessmen had found it could save $15.6 mlilion in the Public Works Department budget during the coming year.

The key to the savings will be elimination of the jobs—through attrition, Reagan emphasized, and not by dismissals.

The Reagan administration had announced last week plans to eliminate nearly 4,000 other state jobs, mostly in the Mental Hygiene Department.

Reagan said the new university budget, about $24 million lower than the U.C. regents originally asked, would maintain university quality and not deny admission to any students.

The quality and admission questions have been "foremost in our discussions with officials of the university," Reagan said. "And it has been met."

At Santa Barbara last month, regents voted to seek $264 million, but told university officials to move ahead on the assumption they would get only $255 million.

The savings in the PUD, he said, "will not impair the essential services of the department."

"To the contrary, cost-cutting at the operating level will make these funds available for construction—primarily in the Division of Highways."

The task force of business continues to seek other areas of savings. Any further reductions in the 166,000 state job force will be done through attrition—by not filling vacant jobs—if at all possible, he said.

But Reagan would not pledge there might not be further lay-offs of state employees, such as the 2,632 in the Mental Hygiene Department.

On the university budget, Reagan said new, reduced, enrollment projections, indicate that the $254 million budget figure would allow all qualified students seeking admission to the university to attend.

Marichal Bound For Giants' Camp

Special to the I-J

PHOENIX — Hold it, the holdout is due back.

San Francisco Giant pitcher Juan Marichal, a 25-game winner who has been holding out, will report to the Giants' spring training camp here Saturday, manager Herman Franks announced this morning.

Marichal, who at one point wanted as much as $125,000 and is still holding out for a $110,000 salary, agreed to join the Giants in a telephone conversation with Franks last night from his Dominican Republic home.

The Giants reportedly have offered Marichal a $100,000 contract.

Pay Study Wanted

Marin County supervisors today asked for a scale study of pay for all committees and commissions serving the county, and postponed action on a County Employee Association request for pay for members of the personnel commission, one of the few remaining unpaid.

Polls Open Today For Bonds Ballot

Polls will be open until 7 p.m. today in Bolinas-Stinson School District's election on a $275,000 bond measure.

Polls at Bolinas and Stinson Beach schools opened at 1 p.m.

The bonds would finance purchase of four acres at Bolinas School, six new classrooms at Bolinas, and repair of the old Bolinas building.

Steady Flow Of Rain For Spring

Soft, steady rains pattered spring into Marin County at 2:37 a.m. today — the time of the vernal equinox.

Rain fell in amounts ranging from .05 of an inch at Novato to .86 at Tamalpais Valley in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. San Rafael had .39 of an inch for the 24 hours to noon.

The giant storms of January are still having after-effects. In Mill Valley, a slide started by the January rains continued to move below the William P. Underwood residence at 390 Vista Linda Drive, undermining the deck of the house. Mill Valley Building Inspector Loren K. Rohde said the slide is beginning to eat under the carport foundation, and street department crews have been clearing the street below almost daily of mud sliding from the Underwood property.

Clouds, but not rain, were predicted for the second day of spring tomorrow.

Sonic Booms Due For Three Days

Marinites can expect to have their windows rattled tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

Planes from bases of the North American Air Defense Command's western region, including those of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, will be staging a defense exercise, the regional headquarters at Hamilton announced today. And they'll likely break the sonic barrier in their flight.

The exercise will include all 30,000 men of NORAD's component parts, according to the headquarters.

Market Plan Draws A Blank

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has refused to lift its objection to Austrian association with the European Common Market, Austrian sources said today after Chancellor Josef Klaus had a final meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Klaus also had an unscheduled 30 - minute meeting with Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party which runs this country.

Klaus goes home Tuesday after a week's visit, during which he has discussed Austria's desire to associate itself with the Common Market.

The Soviet government contends that Austrian neutrality, required by Austria's postwar independence treaty, would be compromised by association with the Common Market.

Mural Of Corte Madera's History Will Be Unveiled

A mural depicting the history of Corte Madera will be officially unveiled tonight in Town Hall at a meeting of the Town Council.

Painting of the mural, which cost $750, is an off-shoot of the town's 50th anniversary celebration last year. Corte Madera artist Kenneth Potter was commissioned by the council last May to do the work.

The eight by eight-and-a-half-foot canvas pictures significant persons and events in the town's history. Illustrated are the early boundaries of the town, the old Corte Madera School, Frank Morrison Pixley, early resident on a 160-acre estate; Benjamin Scouler, the first mayor; Peter Donahue, founder of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad; the railroad station and an early hotel, and a scene showing the cutting and shipping of redwoods.

The canvas is done in india ink and acrylic paint, with washes of golden ochre and sepia.

The unveiling will be at 7:30 p.m.

School Bids To Be Opened In Fairfax

Construction bids for White Hill School, to be opened at 4 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, will be presented tomorrow night to the Fairfax School District Board.

Construction is to start March 29 with completion in time for October 1 classes.

The board, meeting at 7:45 p.m., will also hear a progress report on additional site development work for White Hill, ordered two weeks ago.

Several matters relating to the 1967-68 budget will be taken up. Superintendent H. Reginald Hammond will present more budget figures in answer to the board's request to see if cuts can be made to allow hiring more teachers.

Staffing for 1967-68 is also to be discussed. The disposition of two double-classroom portable buildings will also be taken up. Hammond is to have figures on terms of lease-purchase of the units.

Airport, Park Money On Supervisors' List

Marin County Supervisors tomorrow will consider airport funding, park purchases, formation of an Upper Lucas Valley District for fire protection and will open bids on the Community Mental Health Center.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Discussion of an additional allocation of $62,992 in county funds for improvement of the county airport at Novato will be discussed at 9:30 a.m.

Slated for 2 p.m. is discussion of the purchase of the 18-acre Angelo Carrozzi property adjacent to Muir Woods National Monument. The county is being asked to contribute $10,625 toward the $85,000 purchase.

At 3 p.m. the board will hold a public hearing on the proposed formation of a county service area for Upper Lucas Valley. The service area, once formed, could contract with the Marinwood Community Services District for structural fire protection.

Bid opening on the community mental health center is set for 4 p.m. It will be the second call for bids, the first being rejected several weeks ago when just one contractor made an offer.

Nuclear Fuel Line Reported Blown Up

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An Arab commando organization claimed today it blew up a fuel line supplying the Israeli nuclear reactor at Dimona during a raid last week in which commandos remained 80 hours undetected inside Israel.

A member of the "Heroes of Repatriation" organization, quoted by the newspaper Al Moharrer, denied the Israeli claim that two commandos were killed in the raid Thursday.

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A student Republican group says it will push for tuition at the University of California and state colleges.

Delegates to the fifth annual California College Republicans convention yesterday also voted unanimous support of continued U.S. presence in Vietnam and unanimous opposition to "the methods of civil disobedience that disrupt normal school operations."

The tuition proposal, supported by a 51-to-25 vote, called for adequate student loans and scholarships.

"Vietnam will never submit to talks under the threat of bombing."

TRICK CLAIM

Another Hanoi broadcast carried a North Vietnamese foreign ministry statement on the exchange of messages in which the North Vietnamese charged that Johnson had "resorted to a trick in extending the halt of the bombing of North Vietnam after the Asian Lunar New year."

The statements did not directly mention the South Vietnamese peace proposals reported in Saigon earlier today.

The President summed up the meeting with South Vietnamese leaders and the military and diplomatic advisers of both countries as "very constructive" sessions that brought both countries closer, although he stressed the goal of peace and Ky stressed military pressure.

Johnson spoke first to newsmen and then to the men who man and maintain America's might B-52 Stratofortress bombers. He said there has been no momentous decisions made at the conference.

Before reaching the air base from Nimitz Hill where the conference was held Johnson stopped for 20 minutes at a U.S. Naval Hospital and toured wards filled with war wounded from Vietnam.

Furious Battle Chops Up Reds Major Attack

SAIGON (UPI)—Troops of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division defeated a Viet Cong regiment of nearly 1,500 men in a furious battle today and sent them fleeing back into Cambodia, leaving 423 dead on the battlefield. It brought Communist dead in two days of War Zone C fighting to 711.

Is was perhaps the greatest allied victory of the year and it cost the Americans 30 killed, 109 wounded and three men missing. But it crushed Hanoi's hopes of a propaganda victory during President Johnson's Guam meeting.

TROOPS LANDED

A spokesman disclosed that a battalion (up to 1,500) of U.S. marines made a joint helicopter and amphibious landing yesterday just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) to protect American 175 millimeter Long Tom artillery pieces from an enemy attack.

The Communists struck with 600 rounds of mortar and rocket fire in an extremely intense barrage but were unable to harm the big guns in their first across-the-border attack. The Long Tons fire from Gio Linh 20 miles across the DMZ into North Vietnam where the Reds have massed three divisions.

Three Marines were killed and 71 wounded. Enemy losses were not known.

STEEL PLANT HIT

With the ground war gaining in intensity U.S. warplanes bombed the giant Thai Nguyen steel plant 36 miles north of Hanoi for the fourth time in 11 days, while B-52 bombers, striking while Johnson was still on Guam, hit four suspected

Mall Criticized: 'Taj Mahal West'

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Plans for a formal mall nearly a mile long through the center of Marincello barely squeaked by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Approval of the plan, including reflecting pools, artificial water falls, and geometric patterns of landscaping, was by 4-3 vote, with Commissioners Margaret Azevedo, Hugh Dougherty and Claude Stoller dissenting.

Stoller, an architect, put up the strongest dissent, saying he found the proposal contrary to the whole idea of Marincello. He believed the proposed planned community will get its strength by contrasting urban cluster with green hills and open space. Running more green space straight down the center would weaken the effect, he said.

"I think it would be rather boring," said Stoller.

Dougherty agreed and called the long mall "Taj Majal West."

Under the plan presented by Kalvin Platt and Edmund C. Heine Jr., the creek running down to Rodeo Lagoon would be buried in a culvert. The first stage of the mall would be 200 feet wide and 2,000 feet long. A second extension to the west would be just as long, but narrower.

The main idea, Platt said, would be to give pedestrian access to shops, offices and apartments planned on both sides of the mall and to "focal points" of interest. There would also be side malls leading into shops.

The first development will have about four acres of water, mostly pools about two feet deep. Some of the water will be

Brighter Economic Outlook Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) —William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, today predicted "a resurgence in economic activity" later this year.

He gave this assessment in endorsing President Johnson's proposed tax increase as insurance against another outbreak of inflation and tight money.

Martin told the Senate finance committee that he saw "no inconsistency" in restoring tax incentives for business investment now and increasing income taxes about July 1, as Johnson has proposed.

But acting committee chairman Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., said that "almost all" economic indicators are pointing toward a downturn. Smathers said that Johnson's refusal to abandon his tax increase plan "puzzles me."

Smathers warned that a tax hike could "push us farther toward a recession."

The committee is in its second day of hearings on Johnson's request for restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation rules, both of which were suspended last October in order to fight inflation. The House last week approved the measure, which would give business a $1.8 billion tax break.

After telling the committee he supported restoration of the investment incentives, Martin turned to the even more controversial question of a possible income tax increase later this year.

Tam District Teachers Ask 7 Pct. Raise

By CAROL MARSH

Tamalpais High School District teachers last night asked the district board of trustees for a 7.1 per cent salary increase, which would cost the district $224,657 for the 1967-68 school year.

In a discussion of merit pay which lasted well over an hour, the teachers protested the difficulty of producing a merit pay plan. However, in their salary proposal they included a "systematic professional growth" plan for additional pay not based on teaching performance.

Final board consideration of the salary proposal is scheduled for April 17, and Trustee John C. Siemens asked the teachers to present a comparison of their salaries with those paid other teachers in Marin County, and to report further on the "professional growth" plan.

Duane Miller of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association salary committee said the teachers would like salaries increased from the present scale of $6,185 to $12,700 to a scale of $6,620 to $13,600, a 6.5 per cent increase.

However, Miller noted, this year a quarter of the teachers are at the top of the scale, and

Reagan To Eliminate Another 1,224 Jobs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan announced today the elimination of another 1,224 state jobs and said he will recommend a compromise University of California budget of $254 million.

The governor told his weekly news conference that his task force of loaned businessmen had found it could save $15.6 mlilion in the Public Works Department budget during the coming year.

The key to the savings will be elimination of the jobs—through attrition, Reagan emphasized, and not by dismissals.

The Reagan administration had announced last week plans to eliminate nearly 4,000 other state jobs, mostly in the Mental Hygiene Department.

Reagan said the new university budget, about $24 million lower than the U.C. regents originally asked, would maintain university quality and not deny admission to any students.

The quality and admission questions have been "foremost in our discussions with officials of the university," Reagan said. "And it has been met."

At Santa Barbara last month, regents voted to seek $264 million, but told university officials to move ahead on the assumption they would get only $255 million.

The savings in the PUD, he said, "will not impair the essential services of the department."

"To the contrary, cost-cutting at the operating level will make these funds available for construction—primarily in the Division of Highways."

The task force of business continues to seek other areas of savings. Any further reductions in the 166,000 state job force will be done through attrition—by not filling vacant jobs—if at all possible, he said.

But Reagan would not pledge there might not be further layoffs of state employees, such as the 2,632 in the Mental Hygiene Department.

On the university budget, Reagan said new, reduced, enrollment projections, indicate that the $254 million budget figure would allow all qualified students seeking admission to the university to attend.

Marichal Bound For Giants' Camp

Special to the I-J

PHOENIX — Hold it, the holdout is due back.

San Francisco Giant pitcher Juan Marichal, a 25-game winner who has been holding out, will report to the Giants' spring training camp here Saturday, manager Herman Franks announced this morning.

Marichal, who at one point wanted as much as $125,000 and is still holding out for a $110,000 salary, agreed to join the Giants in a telephone conversation with Franks last night from his Dominican Republic home.

The Giants reportedly have offered Marichal a $100,000 contract.

Pay Study Wanted

Marin County supervisors today asked for a scale study of pay for all committees and commissions serving the county, and postponed action on a County Employee Association request for pay for members of the personnel commission, one of the few remaining unpaid.

Polls Open Today For Bonds Ballot

Polls will be open until 7 p.m. today in Bolinas-Stinson School District's election on a $275,000 bond measure.

Polls at Bolinas and Stinson Beach schools opened at 1 p.m.

The bonds would finance purchase of four acres at Bolinas School, six new classrooms at Bolinas, and repair of the old Bolinas building.

Steady Flow Of Rain For Spring

Soft, steady rains pattered spring into Marin County at 2:37 a.m. today — the time of the vernal equinox.

Rain fell in amounts ranging from .05 of an inch at Novato to .86 at Tamalpais Valley in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. San Rafael had .39 of an inch for the 24 hours to noon.

The giant storms of January are still having after-effects. In Mill Valley, a slide started by the January rains continued to move below the William P. Underwood residence at 390 Vista Linda Drive, undermining the deck of the house. Mill Valley Building Inspector Loren K. Rohde said the slide is beginning to eat under the carport foundation, and street department crews have been clearing the street below almost daily of mud sliding from the Underwood property.

Clouds, but not rain, were predicted for the second day of spring tomorrow.

Sonic Booms Due For Three Days

Marinites can expect to have their windows rattled tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

Planes from bases of the North American Air Defense Command's western region, including those of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, will be staging a defense exercise, the regional headquarters at Hamilton announced today. And they'll likely break the sonic barrier in their flight.

The exercise will include all 30,000 men of NORAD's component parts, according to the headquarters.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department has identified Army Brig. Gen. Alfred J. F. Moody of Fairfax, Va., as the first American general to die in Vietnam. The pentagon reported yesterday that Moody, 49, died Sunday of a heart attack at An Khe, 260 miles northeast of Saigon.

NEW YORK — Five thousand city firemen have called for an immediate strike vote by mail after shouting down a new wage offer.

BERKELEY (UPI) — The chief of the John Birch Society believes that "possibly every third person in the Soviet Empire" is living off American wheat. Critical Part Of Voyage Over

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (AP) — Sir Francis Chichester, sailing alone around the world in his 53-foot ketch Gipsy Moth 4, reportedly has rounded stormy Cape Horn, completing what was considered the most perilous part of his voyage.

The solitary sailor was expected to have comparatively smooth sailing crossing the Atlantic. He hopes to reach Plymouth, England, by May 18.

Reports reaching Punta Arenas, Latin America's southernmost port, said Chichester navigated the cape in bad weather Monday. Newsmen said the ocean appeared choppy but the waves were not running too high.

Milk Holding Boss Receives Phone Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — Oren Lee Staley's wife and three children were whisked from their home to a secret location last night following a telephoned threat against Staley, president of the National Farmers Organization which is withholding milk in 25 states.

The six-day-old holding action aims at boosting by two cents a quart the price paid dairy farmers for milk.

CONFIDENT

"We're very confident that the available supply of milk is being cut into very rapidly and that the industry is doing everything possible to shift things around. And their supply is getting very thin," Staley said.

Police refused to say where they took Staley's wife and three children, ages 10 through 15, but the family was returned to its Whitesville, Mo., home before midnight.

Staley said only that the caller threatened the family "generally." He said he was not worried because "I have a lot of local NFO neighbors and they will take care of the situation." Staley spoke from NFO headquarters in Corning, Iowa.

MORE ARRESTS

Meanwhile, arrests and incidents of violence multiplied, millions of gallons of milk were spilled and tempers rubbed raw. But effects were hard to gauge.

Staley claimed a two-cent-a-quart retail milk price increase in Omaha was an NFO victory, though retailers argued it was merely a market correction after a price war.

Some areas confessed lack of success. "It's not a heavy holding action," said NFO official Reuben Anders in Bucks County, Pa.

A producer official claimed there were "no noticeable or significant effects" in Philadelphia. And in Milwaukee, two large NFO shippers dropped the holding action.

But there was no doubt of the action's success in some areas. Producers said supplies in the Erie-Crawford area of Pennsylvania were down nearly 35 per cent. Dealers in the Cincinnati area said they were beginning to feel the pinch, and voiced thanks that school is out this week. Cincinnati schoolchildren drink more than 50,000 half-pints of milk a day.

Tighter Firearms Checks To Be Sought For State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Concerned over the ease with which a person can equip his own army, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee chairman announced today they plan to seek sweeping new firearms laws.

In a joint statement, Democrat Lynch and Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R - Riverside, said that when the legislature reconvenes next week, they will seek new laws.

Banned would be sale and possession of operable combat type of armaments, including grenades, rockets, machine guns and parts, bombs, anti-tank guns, hand rocket launchers, guns powered by compressed gas and most firearms of over .60 caliber — excluding shotguns.

Lynch said that while there are laws governing the sale and possession of regular firearms and even low - powered target pistols, "anyone can buy a 20 millimeter anti-tank gun from a dealer without even giving his name."

Quints Born, But Two Die After Birth

VASTERAS, Sweden (AP) — Quintuplets were born today to Mrs. Fredrik Lars Jansson, 28, who had been treated with a hormone fertility drug, but one died shortly after birth and another died several hours later.

Dr. Rolf Faahreaus, in charge of the Vasteras Maternity Hospital, said Mrs. Jansson was in good condition. But he said the next few days will be critical for the three remaining babies. They were placed in incubators.

Delivery of the infants, Mrs. Jansson's first children, took 25 minutes, a hospital spokesman said.

The hospital said the four girls and one boy, born three months prematurely, weighed between 16½ and 28 ounces. The spokesman said the smallest of the infants, a girl, died first, followed by a second girl.

The mother had been under treatment at the clinic of Prof. Carl Gemzell of Uppsala, originator of the hormone treatment for barren women which has resulted in a number of multiple births.

Despite the tendency of the new fertility drugs to produce multiple births, authorities say that the chances of quintuplets are only about one in 54 million deliveries.

Octuplets were born March 10 to a woman in Mexico City but all eight died within 14 hours of delivery.

The last known set of quintuplets were born to a woman in Big Piney, Wyo., Feb. 11 but all died.

Youth Facing Murder Charge

OAKLAND (UPI) —Rene Valdiva, 18, Kensington, faced murder charges today in the fatal shooting of a Berkeley youth which at first appeared to be a sniper slaying.

Don Garcia, 18, died yesterday in an Oakland hospital. Inspector Jerry Dineen said the shooting took place inside of a car Saturday night.

After the shooting, Garcia was moved to the back seat and a bullet was fired through the rear window to back up a sniper story, Dineen said. Valdiva and Juan Ortiz, 18, Berkeley, reported the incident.

Senate Approves Extra Viet Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, after voting overwhelmingly to provide $12.2 billion more this year for Vietnam fighting, begins considering today defense spending for fiscal 1968.

Before the Senate is a measure authorizing $20 billion for military purposes beginning July 1. Even opponents predict speedy passage for the measure, which deals with only a fraction of over-all defense requests.

While the Senate concerned itself with defense spending, the House voted 357-0 yesterday to increase pension and other benefits for an estimated 2.8 million servicemen and their dependents.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate, would increase cost-of-living allowances by up to 8½ per cent and boost service-connected disability payments.

Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, swid the administration-backed bill "rounds out the problem of bringing Vietnam veterans under the same rules and regulations" as other veterans.

The measure providing supplemental funds for Vietnam cleared the Senate 77-3 yesterday. It brought to $72.13 billion the amount earmarked for defense and war. Afterwards Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.—one of the three dissenters—urged that the authorization bill be brought to a quick vote since "it's more of the same."

Any debate today on the measure probably will involve a recommendation that part of it go toward deploying an antiballistic missile defense system should current talks between the United States and Soviet Union fail.

The two nations have started discussion s aimed at avoiding costly expenditures on both sides for missile defense systems.

The House also gave final passage to a measure authorizing shipment of 3 million tons of grain to drought-stricken India this year. The measure, already approved by the Senate, requires that the U.S. contribution be matched by other countries.

The House Agriculture Committee approved a one-year extension of the nation's food stamp program. The administration had asked that the program be placed on a permanent basis.

Courthouse Square Gets New Zoning

San Rafael City Council last night rezoned courthouse square, which it intends to buy from the county, from unclassified to retail commercial.

The new zoning calls for a "front yard" of 30 per cent of lot depth, maximum land coverage of 50 per cent and maximum floor area of double the lot area.

RESTRICTS USE

It restricts ground floor use to retail commercial and provides for commercial and office use above ground level. It also provides for residential use including condominiums above ground level.

It permits deviations under planned unit development if they are consistent with the purposes of the zone.

For example, offices are restricted from the ground floor, but could be permitted under planned unit development if deemed appropriate.

San Rafael hopes to sell its corporation yard property along San Rafael Canal to obtain funds to purchase courthouse square, which will be abandoned by the county when the Hall of Justice is completed.

At the close of the session, Mayor C. Paul Bettini appointed Harold H. Fulkerson, an attorney of 22 Il Cerrito Avenue, to the San Rafael Library Board.

Fulkerson will succeed James S. Goodale, who resigned because of a change of residence. He will serve Goodale's unexpired term which ends next month.

The San Rafael City Council also:

Deputy Trainee Fatally Wounded

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A reserve deputy sheriff trainee was killed and another wounded last night during a training session at the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Academy.

Sheriff Peter J. Pitches ssaid Michael V. Widgerson , 29, of Hollywood, was fatally wounded by an academy staff member whose revolver was supposed to be loaded with blanks for a routine training exercise.

The instructor was identified as Deputy Charles A. Bradley, 28.

Wounded was another reserve deputy trainee, Laverne F. Bauer, 28, of North Hollywood. He suffered a shoulder wound and was listed in good condition at Bella Vista Community Hospital.

Road Slide Areas Detailed By Rawles

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles warned the San Rafael City Council last night of four potentially dangerous roadway slide areas, which will require repair work.

The slides have developed since the major January rains and each has moved "from the existing edge of pavement with a possible threat of undermining the roadway if they become larger," Rawles said.

He listed the four slides as follows:

1. Along Miraflores Avenue, south of Second Street, an area 75 feet long, 40 feet wide and 47 feet high.
2. Along the north side of Miramar Avenue, an area 89 feet long, 20 feet wide and 55 feet high.
3. Along the south side of Twin Oaks Avenue, near the northern end of the avenue, 23 feet long, 25 feet wide and 15 feet high.
4. Along the north side of Bret Harte Road, east of M'Liss Lane, 30 feet long, 30 feet wide and 16 feet high.

He said he would have an estimate on the cost of repair in four weeks, and also would report what work will be needed to stabilize the areas.

In the meantime, he said, he will investigate the possibility of having adjoining property owners share in the cost of repair. "A portion of each slide is on private property," he explained.

If property owners decline to participate, the city will just do the work necessary to protect the streets, he said.

The council also discussed improvement of Bret Harte Road from Southern Heights Boulevard to La Loma Court, which was partially closed by a slide during the January storm. Rawles estimated it would cost $40,000. The street has never been improved to city standards.

Donald J. Croft, president of the Bret Harte Heights Association, said he would find out whether property owners are interested in forming an assessment district to finance the project.

When Croft asked if the city would participate financially, councilmen said it has been city policy to contribute one-third of the cost in such projects.

Powell Pictures Himself As Agent To Unify Negroes

BIMINI, The Bahamas (UPI) —Adam Clayton Powell says he has no regrets over his exclusion from the House of Representatives because his fall might serve to further the Negro's cause.

"Maybe I can become the catalytic agent to bring unity to the whole Black movement," Powell conjectured in a television interview recorded yesterday aboard his fishing boat, Adam's Fancy.

The Harlem Democrat, who has spent his days fishing, playing dominoes and occasionally preaching since the House voted to bar him last month, added that he now intends to keep up his position as a leader to his race.

"I had planned to retire," he said, "but because of the great monstrosity of injustice perpetrated against me I am going on forever."

Reiterating his belief that he was "victimized" because of his race, Powell declared, "I am the first black man to say that I was going to act like a white man, and the whites —including the northern liberals —want to keep the black man down.

"They are just using me to let the black men know the Negroes have to stay in their place."

In between fishing and relaxing at his retreat on this tiny island, Powell has conferred with a number of Negro leaders in sports, entertainment and civil rights.

He made no mention of when he hoped to be able to return to New York City, where his lawyers were reported to be working on getting his legal problems there cleared up.

Secret Service Is Silent About Crime Computer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service now possesses a high-speed, computerized information system that would have pinpointed Lee Harvey Oswald as a threat to President John F. Kennedy, says Rep. Tom Steed.

The Oklahoma Democrat said yesterday that if such an information system had existed in 1963, the Secret Service and other law enforcement agencies would have known of Oswald's presence in Dallas.

They also would have known that Oswald worked in a building overlooking the route of Kennedy's motorcade, said Steed, chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee that handles the Secret Service budget.

The Secret Service refused to comment on Steed's statement.

Soviets Pay Alaska Fine On Trawler

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A matter of honor has been settled in U.S. District Court with the arrival of a $5,000 check to pay the fine levied against the skipper of a Russian fishing trawler caught violating U.S. territorial waters.

Nicolai G. Zernov, 52, was found guilty by a federal judge March 6, five days after the Coast Guard seized the Russian vessel for fishing only one mile off the Alaska coast.

PAY VOLUNTARY

Two hours after he was convicted and ordered to pay the fine within two weeks, Zernov had been whisked back to his ship on a Coast Guard plane, thus making payment of the fine a voluntary matter.

The check arrived yesterday addressed to U.S. Attorney Richard McVeigh, who prosecuted the case. It was drawn on Riggs National Bank, Washington, D.C. McVeigh couldn't make out the signature on the check, but he presumed it was that of a Soviet government official, since Zernov was an employe of the Soviet Ministry of Fisheries.

'FAIR AND JUST'

"I am pleased that the fine arrived in the time agreed upon," McVeigh said, "and I think it has been a fair and just result."

Zernov had entered a "no contest" plea, which means he neither admits nor denies guilt. Under the law, the skipper could have been fined up to $10,000 and given a one-yer jail sentence.

ANGRY PROTESTS

A number of angry Alaskans, including Gov. Walter J. Hickel and hundreds of fishermen, have protested that Zernov should have been given the maximum penalty. A group in Kodiak sent a strongly worded telegram to President Johnson, asserting that the trawler should have been impounded.

Board Balks At Haste On Juvenile Library

The county schools office, seeking approval of a library at the juvenile hall school funded largely by a federal grant, ran into a barrage of questions from county supervisors today and retreated to prepare additional information.

Supervisors Peter H. Behr, who emphasized that he was not against libraries, said he was critical of inadequately prepared requests and last-minute requests.

Stanley Fiese of the county schools office told the board that a $44,306 federal grant for 6,000 books, subscriptions to 70 periodicals, 250 pamphlets and documents, 350 film strips, 75 slides and transparencies, and 12 maps and globes was approved two months ago, but the county had to provide housing. He said the grant might go elsewhere if the county did not pick it up soon.

"Here you've known about this 60 days and now you've got a gun at our heads!" Behr said. "I don't think that's fair, do you?"

Friese said that he had been suggesting the board take a look at the proposal ever since federal approval was granted, but supervisors heard about the problem for the first time today.

Needed in county funds for this year is $2,100 to cover three months' rent of a portable classroom and purchase of furniture, including 28 chairs and files. Next year $2,700 will be needed for the portable classroom rental alone. Behr wanted to know about salaries and other county costs in the future.

He further questioned the need for subscriptions to 70 periodicals, and for 28 chairs.

Allen Brooks, principal of the school operated by the county school superintendent at juvenile hall, said the school's office was not really proposing a library, but more of a "resource center."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss wondered why the books in the county library could not be used. Behr said the county book mobile now goes to juvenile hall twice a month.

Brooks said that most of the children at juvenile hall are retarded and need reading of "high interest but low content level."

The project, said Brooks, is unique, never tried before in California.

PAY

next year a third will be at the top, so the actual cost of the increase is 7.1 per cent.

The teachers also asked that new teachers who have secondary credentials be started at $10,628, rather than at the bottom rung of the pay ladder.

The "professional growth" plan would put another scale atop the present one, with an additional 1.05 to 1.25 per cent raise. Miller explained that a teacher would prepare his own professional growth plan. The plan would be equivalent to 15 units of college work, he said, but would not necessarily include formal college work. Only teachers at the top of the scale and with 60 college units beyond the bachelor's degree could qualify.

The plan would be evaluated by a committee composed of three teachers from candidate's department, one administrator, and one other teacher.

Chairman Cyril Beattie of the teacher's merit pay study committee told the board teachers could not possibly come up with a merit pay plan by June.

"Sounds to me like you won't produce a plan by 1980," Trustee Berton C. Jacobson said, "I'm convinced that we are getting nowhere with this. I was convinced before tonight."

Beattie said the main problem was in defining the role of a teacher. He said before a program to reward a teacher for fulfilling his role could be produced, the role would have to be defined.

"You try to be objective," Miller said. "So you write down the things you are looking for in a teacher. Then all the teachers try to conform to the things you have written down, and teaching becomes mechanical."

The teachers asked that trustees and administrators take part in merit pay discussions, but board members rejected this.

Siemens said the board expected answers at least to the questions of whether a need for a merit pay program exists, whether the teachers want one, and whether it is possible to develop one.

Beattie said he does not believe the teachers will ask for a merit pay system "they know nothing about."

Teacher Gerald M. Lucey said teachers have ambivalent feelings about merit pay, because the system not only would reward good teachers, but would "shame bad teachers out of the system."

Police Seek Owners Of Small, Biting Dog

San Rafael police today sought information about a dog which reportedly bit Deborah White, 13, of 309 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, on the leg while she was riding a bicycle near Convent Court about noon Saturday.

Police said they want to determine whether the dog, described as small, shaggy-haired and buff colored, has been vacinated against rabies.

New Site Ordered For Novato Library

Marin supervisors today asked the county library staff to search for a site for a new branch library in Novato.

The action came after Novato city officials reported the proposal for a branch library on a civic center site in Novato had been abandoned.

Viet Cong hideouts in South Vietnam.

The big Communist defeat came in War Zone C 70 miles northwest of Saigon where Operation Junction City already has overrun what an American general described as the Communist "Pentagon" directing the entire war effort in South Vietnam.

The guerrillas came charging through the dense brush at U.S. Army units driving through the war zone where the Viet Cong has made its headquarters for years. They showered the American positions with mortar shell and then came screaming and firing their small arms at dawn's early light.

American guns mowed them down. The fight took place only a few miles from the spot where a surrounded 150 U.S. troops yesterday slew at least 288 of about 2,500 Viet Cong who had surrounded them in an earlier vain bid for a propaganda victory.

The battle in the U.S. Army's record 50,000-man operation Junction City erupted after the North Vietnamese, for the first time in the war, unleashed artillery barrages from their own soil against American Marines in South Vietnam, spokesmen said.

Hotel Uproar Leads To State Hospital

Barbrey Kaminska, 45, of San Rafael, was taken to Napa State Hospital this morning after she reportedly threatened the owner of the hotel where she was living and tried to hit a policeman.

San Rafael Patrolman Robert W. Marvin reported he was called to the Wilkins Hotel at 1135 Fourth Street, by owner Hans C. Jorgensen, who said Mrs. Kaminska had attacked another guest. While Marvin was there, he reported, she grabbed Jorgensen and threatened him.

Use Permit Approved

Grorge Cohoat was granted a permanent use permit by Tiburon Board of Adjustments yesterday to teach sailing, rent and sell sailboats at 21 Main Street. The new permit allows him to have six boats, instead of three as heretofore.

base, he donned a raincoat and decorated 12 men for gallantry in the air over Vietnam.

The United States and its allies "are making substantial progress" on the military, political and social fronts in Vietnam, the President told assembled airmen and their families.

Earlier, he had warned that despite progress, it will take "a lot of extra effort and a good deal more time" to bring the war to a successful end.

He listed seven major American concerns discussed at the parley on Nimitz Hill:

"First, the military progress of the war, both in the South and the North.

"Second, the political progress that is being made in South Vietnam.

"Third, we discussed the morale, the health, the training, the food, clothing and equipment of our superb fighting men . . .

"Fourth, the national reconciliation program in Vietnam.

"Fifth, the land reform program which is moving steadily forward.

"Sixth, the extent of civilian casualties and what is being done to help those who are injured or wounded by the war.

"Seventh, the possibility of bringing an end to this conflict by an honorable settlement."

But Johnson warned several times that Hanoi has made no moves to indicate it would come to a peace table.

Priorities Voted On Novato Parks

Development of Pioneer Memorial Park on Simmons Lane was given top priority among Novato park projects by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night.

Second priority was given to acquisition of the San Marin park and the Lions Club park at Stafford Lake; third, to developing the Lynwood School playgrounds for a park. After that the commission would acquire the Canyon Lake site for a park. Consideration of the Scottsdale ponding area was put over.

The commission adopted an increased rate for use of the Novato Community House. Largest increase came for use of the dancing, raised from $45 to $100 for five hours.

The commission will meet with the city council at Cloud Five restaurant at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Convicts Stage Soledad Sit-In

SOLEDAD (AP)—A thousand prisoners at Soledad Correctional Training Facility went on a sit down strike today in their rooms to which they had been driven by tear gas.

Guards used the tear gas yesterday afternoon when prisoners sat down on the floor of the E wing when ordered to their rooms. Four tear gas cartridges fired against the walls sent the prosoners running to their rooms. Three were bruised by riccocheting shells.

Today 1,000 wouldn't come out. Six hundred others in the central section carried on routine duties.

The strike was the prisoners' answer to restrictions placed on them as a result of a stabbing last week and a fight between 20 Negro and white prisoners.

Novatan Appointed

County supervisors today named Novato Planning Director Robert Lagle to the ad hoc committee studying management of the county fairgrounds and auditorium at the Civic Center, replacing Joseph Wright, who resigned. The appointment was conditioned on approval by the Novato City Council.

Yacht Club's Plea Will Be Heard Tonight

Sausalito Yacht Club's request that open area district regulations be amended to permit yacht clubs will be heard today by the city council at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The club requested the amendment as the first move toward expanding its facilities north of the Trade Fair. The waterfront was designated an open area district after the club located there, making it a legal but non-conforming use.

The central waterfront plan, now being considered, recommends relocating the club north of the sandspit.

Also on the planning commission agenda is a proposed ordinance to give the city power to revoke a firm's business license for "failure to deliver goods, wares, merchandise or services within a reasonable time after receiving payment therefor."

Fix-Up Pact Still Unsigned

Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday agreed that consultants for the proposed paint-up, clean-up must sign the revised contract with the chamber before payment of expenses, reported Chamber President Edward M. Mills.

The color consultants, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Field of Woodside, agreed two weeks ago to contract revisions in a telephone conversation, Mills said, but have not signed the revised contract.

The consultants and chamber agreed early this month to cut back the paint-up of commercial districts from 80 to 40 buildings. The Fields' fee would be reduced by one-half under the revised contract, and they would be allowed up to $600 expenses before their plans are completed. To date, Mills said, the Fields have submitted bills to the chamber for expenses totaling $219.

Storer Defends Historic Barn

An old barn, threatened with destruction at the Point Reyes Station National Seashore headquarters, is an architectural classic and should be preserved, County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer declared today.

He said that Herschel Chip, vice chairman of the art history department at University of California at Berkeley, said the barn was modeled after structures in Early England believed to be forerunners in design to the great cathedrals.

Supervisors directed that Storer write Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall this information, urging that the barn be saved and suggesting it could be used for lectures or for an art gallery.

Pistol Shot Wounds Victim In Both Legs

Frederick Blake Burmer, 21, of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, was in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after accidentally shooting himself in both legs with a single shot from a .45-caliber Colt revolver.

Burmer told police he was loading the weapon last night when it fired. The bullet passed through the calf of his left leg and entered the right ankle, embedding itself in the right foot.

Hub Planning Votes

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night granted Joseph Hanson a revocable use permit for outside display of antiques at 721 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and denied James Dunn's request for a two-lot subdivision at 156 Broadmoor Court.

BOUNDARYOF THE LAW ENFORCED BY SURVEYOR

When a surveyor peers through his transit, he may see something else besides landscape.

One working on top of Lyford Drive in Tiburon yesterday saw a car stop at 8 Bartel Court at 10:15 a.m., a man get out and enter the house, then return in a few minutes carrying a white sack that looked full.

The survey or wrote down the license number of the car and telephoned the Tiburon sheriff's office.

Sheriff's Lt. George R. Barnes checked the owned by Charles H. Knight Jr. Sure enough, the front door had been jimmied open. Barnes sent out an alarm for the car.

Minutes later, it was stopped by Sausalito police as it headed toward San Francisco. Its occupants, Robert John Barthel, 34, and William Mason, 33, both of San Francisco, were booked at the Marin County Jail for investigation of burglary.

Knight said a hasty search of his house disclosed two cameras were missing.

Lieutenant Barnes did not disclose the name of the sharp-eyed surveyor, but he doubtless inscribed it on his own roll of citizens who help enforce the law.

Mill Valley Council Awards Road Project

A Corte Madera firm was last night awarded a $262,295 contract by Mill Valley City Council to widen and improve East Blithedale Avenue.

The accepted bid of E. A. Forde Co. was the lowest of seven submitted for the job and was $15,680 below the engineering estimate, said City Engineer Stanley Bala.

Work will begin next month on the seven-month project. The avenue will be widened to four lanes from Camino Alto to the Alto Wye, except for the curve around Enchanted Knolls which will be regraded and resurfaced.

Last night the council agreed to use fill taken from land belonging to E. C. Harter. Bala said between 3,000 and 5,000 cubic feet would be needed and Harter would provide it at no cost to the city.

Council members decided to buy a strip of land on East Blithedale instead of acquiring an easement. City Mgr. Bert Balmer said the cost, $3,500, was little more than the easement would have cost. Money will come out of gasoline tax funds.

The county will pay $42,000 towards the cost of the East Blithedale project, the council was told. This will be to construct the Highway 101 ramp.

The council set for April 17 at 8 p.m. a hearing at the city hall into the amended proposal of the Blithedale Park Assessment District. Contractors' bids will be opened at 11 a.m. the same day.

This is a one-owner assessment district to install public facilities in a subdivision of about 20 homes between West Blithedale Avenue and Manzanita Place.

Balmer told the council his review of Mill Valley Refuse Service Co. operations will take another month. The council has deferred action on a proposed increase in garbage collection rates pending information from the company.

Councilmen Rodric L. Robinson and Dean N. Meyer were absent.

Cushion Drives Are Ruled Out

A few sharp shocks are ahead for about 200 car drivers in Mill Valley.

Those who have placed concrete on the curb at the entrance to driveways to insure their car's homecoming is smooth and shockfree, will be told to take it away.

City Mgr. Bert Balmer told the city council last night the city intends to endorce its ordinance against illegal encroachments. The concrete forced storm water out onto the street and cost money in wear and tear, he said.

Twice before, the city considered enforcing the ordinance — in 1958 and 1963 — but it was not followed through.

Balmer added, prophetically: "We expect some problems — public relation problems — but we will try to handle them."

In some cases, drivers will have to make a minor adjustment to get rid of the encroachment. In others, it will require city-owner co-operation to solve the problem, he said.

High Court Will Decide On Loitering

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court will make the final verdict on the constitutionality of California's anti-loitering law.

The issue was sent on to Washington after the District Court of Appeal yesterday refused to consider a decision by the San Francisco Superior Court holding the law was constitutional.

A Los Angeles court has found the law unconstitutional.

The local court upheld the law's requirement that a person identify himself when requested to do so by police who believe he is acting suspiciously.

Marshall W. Krause, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said the case would be taken to the Supreme Court because of the conflicting decisions.

It goes to the federal court, rather than the California Supreme Court, because the violation is a misdemeanor, not a felony.

Governor, His Wife To Part

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Gov. Roberto Sanchez Vilella, 54, announced last night that he and his wife, Conchita, 46, are separating after nearly 31 years of marriage and that he will retire from politics at the end of his term in 1968.

"An irreconcilable and irreversible situation has resulted in a separation between myself and my wife," the governor said in a statement shortly after returning from a weekend governors' conference at the White House.

Sanchez's retirement from politics apparently was the result of pressure from the ruling Popular Democratic party. He had been a contender for renomination as the party's gubernatorial candidate in 1968.

The governor and his wife have two daughters and five grandchildren.

Farm Workers Study Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An expert on migrant workers says California should start worrying now what to do about farm laborers who will lose their jobs to automation in 15 years.

The solution, in part, should be retraining of the workers, the fifth conference of Families Who Follow the Crops heard yesterday.

Dr. Uvaldo Palomares, former farm worker himself and now a San Diego State College professor, said the migrant worker problem is demonstrated by farm labor organizer Cesar Chevez.

"He is a sympton of a growing need in our society of people who are saying 'Help. Let's do something so that people may live.' "

Resort Zone Set To Buffer Airport

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted 6-1, with Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. dissenting, to recommend industrial and resort-commercial recreation zoning around the Marin County Airport at Novato.

Schultz's dissent was based on the use of the relatively new resort-commercial recreation zone to block development. Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said it appeared the best zone available to keep housing tracts from developing near the airport.

Evelyn Allison, one of the owners of the land involved, noted that the zone extended nearly a mile from the airport to Petaluma Creek. "It's big enough for Disneyland," she said.

She was also worried about the "non-conforming cows" that are grazing in the area, wondering if they would have to go once they started ranging over an area designated for recreation.

Zucker said the ordinance was not too clear on the point, but he was sure the cows would be allowed to stay.

Some of the 700 and more acres had earlier been placed in the receation zone. The changes recommended yesterday included a switch from manufacturing to recreation at the north end of the runway, on the ground that it would retard development in an area that might be needed for expansion.

"I think this is a sad commentary on the zoning procedure," Commissioner Schultz declared.

Reservations Over Greater Zucker Role

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday generally favored assigning more power to Planning Director Paul C. Zucker and his staff, letting him approve or deny applications for architectural supervision now handled by the commission.

In a discussion near the end of yesterday's commission meeting, close to 7 p.m., the most reservations came from Commissioner Hugh Dougherty. He suggested that Zucker might be allowed to approve but not deny applications for architecural supervision.

Under Zucker's proposal, he would approve or deny, with the applicant having the right to appeal to the commission and thence to the board of supervisors. He also would change the term from architectural supervision to design review.

Zucker said that he would like to have a group of architectural advisers to assist the planning staff in just about all cases.

Commissioner Niels Schultz Jr. doubted that a group of architects should evaluate another architect's work, but he thought Zucker's idea worth a try.

Dougherty said he had several questions, but chairman Margaret Azevedo, with an eye on the clock, suggested that he write out his questions so they could be discussed at the next commission meeting on April 3.

Planners Pass West Marin's Plan

The West Marin Master Plan was finally approved by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday and sent back to the Board of Supervisors for further public hearings.

Only debate was over the boundary of an area at the south end of Tomales Bay that the commission some time ago had recommended be purchased with public funds and retained as a bird refuge. The action was taken so long ago that the commission was not sure if this should include all tidal areas at the end of the bay or just the area west of the onetime proposed alignment of Shoreline Highway.

It was finally agreed that it should be only the area west of this alignment.

Supervisors next Tuesday are scheduled to decide when they will call a public hearing on the plan.

Raft Associate Gets Boot Too

LONDON (AP) — American gambler Dino Cellini went to France today after the British government rejected his plea to stay in the country.

Cellini, 52, is a director of the Colony Club, the casino at which actor George Raft was host. The government refused to let Raft return after he went to the United States last month for a vacation.

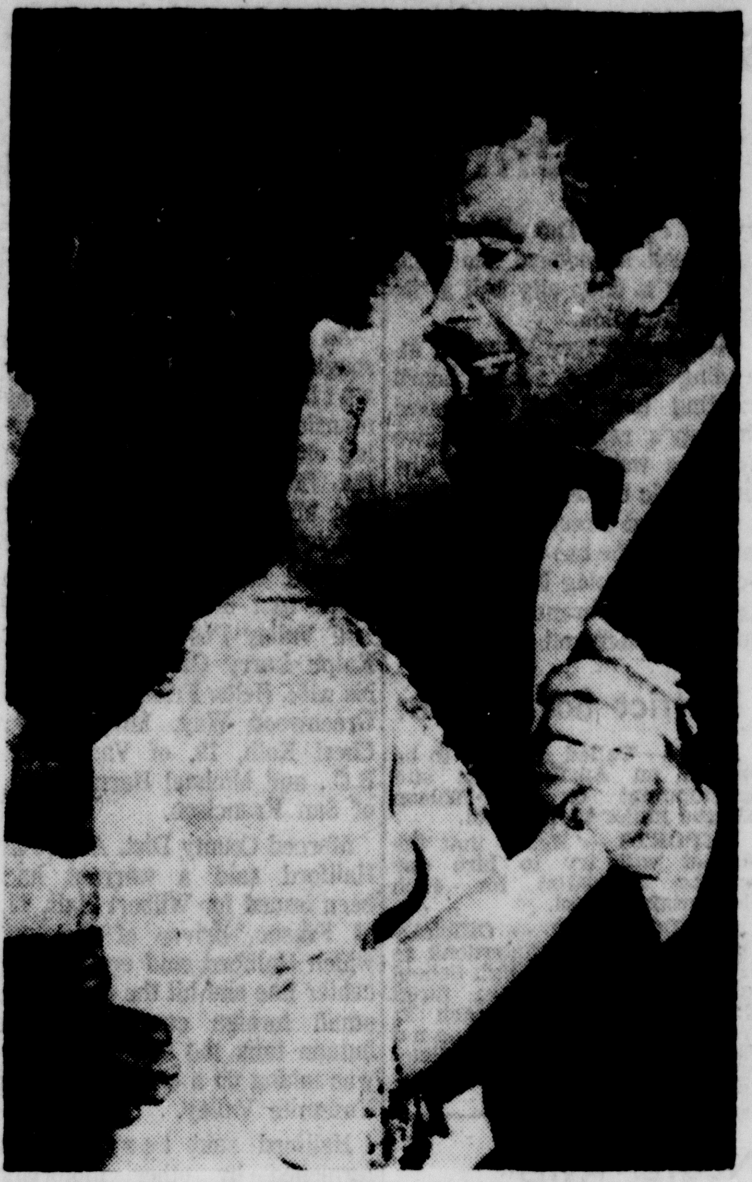
Both Cellini and Raft were told their presence in Britain "would not be conducive to the public good." The government is reported worried by the growing number of Americans with interests in British gaming clubs.

Safety Agency Hit By Nader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader accused the government's traffic safety agency today of moving with "agonizing timidity" and said it issued totally inadequate safety standards for 1968 cars.

The lanky safety crusader assailed the automobile industry and the national traffic safety agency alike in testimony for the Senate Commerce Committee, "with very few exceptions," Nader said, "these standards did not advance the level of existing safety beyond what would have been the case without the law."

"Among the worst performing vehicles on the road today (are ones which) can meet or exceed the standards set for the 1968 models," he said.



ROYAL COUPLE TAKES A WHIRL

High-Risers Proposed For Enchanted Knolls

High-rise development has been proposed for Enchanted Knolls, Mill Valley Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon disclosed yesterday.

The proposal by owners of the undeveloped portion of the Knolls, about 80 acres, was received in the mail March 13, and presented to the Mill Valley Planning Commission that night.

Commissioners commended the rough sketch by Sherrill Broudy, Santa Barbara architect and an owner of the property, Bragdon said. No action was taken, as none was asked, but Broudy was asked to supply a cross-section of his plan.

Highlights of the sketch were two hotel buildings eight to 12 stories high, a restaurant, professional office complex, educational center, motel, convention center, shops, recreation facilities and gas station. Development would be concentrated on the east side of the ridge above Highway 101 and on Enchanted Point.

Previous plans for single-family and townhouse development of the property fizzled, Bragdon said, because they were not feasible above the freeway.

According to a letter Broudy sent with his sketch, "an extensive area could be devoted to a landscaped park setting." High-rise buildings, he conceded, "might create much criticism."

Bragdon said he suggested that Broudy provide a sketch "to see what it would look like." High-rise buildings, he said, "could fit in very well with the hill as a backdrop."

Club Takes No Bond Issue Stand

Sausalito Women's Club officers today asked that the Independent - Journal make known that the club did not go on record for the $250,000 Sausalito Library bond issue, which narrowly failed of passage March 7.

The club endorsed the proposed plan and location for the library, but took no position on the bond issue.

Credit Bureau Probe Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher said today his House subcommittee will investigate the distribution of information on citizens by private computerized services.

Congress has been told that as of a few years ago, 2,000 independent credit bureaus maintained more than 70 million records. Many other bureaus assemble and distribute a wide variety of information touching on the characters of individuals or details about their lives, Gallagher said.

The New Jersey Democrat said he wants to protect the industry as well as the right to privacy of the individual citizen.

Hearing Set Despite Bolinas Lagoon Freeze

The Marin County Planning Commission agreed yesterday to start looking at Muskrat Corp.'s plans for the north shore of Bolinas Lagoon, a month before the "freeze" on development expires.

John Campbell, architect for the corporation, asked that the commission start considering his plans prior to expiration of the freeze to avoid further delay. He said his plans were developed several months ago, but have never been before the commission.

The corporation's 15.5 acres are among properties that the county wants to purchase for park and open space. Campbell has designed 11 homes in two clusters that would leave much of the beach open.

He told the Independent-Journal he believed the plan would provide considerable open space and public access, giving the county what it is trying to achieve without the expense of buying the property.

Commission Chairman Margaret Azevedo told Campbell the only way he could get the plan properly before the commission would be by applying for a use permit. Under the freeze, development can be allowed only through use permit and then the use must comply with the master plan. The lagoon master plan shows the Muskrat property in open space.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said that by the time the use permit was discussed, the freeze would have expired.

He suggested that Campbell present development plans May 1.

Marin County Planning Commission Also:

ZONE DENIED — Denied Dunya Chernenko's request for rezoning from single family to administrative and professional a lot at Cardinal and Flamingo roads in Tamalpais Valley.

ALMONTE AREAS — Voted to replace commercial zoning with single and multiple zones at Wisteria Way and Almonte Boulevard and Stadium Way and Almonte Boulevard. Commissioners Michael Praszker and Dougherty dissented, objecting to the extent of multiple zoning.

DEDICATION — Voted 5-2, with Commissioners Niels Schultz Jr. and Eugene R. Trombley dissenting, to require Alfred J. Stearn, developer of the 170-acre Dias Ranch west of Mill Valley, to dedicate 20 feet for widening of Shoreline Highway with each increment of his development.

INVERNESS STORE — Gave condtion approval to Russell Helm and William and George Thomson for addition of 2,500 square feet and remodeling of the Inverness Store.

MARSHALL HOTEL — Approved plans for remodeling the Marshall Hotel which include exterior paint and addition of a boardwalk. The commission learned that a master plan for the area includes a marina extending into much of Schooner Cove.

AGRICULTURAL ZONING — Asked planning Director Paul C. Zucker to give further study to agricultural zoning, pursuing his suggestion that large holdings in such a zone be required to have a master plan for development before any sales to developers.

REDWOOD ROAD — Approved the concept of a redwood road through Marin as part of a route from Big Sur to the Oregon border. Dougherty said the scenic road would generally be a series of loops from Highway 101. He said it could follow the western ridge through most of Marin.

REGIONAL PLAN — Asked that the staff of the Association of Bay Area Governments attend a future commission meeting to present its preliminary regional plan.

TIME — Adjourned at 7:15 p.m.

Drunken Driving Fines Imposed

Billy Gene McKnight, 38, of 1550 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, was fined $202 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

California Highway Patrol arrested him Jan. 10 on Highway 101.

John Patrick Caldwell, 36, of Kerney, N.J., was fined $230 for drunken driving. Sheriff's officers arrested him on Tiburon Boulevard Sunday.

Student Club Opposes Fees

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The California Club, made up of 180 student leaders from the nine University of California campuses, yesterday voiced opposition to tuition at U.C.

The club also endorsed a "mass public relations campaign to fill the communications gap between the university and society."

Ron Peterson, club president, said the group felt that if tuition is inevitable, the tuition funds should be used for scholarships or loans to disadvantaged students. The club opposed any use of tuition funds to balance the state's budget.

On the public relations proposal, Peterson said the club felt that students and U.C. regents could both benefit from such a campaign.

Guilty Plea Made On Theft Charge

Guilty plea to petty theft with a prior conviction was entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Shirley Anne Ogletree, 23, of San Francisco.

She took three women's suits from Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera on Jan. 31. Jury trial had been scheduled for today.

PRISON GATE REUNION

Lloyd Eldon Miller Jr. gets a kiss from his mother, Jewell, outside Statesville Prison, Joliet, Ill. He was freed yesterday after the Supreme Court ruled that faked evidence was used in convicting Miller of the November, 1955 rape-slaying of an 8-year-old girl in Canton, Ill., where he had been a cab driver.

Key Figure In Dominican Feud Shot During Ride

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, a key figure in the Dominican turmoil two years ago, was shot and apparently wounded on a street union protest.

First reports said Imbert was in the outskirts of Santo Domingo today.

First reports said Imbert was fired upon while riding in a car and that the vehicle had 23 bullet holes in it. Imbert himself was in International Hospital here but there was no announcement of his condition.

Imbert was one of the two survivors of the men directly involved in the assassination of dictator Rafael L. Trujillo in 1961.

After a rebellion two years ago by forces seeking to return Juan Bosch as president, Imbert headed a national reconstruction junta. He resigned when Hector Garcia-Godoy took over as provisional president in 1965.

Sausalito Citizens Study Fate Of Library Proposal

A citizens committee to study Sausalito's proposed library was formed last night at the library board's meeting, reported Board Chairman Alice Scarborough.

Twenty persons in the audience volunteered to work on the committee, she said, and about 25 more will be asked to join it. The committee includes opponents and proponents of the $250,000 bond measure which failed March 7 to get the necessary two-thirds margin at the polls.

First meeting of the committee will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Campbell Hall, with a second meeting scheduled there March 28, also at 8 ,.m.

The committee is to make recommendations on site, size and financing of a library to trustees on April 3, the day before trustees are to recommend "the next step" to the city council. W. Bruce Shafer, Sausalito real estate broker, was elected chairman of the committee.

City. Mgr. George M. Patterson reported last week to city councilmen that the city's application for a $148,906 federal grant for the library will remain in force if new plans for financing the library can be made by April 17.

Trustees set a special meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the library to discuss preliminary budget requests for fiscal 1968.

Overdose Treated

Novato Trustees End Wait On Civic Center

The Novato Unified School District, after more than two years of waiting for the City of Novato to select a civic center site, will start looking for its own site for an adminsitration and service center building, the district board decided last night.

The district more than two years ago announced that money in its last bond issue for a new administration building, would be held to be used at a site to be chosen by the city for a civic center. The city council last week abandoned the idea, deciding to keep city hall at its present location.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack, attending his first school board meeting last night, expressed the city's regret that the two agencies would not occupy the same civic center site.

The board directed the staff to investigate the use of the Marion School site, going in with Marin County with a branch library, or going onto some other site.

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

PRINCIPALS — Approved advertising for principals both within the district and elsewhere for the new Wilson Avenue junior high school and San Marin high school. Both schools will be opened in the fall of 1968.

BIDS — Called for bids to be opened on April 17 on site development on the Wilson Avenue junior high school.

REPORTS — Heard that the district will try to hire one reading specialist for each elementary school.

EMPLOYMENT — Officially appointed Stanley Onderdonk as principal of Novato High School for next school year; hired Kathleen Coletto to teach at West Novato School, and Elizabeth Vernon and Phylistel White to teach at Hamilton School next year.

Salazar Bridge Is Turning Into White Elephant

LISBON, Portugal, (AP) — Nearly a year after inaugurating the $75-million Salazar Bridge—the world's fifth longest—Portuguese are wondering whether the span has turned out to be a white elephant.

The toll bridge straddles the Tagus River, linking Lisbon with the underdeveloped agricultural south, but the traffic hasn't come up to expectations.

Many workers, who make up the bulk of the commuters across the river, cannot afford the 28-cent roundtrip bus fare and prefer the flat-bottomed ferries costing 6 cents or less. More than 50,000 workers recently signed a petition protesting the higher bus fare.

U.S. Steel International, which built the bridge, predicted 20,000 vehicles would cross it per day, but the average daily crossings have reached only 8,300 at about $1.40 per vehicle.

Negro Wins Rental Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Negro social worker said today she would move into an Alameda apartment house after its owner agreed to rent to her at a hearing of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

The owner, Raymond E. Hanson, also agreed to adopt and advertise a nondiscrimination policy for the Atlanta Apartments.

Mrs. Catheryn Tate charged last September that she was refused an apartment in the 186-unit complex because she is Negro.

What was to be a two-day hearing before the commission ended after 4½ hours when Hanson agreed to accept Mrs. Tate as a tenant.

Driver Sought On Charges In Fatal Smashup

An unemployed laborer was sought today by Merced County authorities on felony manslaughter and drunken driving charges in connection with the flaming head-on collision that killed a young Mill Valley couple and two friends March 7.

Killed on Highway 152 five miles east of Los Banos were Mill Valley Post Office carrier Ralph Larry Grayson, 24, and his wife, Helen Frances, 23, of 50 Greenwood Way, Mill Valley; Cheri Kolb, 19, of Vancouver, B.C., and Michael Harrison, 25, of San Francisco.

Merced County Dist. Atty. Pat Hallford said a warrant had been issued for Wilbert Hall, 42, of Fresno, driver of the car which Hallford said crossed the center line and hit the Grayson's small foreign car, igniting a butane tank the Grayson party was taking on a camping trip to Yosemite Valley.

Hallford said testimony furnished by other motorists that Hall was driving erratically and a blood test for alcohol were the basis of the charges. The district attorney said Hall had disappeared from his Fresno address when arresting officers went there Friday, and an all-points bulletin for his apprehension has been issued.

Collision Victim In Good Condition

Cynthia Johnson, 37, of 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today. She was injured Sunday morning in a two-car accident on Highway 101 near Terra Linda overpass.

Driver of the car she was riding in, Thomas A. Lenhart, 29, of 103 First Street, San Rafael, has been released from the hospital after treatment for a cut chin.

Rec Chief's Student Hiring Idea Vetoed

County Administrator Alan Bruce turned thumbs down yesterday on a proposal by Pierre W. Joske, parks and recreation director, that the county pay $2.50 an hour to students of University of California in a summer intern program.

Joske proposed it at the start of a lengthy budget hearing with Bruce and staff. He called the program "feasible and desirable."

The county administrator, however, was unenthusiastic and suggested this and other cuts in the hiring of extra staff. One alternative discussed was the use of youth job corps workers when available.

The director's total request budget of $468,780 was whittled down to $414,880. During the current year, the department is expected to spend $161,861.

Among the major capital projects in mind for next year is extension of Manzanita Marina Green, for which $110,000 was requested, including $22,590 unspent from the current budget.

A request for $20,000 for the Bolinas Beach access was kept in the upcoming budget, although Bruce and his staff considered the county should "ease up" on money spent there in view of the large amount earmarket for Bolinas Lagoon land acquisition.

The 1967-68 recommendations, with current year's estimated spending in brackets, are as follows: Salaries ($62,'78 ($52,202); services and supplies $54,175 ($38,738); fixed assets $298,127 ($70,921).

County Assessor Bert W. Brommell made requests in his department's budget totalling $751,297, compared with spending in the current year of $630,336. He expected one extra clerk would be added to the payroll.

Dealing with the county's fire protection budget, Bruce said his office would support Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom's recommendation that a fire training officer be appointed next fiscal year.

Bloom agreed to delaying a proposal to establish a new site for a Tomales sub-station. His requests in the upcoming budget totalled $487,307, compared with estimated spending in the current year of $480,170.

One-Car Crashes Hospitalize Two Marin Drivers

Two Marinites were in Marin General Hospital today after their cars went off rain-slick Highway 101 yesterday and today.

Christel Else Herda, 23, of 630 Woodbine Drive, San Rafael, was reported in good condition with deep cuts on eyebrow and back and bruises, suffered when she went through the windshield.

She was driving north in congested traffic on the San Rafael overpass at 12:05 a.m. today when her car skidded into the guard rail, then spun across the road into the bridge rail, according to California Highway Patrol.

Bryan John O'Reilly, 38, of 251 Flamingo Avenue, Mill Valley, suffered facial injuries, a cut cheek and bruises and was reported in good condition today.

California Highway Patrol reported that as he turned into highway 101 at the San Quentin Wye, yesterday at 3:20 p.m., his car spun on the wet road and hit the divider rail.

Tam Trustees Hear Sports Center Request

Rev. Samuel L. Banks of Marin City last night asked the Tamalpais High School District Board to consider development of the Marin City High School site as a "Southern Marin sports center."

Banks said the area offers "no wholesome recreation at all" except for a boys club started six months ago for boys 7 to 14 years old. He said teen-agers now use Drake Avenue, Marin City's main street, as a drag strip. He suggested a safe drag strip could be developed on the unused high school site.

BALL DIAMOND

He also suggested development there of a baseball diamond, a sauna bath, and a hobby center to include leather craft, photography and drama.

The program could possibly be financed through federal funds, he said. Churches, Boy Scouts and Boys clubs might help with a "leadership training program."

Trustee William B. Lewis said the board would need more details before the plan could be considered. He said one of the responsibilities of a proposed citizen committee on school building needs will be to consider use of the Marin City site.

REPORT ASKED

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle asked Banks to prepare a detailed written report for the citizens committee, and Banks agreed.

The trustees outlined the responsibilities of the citizens committee. The 12 committee members who will be appointed April 3 will be asked to determine district building needs concerning a new high school in San Geronimo Valley, expansion of facilities for Redwood High School, a new high school on the Tiburon Peninsula, building needs at Tamalpais High School and expanded central educational facilities.

The Tamalpais High School District Board also:

INFORMATIONAL MEETING —Agreed to devote the May 1 board meeting to answering written questions from residents on any district matter, and informational discussion with the audience.

FEDERAL FUNDS — Approved applications for federal funds for four programs: distributive education, clerk-typist, machine transcription, and food services training, which would cost a total of $38,[illegible]90, of which $17,897 would be in district funds.

PORTABLE CLASSROOMS — Awarded a $28,895 contract for a five-year lease of portable classrooms to low bidder Designed Facilities Co.

DUST COLLECTION — Awarded a contract for a dust collection system for the industrial arts program at Sir Francis Drake High School to low-bidder Knoles Inc. of San Rafael for $4,133.

REDWOOD ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of part of Redwood High School to Larkspur.

EVENING SCHOOL — Approved a list of teachers and class assignments for adult evening school.

$300 To $600 Extra Pay To Tomales Bay Teachers

Teachers in Tomales Bay Elementary School District last night were granted pay increases of $300 to $600, beyond the regular step increases in their salary scale.

The district board adopted a new pay schedule increasing the scale from $5,300-$9,800 to $5,600-$10,400 per year.

The Tomales Bay Joint Union School District Board also:

MARSHALL—Adopted a resolution returning the old Marshall School to the heirs of the Kleiser Estate on June 30. No action was taken on disposing of the Bloomfield School site, also no longer used.

BUS SERVICE—Approved an agreement with the Tomales High School District for bus service next year at an increase from 25 cents to 30 cents per round trip per student.

BONDS—Learned from David Raffo, principal, that the bond assumption election for the former American Valley and Bloomfield districts will be held on April 18. Neither district has any bonded indebtedness but residents are voting on assuming their share of the $80,000 Tomales District indebtedness when the three districts merge on June 30.

Joint Recreation Meeting Scheduled

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission and representatives of the Fairfax Recreation Department last night agreed on a joint meeting of the San Anselmo and Fairfax commissions April 18 at 7:45 p.m. at Red Hill School to discuss joint programs.

The commissione set a kite flying contest for April 8 at Memorial Park for San Anselmo elementary school children and learned the San Anselmo Little League has donated $150 for improvements at Memorial Park.

School Advisers Ask More Building Plans

Mill Valley School District's Citizens Advisory Committee studying the proposed June bond election of more than $3 million last night agreed it could not make recommendations on a building program without details on the program.

Architects for the building program do not expect to have preliminary plans ready until late in April. Monday is the deadline for trustees to adopt a resolution formally setting the election June 13.

The committee also agreed trustees will have to decide whether to phase out some neighborhood schools before selling voters on a bond measure, reported Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson. This decision will have a "very significant" effect on the outcome of the measure, the committee agreed. Trustees have asked their architects to recommend whether some schools should be phased out.

Approximately 20 of the 37 members of the committee attended last night's meeting. Next meeting of the committee will be April 3 at 8 p.m. in the school district office, 26 Miller Avenue.

Chief of police of the City of Larkspur is Howard Clark.

Students See How Board Performs

It was the first time half of them had ever been in the Civic Center, let alone attending a Marin County Board of Supervisors meeting, but today nearly a score of Marin high school students sat attentively through the supervisors' weekly verb-fest, taking notes with never a yawn.

The first morning of the Model County Government program sponsored by the Marin YMCA, designed to teach high school seniors county government first hand, was devoted to attending the supervisors' meeting.

Dale Greenlee, program associate for the YMCA, said the new model government program attracted 27 students, interested in augmenting their academic studies of government in their senior year.

Tomorrow, student "department heads" will spend the day with their adult counterparts in regular county government. A mock board of supervisors meeting will be held April 15 to hear proposals from the "county administrator" and "department heads."

This morning the students sat in the supervisors' chambers, mini-skirts and sneakers in contrast to the dark suits around them, and heard the board plough through an agenda that included appointments, a complicated transfer of funds to get the county airport out of hock, and a discussion of the National Park Service's intention to raze a barn at Point Reyes National Seashore.

Greenlee said a similar model program is scheduled for May — a model judicial program — when students will pose as attorneys, witnesses, jury and defendants in a mock trial at the county courthouse under a real judge.

Attorneys will work with the students and coach them in their roles, said Greenlee, to mark Law Week.

High School students participating in the model county government program include: Marin Catholic: Palua Frideger; Redwood: Nick Krause; San Rafael: Harry Barbier, Bill Joost, Gerald King, Gregory Molloy, Jim Newey, Michael Polk, Don Timmer, Ken Waxman, Ned Johnston; Terra Linda: Suzi Arago, Steven Bajor, Wendy Banks, Leroy Barrow, Mike Einstein, Chris Harris, Dan Kiilhoven, John Leonard, David Long, Barbara McCarthy, Charlotte Millis, John Mosher, Carol Parkinson, Decote Phillips, Cam Toomas, and Mariette Tuinzing.

Supervisors Transfer Cash For Airport Buy

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today unanimously voted for transfer of $62,992 from the hospital medical care fund to the airport project to cover a last-minute shortage in funding.

County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost told the board that the Federal Aviation Agency has finally given approval tto the project, which included realignment and enlargement of the runway.

The need for additional funds for the $535,000 project arose through the board's decision to purchase rather than pay severance on 21 acres, and through changes in design required by FAA.

Supervisors praised Robert Middagh of the department of public works for his work on negotiating land purchase, which included sessions with the 16 heirs of the Bodkin estate and travels to Reno on his own time and expense to take some of the heirs.

County Administrator Alan Bruce, meeting with Frost in budget discussion yesterday, gave his approval to a $69,983 airport budget for next fiscal year. This will include an airport manager starting Oct. 1 at $753 a month and one fulltime and one half-time airport attendant, with fulltime monthly pay at $510, starting next Jan. 1.

The budget would also provide for additional capital expenses, including installation of underground pipes, and fuel storage tanks.

Sausalitan Found Dead In Garage

John F. Mailer, a 56-year-old Sausalito salesman, was found hanging from the garage rafters at his home at 512 Main Street yesterday.

Deputy Coroner Keith C. Craig said Mailer was found about 3 p.m. by his wife, Beverly Ryder Mailer, when she returned from work. Earlier in the day, she had been told by his secretary he had not arrived for work at Recorder Printing and Publishing Co. in San Francisco.

Craig said Mailer had attempted suicide by taking pills March 6, and his wife said he had been drinking excessively.

Born in Montreal, Canada, Mailer had lived in Marin 14 years and in California 16 years.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Teen-Agers Hurt In Cycle Mishap

Two Corte Madera youths were injured when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with a car near 577 Paradise Drive in Corte Madera yesterday at 8 p.m., according to Corte Madera police.

Stephen D. Coleman, 16, of 249 Balcutha Drive, driver of the motorcycle, suffered a leg injury and multiple bruises and was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital. Rober Hubell, 14, of 149 Westward Drive, a passenger, was also in good condition at the same hospital with multiple cuts, scrapes and bruises.

James H. Actgen, 68, of 3 Monoma Drive, Corte Madera, driver of the car, was not injured.

Jury Trial Set On Grand Theft

Jury trial for Dave Townsel Jr., 20, of Larkspur, charged with grand theft from Harold Smith in Sausalito on Jan. 9, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for June 12.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson yesterday denied a motion for dismissal of the theft complaint on grounds of insufficient evidence.

City Employees To Defend Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — City employees decided to mount a counter-offensive and raise a $100,000 "fighting fund" last night to defend recent pay hikes of $10.4 million.

Some 2,000 white collar workers jammed Nourse Auditorium to hear city officials and union leaders promise an "all out" campaign against a referendum sought by the Homeowners Alliance.

The alliance, headed by realtor George R. Goodwin, seeks to have the voters rescind the pay hike. Opponents must gather 23,819 signatures by April 6 to get the matter on the ballot. They won a court order yesterday allowing them to resume gathering of voters' signatures.

Two Methods Of Solving Drainage Problems Given

Two methods of solving Belvedere and Tiburon's mutual drainage problems were weighed last night by a drainage committee of the two city councils.

Chairman Edwin J. Dreschel of the Belvedere council said a committee favored reconstruction of an old drain from the holding pond on Tiburon Peninsula Club property which would empty into the bay at Elephant Rock.

The alternative to this would be a drain across Northwestern Pacific Railroad property, emptying into Belvedere Cove, a proposal that has drawn strong objection from some Belvedere residents and yachting interests in the cove area.

Advantages of the old drain to Elephant Rocks cited by Dreschsel were that it would allow construction of a non-tidal canal for drainage, recreation and beautification by Tiburon; that it would best relieve drainage problems on Tiburon Boulevard; that it would serve more people, thus costing less to construct under an assessment district.

Committee members, Dreschel said, will report their recommendations to their respective city councils in April.

Fliers Saved From Sonoma Mountainside

NAPA (AP)—A little plane crashed in the rain against a mountain.

For more than five hours, the two men it had carried lay injured in a remote, rough area while a ground search party tried to find them. The "fix" for the search was a radio message the injured pilot managed to send out.

Today the pilot, Arthur S. Mars, 49, and his flying pupil, Thomas Suellau, 25, both of Napa, were recovering from their injuries in hospitals at Vallejo and Napa.

Their Cessna 150 single-engine plane crashed about noon yesterday on the west side of Mount Veeder, 10 miles north of Sonoma. It was almost 6 p.m. before the search party of Napa and Sonoma County sheriff's deputies found them.

The steep, thickly forested region was so rough that most of the party's equipment bogged down trying to get there.

The litters, with wire baskets, had to be carried a mile and a half from the nearest road.

An Albatross flying boat from the 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base provided radio communication during the rescue, being unable to land in the area.

Senator Claims LBJ's Income Tax Plan Hoax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams said today President Johnson doesn't really want an income tax increase this year and instead plans to pump $9.3 billion into the economy before the 1968 election.

The Delaware Republican said of Johnson's proposal for a 6 per cent surtax on individual and corporate income taxes: "They don't really want this and they don't expect to get it."

Both Republicans and Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee sharply questioned administration motives yesterday as Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler testified on proposals to restore tax breaks to business.

Williams, ranking GOP member of the committee, told Fowler that in seeking to restore tax incentives to business, "you are killing your chances" for the income tax surcharge.

KITTY'S FATE RUSHED

Mistake Admitted By Humane Society

Immediate execution of a cat taken to the Marin County Humane Society for adoption — even while its owner was filling out the paper giving it to the society — was disclosed today in a letter to the Independent-Journal.

Mel L. Morse, executive director of the humane society, admitted "we goofed."

"There apparently was a misunderstanding and somehow the cat got put to sleep," Morse said. He said he called a staff meeting to determine responsibility and avoid further such mix-ups.

The event came to light in a letter to the I-J from Mrs. Norah Maclennan Lee of 79 Live Oak Avenue, Fairfax.

She said she took the cat, for which she and her husband had been caring for months since it was found abandoned, to the society last Thursday. Mrs. Lee said the society had assured her over the telephone a new home would be sought for the animal.

Upon arrival, she related, the cat was taken from her by an attendant and taken to a rear area.

"We inquired of the clerk what his chances of adoption would be," Mrs. Lee wrote. "She said she doubted he'd be adopted and probably would be put to sleep."

When the couple said they did not want the cat exterminated and asked for him back, the clerk said the cat had already been "put to sleep."

"This all happened within four or five minutes," Mrs. Lee said. "Our intent was to find this lovely cat a home, but the people in the office overruled us and decidec he should die."

Morse said today "it was not the policy of the society to let this happen, and there's no reason why the cat shouldn't have been taken for adoption.

"We try to avoid this sort of thing."

Death Row Appeal Due For Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The fight of a Sacramento cop killer to avoid the gas chamber April 12 will be heard by the U.S. Court of Appeals on April 6.

The court today granted the hearing to Aaron C. Mitchell, 36, convicted of killing a policeman during a Sacramento holdup. The hearing will be on Mitchell's appeal from denial of a writ of habeas corpus last Nov. 23 by U.S. District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli.

Mitchell, an itinerant cotton picker from Arkansas, was convicted of the murder of policeman Arnold Gamble during the Stadium Club robbery in Sacramento in 1963.

Mitchell's lawyers contended that Mitchell took the stand and in effect testified against himself by allowing his past record to be brought in on impeachment proceedings and that he did this to avoid having the trial judge comment adversely if he failed to take the stand.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that the California law permitting such comment is unconstitutional.

Ski School Loses Cash, Cigarettes

Burglars broke a window of Mira Monte Marina Ski School on Redwood Highway, Novato, to steal $110 cash and 18 packages of cigarettes Saturday, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said the owner, Robert Wineman, reported no loss of sporting equipment, however.

Jerome Arthur Gifford, 380 South Morning Sun Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, told officers locked home that day, taking two cameras and a portable radio from a bedroom and two bottles of liquor from the kitchen. No force entry was evident, he said.

Burglars last Friday pried a board covering a broken window at the Valley Garage, Forest Knolls, according to owner Ronny D. Roberson Jr., entering to steal a small butane tank and a small quantity of auto parts. Roberson reported the break-in the same day. The sheriff's report became available today.

A locked car owned by Andrew L. Pansini, 180 Los Cerros Drive, Greenbrae, and parked in the 800 block of College Avenue in Kentfield was entered Friday by breaking a ventilator wing, officers said today. Taken were an $80 stereophonic set and 10 stereophonic tapes.

San Rafael Shoe Store's Cash Stolen

Burglars entered Karl's Shoe Store, 941 Fourth Street, San Rafael, last night and stole about $12 from the cash register. It was not known whether any shoes or other merchandise were taken.

Entry was through a skylight at the rear of the building.

NEARLY A MILE OF MALL—This is how "open space" with pools and geometric patterns of landscaping will appear, running in a direct line for 4,000 feet through Marincello, as approved yesterday by the county planning commission. The drawing was presented with the plan by Kalvin Platt and Edmund C. Heine Jr.

Council Has Questions On Police Plans

The Corte Madera Town Council asked last night for new direction in the plan to form a county services area in unincorporated areas to assume the cost of police protection.

The move came when Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows asked in a letter for the council's vote of confidence on a recommendation by the Marin City-County Services Committee that certain areas of police work remain as county-wide responsibility to be borne by all taxpayers.

The council, acting on a recommendation by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher, agreed that consideration should first be given to formation of a services area before determining methods of taxpayer support.

The council then asked Usher to prepare a memorandum on the council's stand for presentation to officials of other cities March 29 at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen in Deer Park Villa, Fairfax.

Under a county service area, the patrol functions and other services now financed by county-wide tax would be borne by taxpayers in unincorporated areas.

However, the committee agreed recently that detective service, police protection in Marin City, protection connected with tourism, regional police need and a certain minimum level of patrol would stay as county-wide responsibility. The jail and civil departments also would be supported county-wide, it was recommended.

Cyclist Is Hurt In Novato Wreck

Stephen Lyle Johnson, 18, of 825 Eucalyptus Avenue, Novato, was cut on his hands and head when his motorcycle skidded at 3:10 p.m. yesterday on Center Road, Novato, according to Novato police.

Johnson's motorcycle skidded 174 feet from 2255 to 2265 Center Road, police reported.

Mile-Long Marincello Mall Plan Squeaks By

recirculated to higher levels, providing artificial water falls. A large pool in the center will be shallower than the others. It will have steps around it and can be drained for street dancing and theatrical or musical events.

Stroller emphasized that Marincello and the architects should be commended for setting aside so much open space, but he could not generate enthusiasm for the plan.

Heine said the mall would obviously appear as "man-made open space" and would contrast with the hillsides.

Darrel Coneybeare of the county planning staff emphasized the scale of the proposed mall by showing it was as long as St. Peter's square in Rome.

Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the department was not recommending against the proposal "but it's not the design we would have come up with."

Commissioner William F. Upton suggested the configuaration of the mall be determined by the natural slopes and curve of the canyon rather than setting it down in a straight line. However, he voted in favor of the plan.

Compromise Set On Unit Variance

Despite pleas from the owners, Marin County Planning Commission voted 5-1 yesterday to deny a variance allowing three living units in a single family zone at 315 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley. Commissioner Hugh Dougherty dissented.

Commissioners, however, agreed to compromise and permit rearrangement of the existing units to provide two living quarters.

Owners Mr. and Mrs. Javier Benedet said there had been at least two units before they bought the property in 1956. A third unit was constructed before they realized it was not allowed, they said.

Valley Residents Planning Cleanup

San Geronimo Valley Association last night agreed to take part in a valley cleanup campaign to start April 1.

Valley merchants will get litter bags to distribute to customers from the San Geronimo Valley Lions Club, which is initiating the campaign. County refuse crews will pick up collected litter as needed from three sites to be set up in the valley.

The association announced a candidates' night for the Lagunitas School Board election will be help at 8 p.m. April 10 at Lagunitas School.

The Red Cross blood bank will be set up April 8 at the Woodacre Improvement Club, it was announced.

Heart Attack

Byron L. Haviside Jr., 35, of 116-A Edwards Avenue, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital after suffering a heart attack yesterday in Rico's Restaurant, 1214 Bridgeway, Sausalito. Firemen rushed oxygen to the restaurant at 3 p.m. and took Haviside to the hospital.

Corte Madera Beauty Timetable Approved

The second step in a five-year municipal beautification program was approved last night by the Cort Madera Town Council.

The council voted to apply for federal funds totaling $25,630.89. Total cost of the work was estimated at $68,275, with Corte Madera sharing the tab primarily in the use of the town's labor force.

Work scheduled this year includes further turfing and irrigation and construction of a parking lot at the new town park; shopping area landscaping; installation of an irrigation system on Paradise Drive, and more landscaping at the public safety substation.

Completed or nearly finished in the first year of the program in 1966 were an interior drainage system, a parking lot and covering of an open ditch, all in connection with construction of the town park; extensive landscaping and planting of trees around the town.

The town estimates the final three years of the beautification program will cost about $397,000.

The council lauded a proposed summer recreation program outlined by Larkspur Recreation Director Robert C. Bundy, and passed it onto the town's Park and Recreation Commission for approval. Corte Madera and Larkspur are engaged in a joint program.

Planned for Corte Madera this summer are a 40-day playground program of athletics, arts and crafts, museum visits, outings, archery, music and drama at San Clemente, Larkspur-Corte Madera schools and in town park; a 12-member tennis class at town park courts; baseball instruction for 7-year-olds, and overnight camp-out in either Samuel Taylor or Tamalpais state park.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

ANNEXATION — Approved, after a public hearing, annexation of a 2.41-acre section of property south of Meadow Sweet Drive, known as the Sanford property.

MURAL — Unveiled in the council chambers a mural depicting the town's history, painted by Corte Madera artist Kenneth Potter in connection with the town's 50th anniversary last year.

ELECTION — Set for April 25 a special election on de-annexation to Larkspur of some 20 lots of property along Elm Avenue. Polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in residence at 163 Elm Avenue for the area's 31 eligible voters.

STREET DEDICATION — Dedicated Robing Drive, a new street in the Uplands area.

CONGESTION — Planned to consider April 3 recommendations to eliminate traffic congestion around Tamal Vista Boulevard and Fifer Avenue, near Redwood High School. Mrs. J. W. McClintock of 20 Buena Vista also complained of incidents of careless driving in the area.

PROPERTIES —Set for 7:30 p.m. pril 17 public hearings on annexation of properties on Christmas Tree Hill, portion of William Avenue, the Berkeley Co-opertative property, and the State Department of Motor Vehicles porperty.

ELECTRICAL CODE — Introduced an ordinance updating the town's electrical code.

APPOINTMENTS — Postponed until April 3 appointment of two council members to a joint Larkspur-Corte Madera library study committee.

SEMINAR — Authorized Finance Director John R. Vance to attend the annual seminar of the California Municipal treasurers Associations, April 18-21 in Anaheim.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

Woman Arraigned On Marijuana

Judith Ann Ferguson, 20, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of marijuana possession. Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 2 p.m. April 3.

Miss Ferguson, also known as Jodi Sumpter, was arrested Friday after sheriff's officers saw two plants which appeared to be marijuana growing at her home, Cabin 5 at Muir Beach.

Deputies said she also had marijuana in her purse when booked at county jail.

TOUGH 'CHIC' FROM PARIS FILES

Be on the lookout this spring for Monsieur X's tent dress, left, which floats freely from high side-panels in turquoise Celanese Acetate and rayon crepe. It has long narrow set-in sleeves tipped with chocolate brown and white. Center, art nouveau print of the palest water color lilacs, yellows and blues by Castillo. The easy A-shape features Castillo's favorite cut-out petal neckline. Flower-shaped hat emphasizes floral motif seen throughout the cool collection. Reminiscent of the 1930's is the black and white tattersall check coat dress, right, by St. Laurent. The ensemble is belted low with white fake french cuffs and wide revers. Oversize fedora hat reflects overtones of Marlene Dietrich. Copy by Townley.

Rodef Sholom's Sisterhood Plans Gala Purim Carnival

Fun and games are only a few of the activities to be featured this year at Temple Rodef Sholom's annual gala Purim Carnival Sunday.

The 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. event will include games, booths, grab bag activities, costume parade, food fare as well as the first annual Art Show featuring paintings, ceramics, and sculpture by Temple members. Art items will be for sale as well as exhibit.

Designed for children of all ages, as well as adults, the Carnival to be held in the social hall and Sunday School rooms, includes many traditional features in addition to many new ones. Children will compete for prizes in the Purim costume parade with awards given for the best and most original attire pertinent to the holiday, and, following the tradition of the Festival, everyone will get a Hamantashen, the little pastry reminiscent of the three-cornered hat worn by the evil Haman.

The joyous Festival of Purim honors the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from an evil plot. Haman, the wicked minister to King Ahashuerus, persuaded the King to destroy all the Jews in his kingdom. Esther, the beautiful Jewish queen to the King, at the urging of her cousin, Mordecai, pleaded with the king to spare her people, which he did.

Thus Jews celebrate the holiday with great merriment, the donning of costumes, and the razzing of the name of Haman who was duly punished.

Mrs. David Lapidus is in charge of the Art Show and sale; Mrs. Roy Calder, bazaar; Mrs. Lawrence Landy and Mrs. Myron Kaplan, food. General chairman is Mrs. Earl Sobel.

The Carnival is under the sponsorship of the Sisterhood of Temple Rodef Sholom.

ADMIRING several of the paintings and other items which will be featured when the Sisterhood of Temple Rodef Sholom holds its Purim Carnival on Sunday are, from left, Mesdames Earl Sobel, general chairman, Roy Calder and David Lapidus. The carnival, to be held in the social hall at the temple, will also include a costume parade for the youngsters. (Independent-Journal photo)

Oops — From American fashion designer Adele Simpson comes the story which might be titled, "How a First Lady Must Keep Her Political Guard Up" — or "Elephants' Longevity Shortlived . . ."

It seems that India's Prime Minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, had sent Lady Bird Johnson some sari fabric and recently the First Lady asked Adele Simpson to make some of it up into at-home clothes. Mrs. Johnson was about to buy trousers with a long overblouse made from the saris when her eagle-eyed secretary stopped her. "The President wouldn't like that!" she exclaimed. Mrs. Johnson looked closer and agreed—the pattern of the fabric included dozens of tiny elephants.

EASTER ACTIVITIES and events are in the offing at the various clubs in Marin this week. The Marin Country Club will have an Easter egg hunt and a buffet brunch on Sunday. The kiddies' Easter egg hunt will be held at the pool area in three sessions, at 11 a.m., 12:30 p.m., and 2 p.m. for children of club members. Brunch will be served from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Forget Double-Dealing And Go Back To The Double Dating

DEAR HELEN:

This girl and I have been realy good friends for five years. We double-dated with a couple of nice boys until the boy she was going with—we'll call him Joe—put her down. I continued going with Jerry.

Here's my problem. My girl friend is beginning to like Jerry too well. She hangs around him all the time. That makes Jerry feel like a big man, so he bet me if he asked her out, she'd accept. I bet she wouldn't, out of loyalty to me.

But, Helen, I'm not sure. What if she accepts? There goes a best girl friend and also a boy friend—and it's all my fault for calling him on that bet!

Should I tell her to say "No" when he asks her? I'm not even sure if he will or not.—B.F.

DEAR B:

Why not keep quiet and work like sixty to find your girlfriend a new boyfriend, so you can forget double-dealing and get back to double-dating?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you say to a girl who is constantly saying, "I don't mean to hurt your feelings but . . ." and proceeds to be so darn frank she gives me a complex for a week. (About things I can't change, like how big my feet look, etc.) She usually does this when we're with a crowd, and there are boys around.—DEFLATED.

DEAR DEFLATED:

Give her a long, thoughtful look, then burst out laughing and say, "My, my, dear, aren't you ever the cat's meow!"—H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can I stop feeling responsible for someone's death? I was 14 when my brother introduced me to Buddie. He was four years older and, of course, I was at the age where I'd flip over any guy. We went together a whole summer, and just before school started he gave me his ring. But I wasn't ready to go steady and three days later I gave it back, saying my folks would object. He was rather hurt and we gradually lost interest in one another.

Then he was killed in an auto accident.

I felt it was God's punishment to me for being so foolish. After his death I discovered I'd lost the one person I really loved. I am now 18 and still feel very guilty. Will I ever get over this?—A.F.W.

DEAR A:

You won't get over it, honey, until you start being completely honest with yourself. Go back to age-14 and remember how it really was . . . An 18-year-old boy temporarily interested in a little freshman, whose head was turned because an Older Man Cared. The infatuation didn't lastand you both lost interest. He didn't die from love of you, but because fate planned it that way. You weren't in love with him then, and you aren't now, but you hate the idea that his life was cut short—and you cry over what might have been. You're looking for something to blame it on, and you've settled for—YOU.

Fear of death, and resentment when it comes close to you, often causes guilt feelings. But remember: you had nothing to do with it, and he was only a friend, someone you would probably never have dated again.

Your minister can tell you much better than I that God does not snuff out life to punish others. Let him!—H.

The Latest In Stockings Is Neon Or 'Non-Color'

Words on color in women's hosiery this spring should either be shouted or whispered. Though stockings will come in a full range of colors, the two extremes of hue — the neon brights and the soft, almost-not-colors —will be dominant below the hemline.

While the neon look will be primarily reserved for the very young on party occasions, the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers predicts that women of all ages will find the soft, muted pastel colors eminently wearable. The subtle new colors for spring have been translated into glitter stockings, textured stockings and new opaque, non-sheer stockings, as well as sheer nylons.

Pale colors are especially attractive in the spring textured stockings. In the palest pastel colors the intertwining scrolls and point d'esprit patterns give a delicate lace-curtain effect to the leg. Some textured nylons are so subtle that the texture is apparent only when light strikes the stockings a certain way.

GLITTER STOCKINGS continue to be with us, but the new glitter has been modified to befit the new subtle colors. The trend here definitely is toward a more lady-like shine. Stockings for spring have the pastel glow of pearls. And the new pearl leg also looks right in the daytime, with silks and linens, as in the evening.

State P-TA Opposes Tuition, Urges Abortion Law Change

Opposition to all college and university tuition bills was voted by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers on Thursday, in Los Angeles.

The action was taken by the representative board of managers at the bi-monthly meeting and reflected the policy of tuition-free education for California's young people. Mrs. Neil Cox of Pomona, unpaid lobbyist for the P-TA's education legislation, said the action was not directly related to the current controversy over tuition but rather is a reflection of longtime P-TA philosophy.

Active support of the Therapeutic Abortion Act bills of Beilenson and Biddle was also voted. Mrs. Laurence B. Martin, president of the large statewide organization, stated that the decision was reached after a study of the abortion question by the board's health study committee. "The action was taken after careful consideration and deliberation. It reflects P-TA's awareness of illegal abortions as the greatest single cause of maternal deaths and its concern for the care and protection of youth, in this instance, the young victims of incest or rape," she said.

Other legislation which will receive P-TA's all-out support includes the so-called Magna Carta of Education, Senator Miller's bill to revise and streamline Division Seven of the Education Code (where elementary and secondary school subjects are mandated). Aim of this measure is to return home-rule to local school districts and allow for more curricular innovation in California classrooms.

Dominican College To Get Library For Music Research

The California Federation of Music Clubs has voted to promote and sponsor an American Music Research Center Library at Dominican College in San Rafael.

Mrs. June Weybright Reeder, president, announced the federation's decision today, praising the college for its interest in preserving and collecting musical Americana.

Sister Mary Dominic, O. P. of Dominican College, who was the federation's chairman of American music three years ago, is an avid collector of early American music scores and has interested many of the students in researching this country's heritage in music. It was her enthusiasm which prompted the northern district to sponsor the research library. It will be the only known one of its kind in Northern California.

A tea to launch the library will be held on March 30 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gustave J. Snelling, vice president of the state federation, 2002 Paradise Drive, Tiburon. Sister M. Antoinette, O. P., head of the Sister Dominic will perform some piano compositions of Gottschalk.

What may be the only authentic cello concerto Haydn ever wrote, the Cello Concerto in C Major, recently discovered in a Scandinavian library.

The debut of Joanna de Keyser with the Oakland Symphony. The 27-year old Southern California violincellist, winner of the 1966 Young Artist award competition, will play the Haydn concerto in its first performance by a professional orchestra in the Bay Area.

Another interesting happening at the April concerts will be the performance of Nono's "Memento — Epitaph No. 3," based on a text by the Spanish poet Lorca, and using the orchestra, speaking soloist Ann Graber, and the 92-voice Oakland Symphony Chorus as a speaking chorus.

Climaxing the concerts will be Schubert's Mass in G with three guest soloists, the Symphony Chorus and the orchestra. Solists will be tenor Patrick Daugherty of Berkeley, heard in the Bay Area in San Francisco Srping Opera; soprano Delcina Stevenson of Los Angeles, top winner in the 1966 San Francisco Opera Award Auditions, and George Baker of Fairfax, leading bass-baritone in the Western Opera Theater.

They're pretty amazing, these I-J Want-Ads. They can sell a tractor, get a job, find a puppy. And do it fast, at low cost.

Policeman Sued Over Hunter's Point Death

Last year's fatal shooting of a Hunter's Point youth by San Francisco Police Officer Alvin J Johnson of Mill Valley has resulted in a $500,000 lawsuit, filed yesterday against the City of San Francisco.

The shooting of Matthew Johnson Jr., 16, by the policeman on Sept. 27 touched off days of rioting in Negro sections of the city.

In the suit filed yesterday, the boy's mother, Eula Johnson, charged that Officer Johnson, a 23-year veteran of the San Francisco police, "recklessly, carelessly, wantonly and imprudently" shot and killed her son as he ran from a suspected stolen car.

Johnson was exonerated by a coroner's jury of any wrongdoing in the fatal incident.

The boy's mother also charged that San Francisco "failed in its duty to the public" by allowing Officer Johnson to carry a gun.

The boy's remarried father, Matthew Johnson Sr., filed a claim against the city last year for $505,000. The claim was denied by the city and the father's attorney is preparing a lawsuit.

Plea Scheduled On Armed Robbery

Loverd Howard, 18, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of armed robbery. Judge Joseph G. Wilson scheduled plea entry at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Howard, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, allegedly robbed Richard Lomax and Nanya Baker at her apartment, 901 Drake Avenue, Marin City, on Feb. 11. Lomax resides at 325 Turney Street, Sausalito.

Party Candidates Win In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—For the first time since the Communists seized power in 1948, Hungarian voters in some districts had a choice of candidates in Sunday's elections, but virtually none of the opponents of the Communist-led Patriot Peoples Front party won a seat.

The Hungarian news agency MTI reported yesterday that in the nine districts with two candidates for the 349-member Parliament, the official nominees of the party were elected.

Chamber Against Fund Transfer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Officials of the State Chamber of Commerce say they are "unalterably opposed" to a plan to divert state highway funds for construction of rapid transit facilities.

Legislation was introduced into the Assembly last week which would appropriate some funds raised by gasoline taxes for construction of rapid transit systems.

Chamber officials said yesterday they regard the proposal as a potential new tax.

Pro-Mao General Takes Over Canton

HONG KONG (UPI) —Peking has dispatched a top Communist Chinese army general to Canton to take personal command of Kwangtung province and crush anti-Mao forces, Hong Kong newspapers reported today.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai, in a speech reported by Peking radio, meanwhile called for farmers to steer clear of the national power struggle and get out the rice crops. It lent weight to reports of famine fear in China.

Two newspapers, the Hong Kong Times and the Kung Sheung Daily, quoted travelers from Canton as saying Gen. Huang Yung-sheng had taken over the Kwangtung military control commission.

The commission was established to put the entire province under military control.

The travelers said handbills had been circulated in Canton saying Gen Huang was in command. Gen Huang is also a member of the Communist Chinese National Defense Council and an alternate member of the powerful Communist Central Committee.

Canton has been one of China's most troubled cities ever since Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung launched his "cultural revolution" last year.

The cultural revolution was a purge intended to liquidate all opposition to Mao and his brand of Communism. Mao and his right hand man, Lin Piao, formed the "Red Guards," bands of teen-age boys and girls who foraged cities seeking out elements opposed to Mao.

More Clues Reported Of Economic Slowdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Though the cost of living continued to hold relatively steady in February, the poor performance of two other economic indicators added to the evidence the economy is slowing down.

Personal income rose during the month at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $2.4 billion, the smallest gain in 10 months, while new factory orders for durable goods declined to a seasonally adjusted level of $22.2 billion, its lowest point in 17 months.

The brighter cost of living picture, reported yesterday by the Labor Department, showed only a modest one-tenth of 1 per cent gain from January.

At 114.8 per cent of prices in the period 1957-59, the February index meant that the same parcel of goods and services that cost $10 in the base period cost $11.48 last month.

Over the three months from December through February, the cost of living rose only three-tenths of 1 per cent, the lowest rise for any three-month period in about 18 months. For the overall rise for all of last year was 3.5 per cent.

The Labor Department said grocery prices continued their gradual decline of recent months, falling four-tenths of 1 per cent from January's prices.

But a seven-tenths of 1 per cent rise in medical costs, along with increases in the costs of eating out, transportation, and services over-all, wiped out the effects of lower food prices in addcng up the total cost of living.

Medical costs ended the month 9 per cent above a year earlier. New car prices in February were down three-tenths of 1 per cent from January, but used cars prices were up slightly. Mortgage rates also declined marginally for the second consecutive month.

Arraignment Held In Stolen Property

Arthur Ray Frazier, 40, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of receiving a stolen boat trailer owned by Keith Waddell Smith of 240 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley. Preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. March 31.

Frazier, of 515 Eldridge Avenue, Novato, originally was charged with theft last June 28 of the 22-foot trailer.

Quiet Man Folley Says He's Ready For Cassius

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Zora Folley's manager says the heavyweight challenger's greatest moment in the ring so far has been his knockout of Britain's Henry Cooper in 1961.

"Zora is ready now and in the same mental and physical condition for Cassius Clay as he was for Cooper," said Bill Swift, Folley's manager, today.

"Cooper had beaten Zora in 10 rounds in 1958," said Swift. "When they met again in December of 1961 in London, Zora weighed 195 pounds and was sharp as a razor. He knocked out Cooper in the second round. He was great that night. He can beat Clay."

Swift, Folley and trainer Johnny Hart are among the very few in town who believe the 34-year-old, No. 1 contender has a chance against the undefeated Clay at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Folley said he will weigh between 200 and 205.

Folley, a mild, stolid, modest man, almost has to be prodded to comment on the fight. He now says, "I will beat him by decision or knockout. I will be the next champion Wednesday night."

He says it as if making a memorized speech.

A pro 13½ years and unbeaten in his last 12 fights, Folley has a 74-7-4 won-lost-draw record including 40 knockout victories. He has been stopped five times.

In boxing circles they whisper that "Folley blows the big ones. He doesn't have the heart. He'll freeze against Clay."

Newsmen put the delicate question to Folley. He didn't get upset.

"I've heard that talk," he said. "But I know I won't freeze. He's not a Joe Louis. puncher. He's not a Joe Louis. I've been in with some deadly punchers — Sonny Liston and Johnny Summerlin (both knocked Folley out a few years back). They could really punch.

"But he's not a deadly puncher. I think I'm a deadlier puncher than he is. And I think I can punch just as fast as he does. Remember, I've scored 40 knockouts. I must be able to punch."

Clay has a 28-0 record, including 22 knockouts.

Ernie Terrell went 15 rounds with Clay when the champion retained his title on a decision at Houston last Feb. 6. George Chuvalo also went the 15 round distance with Clay on March 29, 1966, and German Karl Mildenberger lasted 12 rounds until he was stopped on cuts last Sept. 10.

Clay, half serious and half joking, said yesterday after his last workout that Folley might go 15 rounds.

"I'm not a knockout fighter — I can't punch," said Clay. "All I want to do is to box and dance, be artistic and show class. That way the advertisers can get a chance to show their commercials on television."

Then, in answer to questions, he said ominously (for Folley) that his condition, mental attitude and weight would be about the same as it was for his second fight with Sonny Liston.

He weighed 206 pounds on May 25, 1965 when he knocked out Liston in the first round with one controversial punch at Lewiston, Me.

Don't Believe 'Em; A QB Has Got To Go

TRADE WINDS—Don't believe all that double-talk from the front office and coaching staff that the 49ers plan to keep three quarterbacks—John Brodie, George Mira and Steve Spurrier.

The chief of my Central Intelligence Agency tells me that before last Tuesday's pro football draft the San Franciscans tried unsuccessfully to deal Brodie or Mira to the New York Giants and that within the past few days they offered either Brodie or Mira or rookie Spurrier to the Chicago Bears for middle linebacker Dick Butkus.

STEVE SPURRIER

Papa Bear George Halas, who is really desperate for front line quarterback, nevertheless growled a loud no, No, NO!

The 49ers are still dickering with the Bears and also dangling their wealth of quarterback talent before the hungry eyes of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

You can wager that San Francisco will have two and not three quarterbacks next season. Take it from old Shamus. My spies are everywhere.

Take It Or Leave It, Juan

MY OTHER undercover agent reports from Phoenix that the Giants have rephrased an old coin by telling pitcher Juan Marichal: "Call us, we won't call you."

This is the latest episode in Juan's holdout for more dinero. The Giants, you will recall, started the tug-o'-war by offering $90,000 but Juan balked (take a base) and demanded 125 thou. The Giants countered with $100,000 while Juan dropped to the $110,000 plateau.

Horace Stoneham and Chub Feeney, the Giant check signers noted for their fairness but firmness, refused to budge a nickle and are at the take-it-or-leave-it stage. Next move is Juan's and it's a cinch he'll take it and swallow his pride instead of bananas.

Greatest Scout In Chapman Clan

SUPER SCOUT—Irv Chapman, the well-heeled San Rafael shoe pedal-er (bless his sole), says he'll miss his annual junket to Arizona for Giants' spring training but adds, "Instead, we are sending the greatest baseball scout in the entire Chapman clan—my dad, Edward, who recently hit 78 (that's his age and not his last golf score).

"As he was raised with the Giants in the old Polo Grounds and can still quote batting averages, pennants and pitching records, we are certain he will bring back a thorough report on the 1967 team's chances, so hold back your predictions until you hear from him.

"Dad used to spend each year's vacation at the Polo Grounds and it's always been a family mystery that he didn't replace Bill Rigney as manager when Horace Stoneham brought up Tom Sheehan."

Check Of Russ' Tonsils Needed?

The senior Chapman drove to Phoenix with old friend Hugo Chiappari of San Rafael, a popular fixture around the local Elks Club.

Among the other Marinites who have trekked to Phoenix this spring are San Rafael Buick Baron Don Collins and Dr. Russell Klein of Larkspur.

The latter mixed business with pleasure. As sportscaster Russ Hodges' personal physician, Dr. Klein wanted to see if old golden throat's tonsils are in good shape for the April 11 opener.

And no, you wise guys, Dr. Klein is NOT a pediatrician.

BYE-BYE BABY!

New Legal Move By Clay To Avoid April 11 Draft

CINCINNATI (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay asked the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today to issue a temporary restraining order to prevent him from being inducted into the Armed Forces.

That was one of two motions filed by Hayden C. Covington, New York attorney, in behalf of "Muhammad Ali, otherwise known as Cassius Clay Jr."

The other motion asked for leave to appeal from a U.S. District Court decision at Louisville, which denied Clay an injunction.

The motion for leave to appeal from the Louisville court's decision said Clay would suffer "irreparable injury" if he is inducted.

It said Clay and his manager, Herbert Muhammad, had entered into contracts for a $250,000 heavyweight championship fight in Tokyo, Japan, on May 27; a $10,000 exhibition bout in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on April 15, and a $200,000 heavyweight championship fight against Thad Spencer at San Francisco.

It said Clay stood to lose $460,000.

'Offense' For U.S. Soccer

NEW YORK (AP)—The new National Professional Soccer League, in a move aimed at encouraging more offensive play by its 10 clubs, announced today the adoption of a unique point system to be used in determining team standings.

Under the system, a team will be given six points for a victory, three points for a tie and none for a loss. In addition, bonus points will be given for each goal up to the maximum of three in a game.

Thus, if a team wins a game 6-3, it will receive six points for the victory plus three bonus points for a total of nine. If a game ends in a 3-3 tie. each team will receive three points for the result plus three additional points for the goals.

Ken Macker, NPSL commissioner, pointed out that even if a team loses 6-3 it would be credited with three bonus points for the goals it scored.

Under the European soccer system, team standings are determined on a basis of two points for a victory, one for a tie and none for a defeat.

Cities represented in the NPSL which begins play next month, are New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Atlanta, Toronto, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Wet Games For Marin Baseballers

The busy, busy Tars are at it again.

After winding up a three-game, two-loss stint at the San Jose Invitational Tournament, College of Marin's baseball team treks to Yuba for the Yuba Invitational Tournament tomorrow beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The Tars bowed to San Joaquin Delta in the opener at San Jose, 8-1, came back to bounce Monterey, 5-2, then lost a mud-packed washout, 1-0, to San Jose City College in a game in which the first run meant victory.

Former Novato standout Wayne Jones pitched a six-hitter in the victory over Monterey, but Ralph Garner did him five better against San Jose, as he pitched five innings of one-hit ball in rain and wind before an infield single, a walk, a sacrifice bunt, another walk and wild pitch undid him and the Tars.

Because of steady rain, it was agreed that the team to score the first run would win the game in the San Jose mudslinger. It still took five innings to do the job.

Catcher Phil Toble went three for three and Bob Lombardi had a 3-8 showing to highlight the Tar hitting for the tournament.

The Tars are now 4-8 on the season.

Raiders Sign Huge Lineman

OAKLAND (AP) — Richard Sligh of North Carolina College was signed last night by the Oakland Raiders, the American Football League team announced.

Sligh, 22, stands 7 feet and weighs 300 pounds. He was the Raiders' 10th draft choice and first of the 1967 draft crop to be signed.

The big lineman will report to the Raiders' training camp in July, a club spokesman said.

Both Teams Limping Into Playoff Opener

OAKLAND (AP)—The Western Division champion San Francisco Warriors and third place Los Angeles Lakers begin tonight a National Basketball Championship series which could reward either with $70,000 if it carries through to the NBA title.

A capacity crowd of 14,000 is expected to see the 8:30 p.m. tipoff in Oakland's new Coliseum Arena. The game will be broadcast by KNRB, San Francisco, but not televised.

How much Jerry West, the old West Virginia Mountaineer, plays could be a determining factor in the best-of-five series, although neither team is in top condition.

WEST HOBBLING

West, the Lakers' leading scorer with a 28.7 average, is suffering from 1, a broken nose; 2, a cut over his left eye; 3, a pulled hamstring muscle, and 4, a sprained and badly swollen left ankle.

"If I had to decide now if he would start," team physician Dr. Robert Kerlin said yesterday, "I'd have to say no. But tomorrow (Tuesday) he might."

The Warriors' key, Nate Thurmond, will start with a cast protecting a fractured bone in his right hand. The 6-11 ace picked off 1,360 rebounds although missing 20 games.

Guard Paul Neumann reinjured a charley horse Sunday and guard Al Attles missed the final road trip because of a back injury. Forward Tom Meschery probably will miss two games with a hand fracture.

STARTERS

However, the Warriors expect to start their NBA scoring champion, Rick Barry, averaging 35.6 points, and Fred Hetzel, (12) at forwards; Thurmond, (18.5) center and Neumann, (14.1) and Attles, (7.3), guards.

For the Lakers it looks like Elgin Baylor, (26.6-point average), and Tom Hawkins, (8.2) forwards; Darrall Imhoff, (10.8) center, and Archie Clark, (10.2), and West or Gail Goodrich, (12.1) guards.

Clark, a rookie from the University of Minnesota, is one of the league's hottest developments. He's averaged 17.5 points in his last 19 games, hitting 52 per cent of his floor shots.

The Warriors have won $17,500 as division champion and the Lakers $5,000 for third. Each gets $10,000 for showing up in this series.

CHAMPIONSHIP TRAIL

The winner advances to the division championship, best of seven games, where the winner gets $20,000 and the runnerup $15,000.

The division playoff winners then meet in another best - of - seven series in which the rewards are $35,000 to the NBA champion and $25,000 for runnerup.

All money won for the division championship and from the playoffs will be divided among the 12 team members.

The Warriors and Lakers play the second game at Los Angeles Thursday night and go to San Francisco's Cow Palace Sunday for an 11 a.m. Easter holiday television special.

Barry Ends NBA Season As High Man

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association has a new scoring king — but deposed ruler Wilt Chamberlain is still sitting pretty.

Rick Barry of San Francisco became the highest-scoring forward in NBA history and ended Chamberlain's seven-year reign by tossing in 2,775 points, according to final official statistics for the 1966-67 season released by the league office today.

But, while Barry averaged 35.6 points a game in 78 games for a comfortable margin over runner-up Oscar Robertson and third-finisher Chamberlain, Philadelphia's 7-foot-1 pivotman established five all-time records in leading the 76ers to their second straight Eastern Division title.

Chamberlain led the league in field goal percentage with a .683 mark, smashing his own 1965-66 record of .540. He set a record of 630 assists by a center in finishing as the No. 3 playmaker behind Chicago's Guy Rodgers, who broke the all-time record with 908, and Cincinnati's Robertson.

Wilt also connected on 35 successive shots from the floor in a four-game stretch, topping his previous record string by four, and extended his mark for most career points to 23,442 in eight seasons and his consecutive-game streak without disqualification on personal fouls to 624. Chamberlain has never fouled out of an NBA game.

Robertson scored 2,412 points, for a 30.5 average, and Chaberlain had 1,956, a per-game mark of 24.1. Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, Los Angeles' 1-2 offensive punch, finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in the scoring derby.

Chamberlain paced NBA rebounders with 1,957 for an average of 24.2 per-game. Bill Russell, Boston's player-coach, was second with a 21.0 average off the boards.

Cincinnati's Adrian Smith took the free throw title, converting 90.3 per cent of his shots from the foul line.

THORNY PENNANT?

Giants Lead Cactus Loop

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Willie Mays has his first homer of 1967, Gaylord Perry seeks to continue a shutout skein and Cesar Gutierrez maintains his bid to stick with the San Francisco Giants as a seasoned rookie.

Mays walloped his shot in the first inning with Jesus Alou on first base yesterday to account for the only two earned San Francisco runs in a 9-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale.

Wondrous Willie kept his batting average at .500 and has collected at least one hit in every game he has played.

Perry has pitched three and five innings in the Cactus League action to date without giving up a run and only five hits. The 21-game winning right-hander could be the Giants' opening day pitcher since Juan Marichal and the Giants are yet to come to terms.

Venezuelan Gutierrez got his big chance when regular shortstop Tito Fuentes injured an ankle last Wednesday and the 24-year-old has taken advantage.

Batting .320, he collected two hits on Sunday and three yesterday including a triple in each of the two games.

The Giants mounted an 11-hit attack and gratifying was the five-inning pitching stint of Ray Sadecki, whom the club hopes will come back to give support from the southpaw side.

Sadecki went five innings, gave up three runs and emerged with the victory. Right - hander Art Mahaffey, battling to win a place with the Giants, gave up three tallies in two frames while Lindy McDaniel shut out his former teammates over the final two.

Mays' homer came off Joe Niekro, the rookie trying to make a success with the Cubs and follow his brother Phil to the major leagues.

The Giants' victory put them atop the Cactus League exhibition game standings with a 7-4 record, their last four outings successful. The Cubs, who met them again today in Phoenix, stood at 6-5.

Increased Support Shown For 'Open' Tennis Play

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The record showed increased support today for open tennis, the source of a controversy raging within the sport's governing bodies the world over.

In a meeting which saw tempers flare, the Australian Lawn Tennis Association voted yesterday to urge a two-year trial period for open tennis.

The tennis-minded Australians voted to take the proposal before the International Lawn Tennis Association meeting July 12 at Luxembourg.

By its action, the Australian group joined Herman David, the director of the famed Wimbledon tournament, in pushing to take down the barriers preventing amateur players from playing against professionals.

The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, in favor of open tennis in 1962, now is on record with a resolution instructing its delegates to the ILTF meeting to oppose open tennis.

However, there is some strong pr-open sentiment in the United States.

In open tennis the pros would play strictly for the purse, with no appearance money, and the amateurs would play under existing conditions. The association staging the tournament would be responsible for the purses, which would be obtained through sponsors.

Farnsworth Wins At Peacock Gap

Bud Farnsworth, playing to a 10 handicap, finished one inch from the 19th hole Saturday to win the Peacock Gap Men's League flag golf tournament on the San Rafael course.

JIM MURRAY

Wilton N. Chamberlain Vs. William F. Russell

For every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction.

This law of physics, provable in the laboratory by the principle of the bazooka gun, is provable in basketball by the presence of William Felton Russell. If it weren't for William Felton Russell, Wilton Norman Chamberlain would long since have digested basketball and now be spitting out the bones. When Wilt Chamberlain first ambled out on a court in the NBA in the winter of 1959, the rest of the league shuddered and murmured, "I only hope it's not hungry."

IT IS NOW eight years later, and Wilt has gobbled up nearly every record lying around loose—most points, lifetime; most points, season; most rebounds; most field goals attempted; most field goals made; most points in one night (100). He has won everything but the world championship. Bill Russell has jammed that bauble right back down hist throat year after galling year.

ONE RESULT is, Wilt has wandered around about the league like a waif with a note tied to him. He has devoured coaches along with rebound records. Dolph Schayes, Neil Johnston, Frank McGuire disappeared like aspirin tablets, Wilt worked his own side of the street and the way to get along with him was to call him "Mister" and get out of his way. He was as hard to handle off the court as on it.

ALEXANDER MURRAY Hannum was kind of the coach's version of Wilt Chamberlain. He plied up and down the league like a tramp steamer, too, and the two passed each other frequently. They tied up at the same dock only once. Alex was pausing at San Francisco and so was Wilt. And two curious things happened: An otherwise weak San Francisco team went all the way to the championship finals, and Wilt Chamberlain, whose assists totaled 148 in his great scoring season of 1960-61, suddenly had 403 assists.

AN ASSIST in basketball is like the hit-and-run in baseball. It's not as good in one situation as a home run and not as dramatic in any situation. But, if you ask a manager whether he'd rather have 40 homers out of his cleanup hitter—or 340 hit-and-run executions, don't expect him to hesitate too long.

When Wilt Chamberlain went back to Philadelphia from San Francisco (for one player who never showed up and two who might as well not have) his assists promptly dropped back to 250. If you needed Wilt, you look for him under the offensive basket.

THAT'S WHEN Hannum got fired at San Francisco and hired at Philadelphia—and found he had an old world to conquer. One of the troubles playing with the Old Wilt was that the basketball was just a rumor for the other four players. A golf caddy has as much to do with winning or losing a tournament.

QUITE SUDDENLY, though, the Philadelphia 76ers turned out to be the best team that ever played the game. One of the reasons was that Alex had put into port with this team when it was the Syracuse Nationals. He wove Wilt Chamberlain into the team rather than vice versa. If you look at the records, you will see the team has won a boggling 68 games while losing but 13. It is a team in the tradition of the 1927 Yankees, the 1940 Chicago Bears, the 1947 Fighting Irish. If you look down in the "assists," you will see why. Wilt Chamberlain has over 600. More than any non-guard has ever made in this league.

ASSISTS ARE supposed to be made by guys who have to stand on tiptoe to shake hands with center in this league. Bob Cousy made assists records. Oscar Robertson holds the all-time record of 899. Stuff-shot specialists like Chamberlain are supposed to hand the ball over only to referees. But, quite suddenly, assists were being made from above, not below. Chamberlain's reach such that he can almost hand the ball as far as most can throw it. The first five feet of his "passes" are arms—which makes interception with anything short of an axe impossible.

THE ISSUE is squarely up to the "equal and oposite reaction" in the forthcoming playoffs. Bill Russell could handle the old head-hunting Wilt Chamberlain, the free-swinging home-run hitter. If Wilt starts luring him out from the basket and passing off to the open man over his head, the game of basketball had better head for the hills. Or the only trace of it will be a belch from the vacernous stomach of W. N. Chamberlain, game-eater.

Abalone Tide Coming Saturday; Quick Review Of Regulations

STEVENS

With the 1967 season now six days old and with the next low tide coming this Saturday, a quick review of the rules and regulations governing abalone picking is in order.

Abalones may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. A 1967 sportfishing license is required and the limit is five abalones regardless of the type.

Abalone pickers and divers are reminded that there are different size limits, however. The minimum limit—measured over the maximum shell diameter are: Red abalone, seven inches; green abalone, six and one-quarter inches; pink abalone, six inches; black abalone, five inches; all other species six inches.

YOU MUST CARRY an accurate measuring device to properly check each abalone of doubtful diameter. And, get this: Anyone finding he has picked an undersized abalone must return it to the rock from which it was plucked. Abalones brought ashore must be alive and attached to their shells, the regulations state. It is illegal to bring home any abalones not attached to their shell.

You divers are reminded that scuba gear may not be used in the taking of abalones north of Yankee Point in Monterey County.

FOR THE benefit of tyros at the game of abalone picking, abalones may be found almost any point along the coast where rocks abound.

Regardless of the temperatures of air and water, the wise guy wears warm clothing—preferably woolen underwear, old trousers, woolen shirt and old shoes. Remember that the rocks you will negotiate are extremely slippery, and that you will find few if any abalones near or on top of the rocks. It is much betterf that you get in the water and stay there while exploring the sides and overhang of each partially submerged rock. Have with you, beside the measuring stick, a metal pry. (a half auto spring makes a good tool for prying off an abalone.)

THE WISE guy also has with him a strong sack (a gunnysack is suggested) to hold the abalones. Last, but very important, have along in your car a complete change of dry clothing.

Mays Not Talking About Home Runs

By JACK STEVENSON

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Willie Mays shrugs off the suggestion that he may be the one to break Babe Ruth's lifetime record of 714 home runs.

"I don't even want to talk about home runs," the San Francisco Giants' centerfielder said today. He hit his first homer of the spring yesterday as the Giants beat the Chicago Cubs 9-6.

With 37 last year, the Mays' total reached 542, second only to the great Bambino.

To the suggestion he might be more relaxed this spring after reaching goals expected of him in the homer department last season, Mays answered "I'm just doing the same things getting ready this spring as I usually do. At least I think I am.

"Pressures last year? Just the one, No. 512."

That was the one which topped the National League record established by the late Mel Ott of the New York Giants.

Willie equalled Ott's record with No. 511 off Jim Owens in Houston's Astrodome on April 24.

After nine trying days during which cameras trained on his every swing and newsmen crowded Candlestick Park's pressbox, Mays drove a pitch by the Dodgers' Claude Osteen out of the premises.

On Aug. 16, he hit No. 534 which tied him with Jimmy Foxx as the greatest right-handed home run hitter of all time. This time the deadlock lasted only a day as he hit No. 535 off the Cardinals' Ray Washburn.

Reaching age 36 on May 6, Mayes faces a tremendous task to reach the Ruth mark, yet no one watching him this spring would term it impossible.

He hit safely in the first six exhibition games, was given a vacation the next day and came right back with hits in the next pair, two for extra bases. So it goes with the star who broke in with the Giants in 1951 as the Say Hey Kid and now rates as the club's elder statesman, the captain of the team, with a $125,000 annual salary.

When a newsman at another game wondered out loud whether the Giants might, in later years, try Mays at first base similar to the Yankees' experiment with Mickey Mantle, Cleveland shortstop Larry Brown quipped:

"Sure, maybe when he's 65."

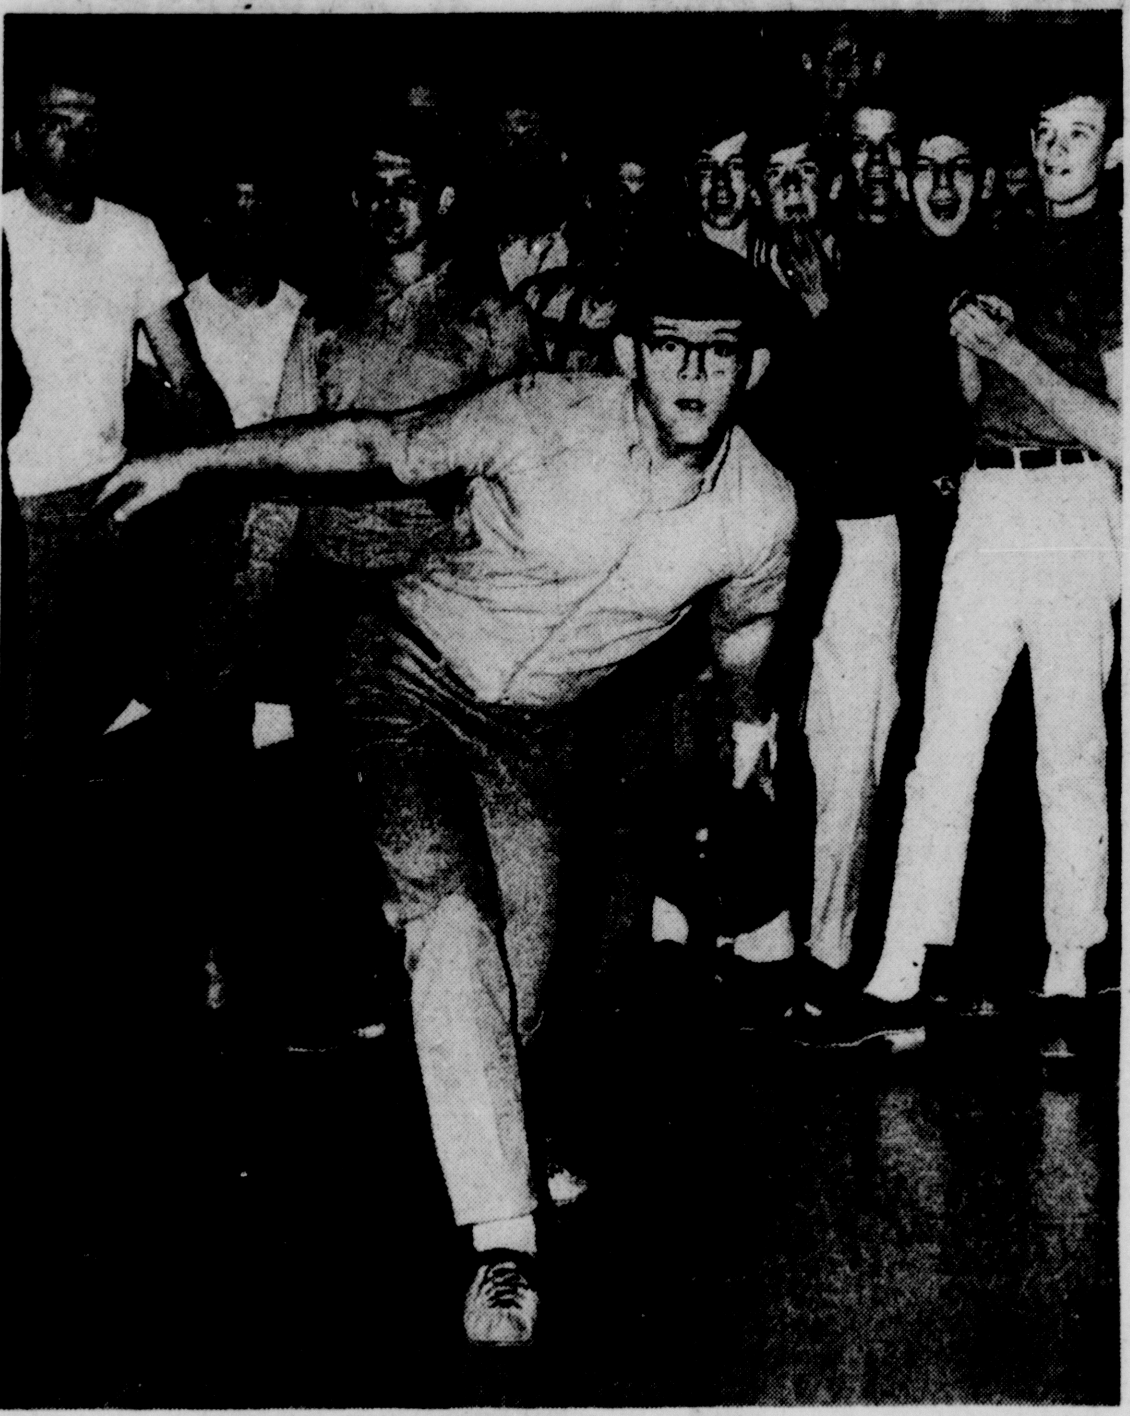
Although his average fell to .288 last season, lowest for him since .274 in his first major league season, Mays established three major league records, tied two more and set four National League marks and equalled another pair.

And for the 13th time, Willie was selected to the All Star team.

He much prefers talking about the ball club than records.

"I think the club will be stronger ," he said. "The pitching was good last year but you can always use help. The bench should be better with Norm Sibern and Billy Sorrell plus guys like Jim Davenport and Jack Hiatt."

He mentions other fellows and other factors, but once again a key factor must be the man in centerfield.



52 HOURS LATER

Steve Dreier, junior counselor for the Mill Valley DeMolay chapter, throws a record-breaking ball at Greenbrae Lanes yesterday at 1:30 p.m. as the Mill Valley chapter, using approximately 25 bowlers, cracked a 52-hour marathon bowling mark set by a Michigan chapter. The Mill Valley group started at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and planned to finish this afternoon at 5:30 for a streak of 80 straight hours. They plan to break that new record sometime this summer. Stars Galore In NBA Playoffs But Watch Out For Those Bulls

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The stage is set tonight for the National basketball Association playoffs, and the spotlight will be on such stars as Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Oscar Robertson and Rick Barry.

But watch out for those guys in the wings.

They're the Chicago Bulls, and they would like nothing better than to steal the show hardly anyone thought they would be in.

This looked like the year the Detroit Pistons would make the playoffs for the first time since 1962-63, but the Bulls, in their first NBA season, pulled off a major surprise by beating out the Pistons for the fourth and last playoff spot in the Western Division.

Early in the season, Player-Coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks said of Chicago:

"They'll be lucky to win 10 games this season."

33 VICTORIES

But they did win 33 en route to a playoff berth, and if they win three more, Guerin and the Hawks will be through for the year.

The Hawks, second in the West, and Bulls meet tonight in St. Louis in the first game of a best-of-5 series.

Other first-round openers have Eastern Division winning Philadelphia at home against third place Cincinnati, fourth-place New York at Eastern runner-up Boston and Western winner San Francisco at home against third place Los Angeles.

The Bulls are led by veteran Guy Rodgers, obtained in a trade with San Francisco, who set an NBA assist record of 908 this season. St. Louis' strong point is offensive rebounding.

Philadelphia and Boston, the latter seeking its ninth straight world championship, figure to have little trouble advancing to a semifinal series against each other.

Philadelphia beat Cincinnati eight times in nine games during the season, and the Celtics have whipped New York 19 straight times dating back to March 17, 1965.

Cincinnati will have to stop Hal Greer's outside shooting, the 76ers' strong rebounding and of course Chamberlain, who has the added incentive of never having played on a world championship team.

MARIN'S 'IKE' LIVERMORE

Resources Chief Praised

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

NORMAN B. LIVERMORE JR.
Sound judgment

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Norman B. "Ike" Livermore Jr. of San Rafael, the new administrator of California's resources agency, has shown some pretty sound judgment in his couple of months in office.

First off, of course, was Livermore's insistence that Walter T. Shannon be retained as director of fish and game. Some circles in the adminsitration of Governor Ronald Reagan wanted to make a clean sweep of all state directors, based on the huge plurality for Reagan at last November's election.

But this element found it a bit difficult to replace Shannon. He has been with the department for nearly 30 years and served as an executive in the department under Governors Earl Warren, Goodwin J. Knight and Edmund G. Brown.

VETO POWER

Livermore reportedly had the veto power over an appointment in his agency and apparently used the veto on all other candidates, with the result that after about three months of waiting, Shannon got the nod for reappointment.

Shannon's operation of the department should fit in well with the new administration, as he has operated an efficient department and kept costs down.

Livermore had some pretty sensible things to say about private hunting and recreation the other day too. He noted the fish and game commission recently had adopted a policy of encouraging hunting and fishing on private lands by providing guidance for the participation of private landowners.

Livermore reported that the number of private pheasant hunting clubs in California had increased in the past 10 years from 107, with 56,000 birds taken, to 193 clubs with 176,000 birds taken in 1965-66. He said the popularity of the state cooperative areas began to dwindle, despite practically no cost.

"Of course, this dashes another myth," Livermore said. "For on our public hunting areas, or any of our public recreation areas away from the centers of our cities, the people we are usually providing for are not the truly underprivileged.

"For the really underprivileged lack the automobiles and the gear and all the other things to take advantage of the 'free' opportunity," he said. "The person who makes most use of hunting and fishing facilities is the average middle-class citizen, the man with the car and the boat and the scope sight, the trailer and the camper and the tents and stoves and lanterns and all the other gear you see when you get out on the road.'

AVERAGE EXPENSE

Livermore said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service estimated the outlay for such a person at $123 a year and said he's certain it's more for many of them.

"He already has made a sizable investment," Livermore said. "And like most investors, he is likely to be willing to 'put a little more with it' if that seems to promise a more certain return."

Livermore said he did not mean that public agencies should abandon their responsibility in favor of the private sector.

"I am only saying that there is a role that the privatesector can plan, that there are ways in which it can help to meet the public need." he said.

Marin Prep Sports Again Washed Out

Rain halted everything on the Marin County Athletic League spring sports practice schedule yesterday, but the Healdsburg Invitational Baseball Tournament in which both Marin Catholic and Redwood high schools are involved was scheduled to resume today with the semi-finals and end with finals tomorrow.

In yesterday's slated track action, Marin Catholic was forced to cancel its meet with Cardinal Newman, while the only other event, Marin Catholic vs. Riordan in golf, was also washed out.

The Marin Catholic Linksters have now suffered three straight washouts—Washington, St. Ignatius, and Riordan—but previously managed a split with Novato . . . and are scheduled to meet both St. Ignatius and Riordan later during the season.

Saint Bill Leads 49er Cage Team

A Saint and a fellow nobody yet has called a saint tore into a Novato faculty basketball team last Friday as the San Francisco 49er All-Star basketball team won an exhibition cage game at Novato 93-82.

Bill Kilmer, who is now a New Orleans Saint, pumped in 25 points and Monty Stickles, the 49ers' much-abused and controversial end, clicked for 27 points. And Stickles didn't even foul out.

The 49ers won it by outscoring the Novato faculty, 33-16. in the final period. Novato led at the end of the third quarter, 66-60.

Ken Anderson was high for Novato with 16 points and Bob Martin had 15 points.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We own 13 shares of General Reinsurance Corp., bought years ago. This has been fluctuating between 280 and 300. Our investment pays us only $26 a year. We are 65, retired, and wonder if we should sell despite the excess profits tax. We need income, rather than growth. Why does it fluctuate so much?" E. H.

A. I congratulate you on your profitable investment. You own an excellent stock, but if you require a better return I believe you shouldn't allow the capital gains tax to deter you from selling. In your circumstances the tax impact might be less than you expect, but if you are concerned about it, you should consult a tax specialist for specific advice.

You could increase your income about $13 a month by switching into 30 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey and 55 Duquesne Light, and I advise you to do so. Now as regards fluctuation, what seems to you to be a wide trading range is only a moderate variation on a percentage basis—which is what counts.

Q. "Would you advise us to buy Melville Shoe? I have never read about it in your column." R. M.

A. Melville has been mentioned here frequently but yours is the first inquiry I have had for over a year. The company is one of the largest shoe manufacturers and retailers in the U.S. The shares have shown rather wide variations in earnings in the past, but operations have been upgraded and results have improved considerably since 1962. I believe the shares are reasonably attractive for further appreciation.

Early Gain Erased At Market's Close

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market failed to hold a small gain and was slower at the close today. Trading was active.

Wall Street had some fairly encouraging news, including a statement by Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board that an economic upturn is likely as 1967 progresses.

Stock prices failed to respond to this stimulus, however, and the result was some discouraged selling.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.94 million shares compared with 6.33 million yesterday.

Gains outnumbered losers by about 3-2 but there was considerable softness among blue chips with the result that the averages rose only slightly.

There was little of a definite nature in the news background to spur prices one way or the other.

Brunswick paced the list on volume and rose fractionally.

Gulf and Western Industries fell more than 2 in lively trading.

Avco climbed nearly 2 and Admiral sank about 1½, both in active trading. Colt Industries rose about 1½.

IBM advanced about 4 points. Up about 2 were Alcoa and Xerox.

Losses of 2 points or so were shown by General Electric, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Loan Funding For Homes Is Loosening

There are some indications that loan money in Marin County for financing the purchase and construction of homes is loosening.

According to Daniel F. Deedy, executive manager of the Marin County Real Estate Board, "money has always been available—at a price." But that price has dropped about one-half of one per cent in the past six months, more properties are coming in for sale, there is more enthusiasm on the market since November and December, says Deedy, "and the money lenders are now running around knocking on the door."

James W. Barnett, manager of Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn., reported the average interest rate for new loans on existing homes is now about 6 and three-quarter per cent. "As long as we pay 5 and one-quarter percent to depositors I do not believe that rate will come down," he said. According to Barnett, savings and loan associations now find themselves in a position of having surplus funds, due to an increase in savings accounts.

Marin County real estate loans by savings and loan associations in November totaled $2,251,080; in December, $2,798,130, and in January, $2,552,350, according to the Data Sheet of Title Insurance and Trust Co. But John A. Zandstra, treasurer and controller of Ross Valley Savings and Loan, reported his firm's loans have increased in February and March. "It takes about 60 days before an increase in lending is registered in the figures," he said.

Zandra attributed more money becoming available for home loans in part to the fact that "rates on government securities are no longer so attractive as they were."

Kenneth Boosey, manager of the Northgate office of American Savings and Loan Association, confirmed that more money is available and said he expects increased activity in real estate sales and construction this spring and summer.

This is by the Grand Avenue Bridge and the property extends from Francisco Boulevard to the canal.

THE NEW Richfield service station on Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, across from Banfield Rug Cleaning, is now open and is being dealer-operated by young Henry A. Haberman Jr. of Ross, who has recently returned from a three-year stint with the Army in France.

Haberman grew up in automotive work, helping his father, who owned Ross Automotive Service for about 20 years.

HICKORY FARMS OF OHIO has opened in the Red Hill Shopping Center, San Anselmo — another franchised store of Richard Goebel, who also has the one in Strawberry Town and Country Village.

Up To Parents To Keep Reckless Youth Off Hwy.

Last week in this space we described a Michigan law that gives parents control over teen-age drivers.

California has similar laws that are even more stringent.

Whereas in Michigan, parents can yank the drivers' licenses of their children up to 18 years of age, the California Vehicle Code (CVC) gives parents control until their child is 21 years old (or 18 years old and married).

Section 17701 of the CVC provides that no application for a driver's license shall be granted to any minor unless signed and verified by the parents or guardian.

And a "minor," under the California vehicle Code, is defined as anyone under 21, except those who have been married and are over 18 years of age.

Section 17711 gives parents the authority to cancel a license of a minor. Parents "may file a verified application with the department, requesting that the license of the minor be cancelled."

Since the laws are in the books, and a simple procedure is available whereby parents can quickly take their minor children out of the driver's seat, responsibility for the reckless driving of teen-agers rests squarely with the parents.

Those who lament the reckless driving habits of their minor children and yet do nothing to bring such children into line are shirking their responsibility.

The most effective control over irresponsibility by minors is through their parents. And the parents have been armed with a legal weapon of control which can be invoked at their discretion.

Instead of sitting back and throwing up their hands at the behavior of certain minors on the highways, those concerned should be exercising parental authority and taking some of the load off law enforcement agencies.

Most young drivers are careful and responsible. But in the rare cases where minors disregard the warnings of parents and the laws of society, they should be taken off the highways. Parents have that authority; let them use it!

TEEN-AGER REPENTS STOLEN BIKE

A 13-year-old boy with a nagging conscience surprised police in Benton Harbor, Mich. The unhappy lad left a bicycle he had stolen next to police headquarters with this note attached to it:

"Dear Sirs: I am sorry I stole the bike. Here it is. Please don't look for me because I'm 13 years old and didn't realize the trouble I could get in."

The note was signed: "Yours truly, Mr. Sad."

To be conscious of one's own shortcomings and to show initiative in rectifying them is a healthy sign, especially in the young.

Many persons fall into a permanent pattern of wrongdoing because they are too embarrassed to admit they have done something wrong. Instead of frankly admitting mistakes before God and man, asking forgiveness and making amends, they gradually slip into habits of wrongdoing that are difficult to break.

Keep aware that the Lord knows all you think, say and do. Then you will avoid most transgressions and quickly rectify those into which you may fall.

"Godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation and brings no regret."

Reagan Taking Dead Aim At The Civil Service Hierarchy

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan may be getting into the real meat of cutting down state expenditures, which is the elimination of unnecessary personnel.

Reagan's executive secretary, Phil Battaglia, announced some 3,000 jobs would be cut out in an economy move, most of them in the department of mental hygiene.

EXPENDITURES WOULD be curtailed approximately $20 million a year as a result of this move, or at least, this is the amount that would show on paper.

Although Battaglia said in making the announcement that the governor's office had been assured the jobs to be cut out are in the surplus category, the usual plaint was heard from state employees that the services would be "ruined."

VIRTUALLY EVERY TIME an attempt is made in the direction of economy, and sound administration of government, either the civil service contingent, or some affected group joins the weeping parade in a desperate attempt to convince the people of the state that the world is coming to an end.

It is largely these kinds of moanings at the bar that have acted as deterrents to the reasonable administration of government on sound business principles. These types of complaints would not be recognized in private industry, whose operators generally have to make a dollar do a dollar's worth of work, else they will go bankrupt.

The practice in the past in government operation has been to let the taxpayer pick up the tab for surplus personnel.

It still is a practice, as the 3,000 jobs the Reagan administration plans to eliminate are only a drop in the bucket of what could be accomplished if the administration starts state operation on a business basis, rather than continuing the socialistic conception that the people of the state should support unnecessary employees.

ACTUALLY, ELIMINATION of the jobs is not expected to cause undue hardship, nor any great mass exodus out of any of the departments affected. It will be accomplished over a period of several months, and normal attrition or turnover will accomplish most of the objective.

The case-load under the mental hygiene program has dropped tremendously, the administration found, so the logical reasoning is that personnel should drop along with this decrease in the number of patients.

But in the face of this situation, every effort possible is being made to discredit the administration in its effort to effect economies which eventually will redound to the benefit of the taxpayers. And as all the people are taxpayers, the move can't be all bad, as those hurt, if anyone is, will be only the relatively few whose immediate jobs are affected.

ONE THING THE administration moves are pointing up is that the more jobs there are in any given department doesn't mean it has a great record of excellence in performance.

For a good many years, the civil service hierarchy has been engaged in the expensive process of empire building at taxpayer expense. This constitutes one of the evils of civil service. Once such a program gets under way, it's almost impossible to stop. However the administration's move in curtailment may serve notice that, sometime, the party has to end.

School Park Idea Liked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At the March 10-11 Community Assembly at Tamalpais High School, Penrod Moss of the Dixie school district spoke compellingly on the expanding possibilities of individualized instruction.

I admit I was sold — and so were many others. We would all like our children to have a completely individualized education. One question that disturbs me is — how can this be achieved under the centralized school-park approach advocated by many participants in this gathering?

Many seemed to feel that in such a large school complex, better teachers, smaller class size, more individual attention would somehow be magically achieved. But is this really true? Does "bigger" really mean "better"? From all I have heard, a large institution fosters regimentation and loss of identity, tends to have larger class sizes, and does not challenge the best teacher — who really wishes to have some control of her day, if she is to give her best to the children.

The "educational park" approach is idealistic. But is it workable? Let's remember — it's never been tried!

Hippy Cartoon Right To Point

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to commend the I-J's Paul Miller on his editorial drawing in the March 15 issue along with the letter in the same issue from Richard W. Shand of Mill Valley.

Mr. Shand expresses, "It is quite possible that the 'hippy' is representative of the failure of a section of our society." I would like to reaffirm this point by saying that in my mind the very existence of the "hippy" is a reaction of the young persons in the Bay Area to the revulsion that they feel toward the shallowness of the society which has been created for them by the white middle class.

We are seeing more of this rebellion from youth in our area. I, as a school teacher, continually see a type of rebellion, often directed towards myself, but perhaps only out of the feeling of frustration and contempt for my adult counterparts. A similar reaction appears on our university and college campuses and is again found in the music and literature of the young.

Can we, the middle class, sit back and pass judgment on these people? Can we condemn them upon the face of the iniquities in our middle class moralities? When we ourselves disregard the laws, as when we speed in our automobiles when no cops are in sight, or fudge a little on taxes, or cheat a little in business, can we really condemn their actions? When we take a "trip" on good old booze, or cheat a little on our wives, can we question their supposed decadent morality?

The "hippies" need not be regarded as a threat to our society from the point of law and order in that it appears that the only laws they tend to disregard are the poorly conceived narcotic laws. . . . Where the threat and the crime lies is in the loss of these productive persons in our society.

Small Wonder About Hippies

Editor, Independent-Journal:

What a shocker was voiced over the airwaves recently by an able officer of San Francisco's finest. In his comment he said, "A young girl could disappear in the dives of the Hippie Colony."

Much was revealed in a few short words. Crime is rampant in the Haight-Ashbury district in the city that knows how. In this fair city, Saint Francis, in the twilight zone dreamy do-gooders offer meeting halls plus facilities of coffee houses, with goodies, all for free. This is like sticking one's hand into a basket of rabid rattlesnakes. The hand that supplies the sustenance is bound to be bitten. Let no one forget these misfit Hippies are here to tear down the last vestige of law and order of any community.

We Marin-knights doff our helmets and with kudos praise the prompt action of our alert sheriff's office. They raided a Hippie hangout at Tomales Bay. In this roundup a missing young girl was found, sought by the San Francisco police.

The expeditious floater law is a dilly. Let other than us shoulder the grief is the attitude San Francisco is noted. Just dump the undesirable over the fence. Let the next county care for them.

No wonder San Francisco is now the Hippie Empire of the West. . . .

We counties that fringe the Bay Area must ever be vigilant against this abuse, by keeping these misfits out. In time "the city that knows how" would be forced to clean up their putrid mess, they so wittingly tolerate.

Some Real Facts On Assessments

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your readers and taxpayers must be completely bewildered by the governor's bill, by the inter-county 25 per cent of appraisal value for assessment purposes, the recommendations and bills by other legislators, the supposed benefits to property taxpayers by the state advancing certain monies to school districts—all supposedly to help reduce total property taxes.

It is a sad fact, however, that not one single one of these palliatives will accomplish such a purpose. . . . It is very definite that the 25 per cent inter-county average IS GOING TO RAISE PROPERTY TAXES. It is also a fact that to do away with the taxes on household furniture and store merchandise inventories can only decrease the property tax base. As a result the tax rate MUST be raised to get the same amount of revenue. Also it is a sad fact that the so-called school help WILL BE MORE THAN OFFSET BY HIGHER SCHOOL BUDGETS and by generally HIGHER property appraisals for assessment purposes.

It is a fact that when property taxpayers receive their 1967-68 tax bills you are going to find they have been increased by 15 to 50 per cent. . . .

Why everyone is so adamant against adopting a gross transaction and sales tax system for producing local revenue and doing away with property taxes, we simply cannot understand. Such a system would treble the tax base over the present state-wide property tax base and would spread the tax burden among ALL citizens on an equal basis. It is the ONLY system that would positively reduce the total taxes as paid by property owners at present, by more than 50 per cent. Is this so very hard for taxpayers to understand?

Critical Days Ahead After Shooting Ends In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Critical days for the United States come after the shooting stops.

No doubt many Americans would want the United States to pull out of Vietnam altogether after the fighting. It can hardly afford to and isn't likely to.

This country is now helping the South Vietnamese, who have had practically no experience in democracy, to set up a constitutional government.

They won't learn overnight. The country has strong factions. Many of the Viet Cong will choose to remain in South Vietnam when peace is restored.

If the United States withdraws in a hurry, one of several things will probably happen.

The new government will succeed, it will degenerate into a dictatorship, or under factional disputes will collapse into a chaos, making it possible for the Viet Cong to take over, with or without guns.

Viet Cong control in the end would make a bitter farce of all the American sacrifices in men, money and supplies.

President Johnson this week repeated one of the "basic objectives" for the American part in the war.

It is to give the world a "concrete demonstration that aggression across international frontiers is no longer an acceptable means of political change."

Would-be aggressors of the future can take that to mean war with the United States if they try what the North Vietnamese Communists tried on South Vietnam.

But — if the United States pulls out of South Vietnam too quickly, and the Viet Cong take over, two American reactions are predictable.

One is a feeling that all the American effort in Vietnam was in vain, the other is a reluctance to get involved in a similar episode anywhere.

Communism itself, if the South Vietnamese government collapsed from its own inadequacy or lack of American stand-by help, might conclude subversion, even though slower, would be better and less expensive than direct attack.

It is hardly an accident that the communique that Johnson agreed to at the Manila conference last fall was vague on the American pull-out.

It said "when the aggression has stopped. . .the people of South Vietnam will ask their allies to remove their forces and evacuate their installations as the military and subversive forces of North Vietnam are withdrawn, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence thus subsides."

The communique did not put a time limit on when South Vietnam should decide it was out of danger and safe enough to ask the Americans to leave.

The North Vietnamese have had their minds on the American stay, too.

Knowing the erratic and unreliable history of previous regimes in South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese have demanded in the past that American forces must be withdrawn before there can even be peace talks.

North Vietnam hasn't stressed that point lately. But the United States has ignored it, just as it has ignored French President Charles de Gaulle's suggestion that the United States must announce in advance that it will withdraw its forces before a peace settlement is reached.

Hiring Of Aussies Halts Russ Bases

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin is having second thoughts about building a strategic space tracking station in Australia — rivaling the big one the U. S. has there.

Reason for the Soviet's reversal is Australia's firm insistence on applying the same terms required of the U.S.

Key condition is that all personnel, including security, be Australian.

THIS DEMAND APPARENTLY chilled the Russians' enthusiasm for setting up a landbased tracking station "down under" as part of their vigorous man-on-the moon program.

With the exception of a network within the Soviet borders, the East European satellites and in Mali and Egypt, they have no worldwide system of land-based tracking stations. Instead they use specially equipped trawlers to monitor their orbiting cosmonauts and spacecraft.

U.S. authorities strongly suspect that these ships, loaded with radar and electronic devices, also are used for surveillance of U.S. space shots and military activities.

IN A MOVE TO EXPAND its limited land-based tracking network, the Kremlin sounded out Australia on erecting a station there. The response was prompt and cordial. Moscow was told it would be most welcome; that every facility would be extended to make the proposed station a success — including providing the necessary Australian technical and other personnel.

To Russian protests at this, the Australians pointed out the U. S. was required to do the same, and obviously no partiality could be shown another country, particularly one that wasn't an ally.

This ended the discussion — and Soviet plans for a land-based tracking station in Australia.

The Russians are extremely secretive about their space operations. Apparently, they gagged at the idea that foreigners would man one of their tracking stations as demanded by Australia.

The U.S. has had no difficulty because of that condition.

ITS TRACKING STATION, about 40 miles from Canberra, is one of the largest and finest in the world. It is run by 140 Australians, 90 of them engineers, under contract with the U.S. Aeronautics & Space Administration.

The U.S. has a $400 million worldwide network of space tracking stations that includes facilities in Bermuda and Antigua in the Caribbean, Ascension Island in the south Atlantic, the Canary Islands off Morocco, Malagasy in the Indian Ocean, Guam and Canton Islands in the Pacific, and in Spain, South Africa and Mexico.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Spring Marks Novato's Annual Battle Between Dogs And Yards

It is that time of year again when the annual battle between people and dogs come to our attention. During the rainy season, the people are more confined indoors and do not notice the neighborhood dogs roaming.

With the spring weather, people are working in their yards and growing disgusted with having to clean up after dogs. Also some canines can do much damage to newly planted flower beds.

THAT IS NOT the only problem. This spring in the greater Novato area there have been many sheep killed by dogs. Every few days the people report more sheep lost. There have been thousands of dollars worth in the past two or three months.

Buck Azavedo, who has been in the sheep raising business for many years, said that a good ewe, producing both wool and lambs, would be worth about $50. A registered lamb or sheep might go as high as $250 to $450, he said.

Some of the sheep killing dogs have been identified and their owners notified. We do not know whether restitution for the damage has been made or not, but the needless slaughter continues.

Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said that the best protection a person has for his flock of sheep is to shoot the dogs. If he does, he has immunity from the law against shooting inside the city limits because he is protecting his own property, the chief said. Of course, this hinges on catching the dog in the act.

There is an animal control law in effect, the chief said. This law does not require that an animal be chained at all times, but it must be under the control of its master and not running loose.

THAT IS the crux of the situation. Far too many people turn their dogs loose late at night or the first thing in the morning. The dog runs off his energy, covering a wide range of territory and then returns home to lie meekly around the yard or house for the balance of the day.

Most of the sheep killing in the Novato area has been done early in the morning. This probably holds true for other messes as well.

The control of animals is placed in the hands of the Marin County Humane Society. When their truck patrols the area, usually midmorning and afternoon, the dogs are safely at home.

Di Grazia says he thinks that the Humane Society is doing a good job of animal control.

MANY PEOPLE have complained to us that the society does not do well. In fact, there is considerable talk of Novato having its own dog catcher or animal control officer. Such a person could be on hand in the early morning hours or at night when the dogs are allowed to run.

The chief said that this would be a fantastic cost to the taxpayers.

Charles Foster, finance director for Novato, said that the city has collected $4,700 in dog licenses so far this fiscal year. As we understand it, this goes to the Humane Society for animal control.

THIS FIGURE might be increased if through better patrol, all dogs were licensed, although Di Grazia said he thought that the majority of the dogs were licensed.

Why should dog licenses alone be made to carry the cost of all animal control? Why not license cats and other animals? It is also a matter of record that the Novato police receive many calls to corral horses and cows that have broken out into the streets.

Between the cost of added licenses and the fines which people would have to pay to reclaim their captured pets, the animal control office might pay its own way.

As it now stands, there are many people dissatisfied with the animal control as it now exists in the Novato area.

Most dog owners are careful with their pets, and such a change in the law enforcement of the animal control law would not affect them.

I, TOO, have a dog, but it is not allowed to run at large.

The 'Oily Bird' Is Really The Bird To Be Aware Of

I DON'T SAY Lewis Carroll was wrong when he warned, "Beware the Jabberwock, my son, the jaws that bite, the claws that catch," but I do say the Jabberwock is nothing compared to that predatory feathered vertebrate, the cuckoo. That's the bird to beware of!

There are many species of cuckoo, but all show the same family traits. They will seize any territory that looks good to them, by fair means or foul, and then claim permanent possession; and they have a habit of slipping their eggs into the bottom of others birds' nests to be hatched, which gives them a lot more free time than most parents.

Indeed, what with having invented the doctrine of squatter sovereignty and being the first to use baby sitters, the name cuckoo seems incongruous. Who's loony now?

EVEN THE CUCKOO EGGS show their genes by being precocious and hatching before the more legitimate ones. They thereupon kick the rightful eggs out of the nest and thus get all the food meant for the brood.

The foster-parents must often wonder why, out of five or six ova, they wind up with only one offspring — and that one with no resemblance to his father. A thing like that has been known to lead to the divorce court — with the real parents snickering to themselves.

But, for today's lesson in political ornithology, I propose to concentrate on the human cuckoo, that rara avis, the Professional Liberal, popularly known as the Oily Bird, because of the utter unctuousness of his call. (In Brooklyn, he's known as the "oily boid" and is said to subsist entirely on woims, an insect peculiar to that locality.)

COME TO THINK OF IT, he's not as rara as he used to be. On some college campuses —their favorite habitat — the species is as thick as the proverbial fleas on a hound dog. The dog is still there, of course, but you can't see the forest for the fleas.

By much the same method of proliferation, they have taken over the academy groves which gave them sanctuary— tenure is the technical term— and lived to regret it, like the Arab who let the camel into his tent.

When they lift their voices in viscous song, dripping with liberal cliches, the quieter campus voices are drowned out and few know they even exist.

E.G., UCLA HAS the reputation, like its sibling colleges, of being entirely the abode of the left, a condominium off-grounds to rightists. Yet its economics department has many conservative teachers. Indeed, the famed Milton Friedman of Chicago U. is just now winding up a highly popular three-month session at UCLA.

I say highly popular because I recently attended an extracurricular evening lecture he delivered to a hall filled with Business School alumni and students. Now it is no secret the prof. was for Goldwater, and I half-expected that a group of UCLA cuckoos would burn themselves to death in protest at this desecration of Alma Mater.

But I was grievously disappointed. Not even a riotous lie-down or sit-in. The lecturer was respectfully listened to and his sallies greeted with laughter and applause. Even the question-and-answer period that followed indicated the conservative tinge of the audience.

HOW THEN DO THE Oily Birds contrive to give UCLA the image of a leftish monolith? By using the same methods as their fellow-birds.

Thus, the campus daily is not a free-enterprise product, as many college sheets are, but is subsidized, willy-nilly, out of student fees. And the Oily Birds have managed, by squatter sovereignty, to seize control.

So when the liberal editor attacked Governor Reagan's tuition plan, he packed the paper with interviews and letters from faculty bigwigs who approved his stand. Never — so I'm assured by a member of his staff—did he ask for an expression from the conservatives of the economics department who lined up with Reagan. And so it looked like a Cook County landslide.

AND OUT OF THOSE same students fees came the money to send the editor to a Vietnik meeting in Chicago.

So never mind the Jabberwock. Keep your eyes on the Oily Bird.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Compliment To His Hostess Certainly Displeases Wife

"I must say you're an excellent bridge player," I said to my hostess as we left.

My wife waited until we had driven away from the door, and then she hissed, "How could you possibly say that?"

My wife was thinking of the next-to-last hand of the evening.

Opening lead — ♡ K

Our hostess ruffed the second round of hearts, drew a round of trumps and led out the ace and 10 of clubs.

West took the queen of clubs and returned the deuce of diamonds.

STOOPS TO CONQUER

Declarer played low from dummy and I managed to put the queen of diamonds on the table.

The lady fell on this with the king of diamonds like a wolf on the fold.

Then she led a diamond from her hand and turned the color of her eye shadow when West discarded a heart.

My two diamond tricks defeated the contract.

SHOULD REFUSE

"All she had to do was refuse that first diamond trick," my wife observed mournfully. (Guess whose partner she had been!)

It was true.

If I then returned the jack or 10 of diamonds, declarer could win in dummy and finesse through me with the king-nine.

If I returned the eight of diamonds, she could play the nine at once.

If I returned anything but a diamond, dummy could ruff while South discarded a diamond.

The game was certainly no matter how the missing three diamonds were divided.

"Then how could you say she's an excellent bridge player?"

"I didn't. My exact words were: 'I must say you're an excellent bridge player.' Isn't that what a good guest must say?"

"Very funny," said my wife. "Save it for the column."

And she turned on the radio.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ A K Q J 8 4
♥ 10
♦ K 9 7 4
♣ A 10

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is not quite good enough for a forcing opening bid, but it is far too good for a shutout bid.

Open with one of your long suit and await developments.

Public Servants Have It So Good

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—This city goes on summer schedule during January, February and March.

Government employees work from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and have the rest of the day off to go to the beach and enjoy the midsummer sun of the southern hemisphere.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, March 21, the 80th day of 1967 with 285 to follow.

The moon is between the first and full stages. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

American theatrical producer Florenz Zeigfield was born on this day in 1869.

On this day in history:

In 1790, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia became the first United States Secretary of State. He was appointed to the cabinet of George Washington.

In 1918, American and German soldiers fought in the key battle of the Somme.

In 1945, some 7,000 Allied airplanes dropped more than 12,000 tons of explosives on Germany in a daytime raid.

In 1962, Soviet Premier Kruschev pledged that Russia would cooperate with the United States in the peaceful exploration of space.

A Thought for the Day — German philosopher Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegal once said: "Life has a value only when it has something valuable as its object."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

What Do You Call A Perfect Home?

Must it have 4 bedrooms with least 3 baths upstairs? And a powder room off the entry hall — with a very formal dining room, and a breakfast room, and a really outstanding family-game room opening to a formal pool? Should the living room be huge with high ceilings, with a den tucked away for warmth & privacy — and should the style be something stunning and different yet with a motif strongly suggestive of the traditional? And should the site be heavily wooded with along, formal driveway leading to an absolutely private site which is level and drenched with sun, with an immense view, priced under $175,000?? Naturally! We have one listed for . . .

✲ ✱ ○ • SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

THE HEAVENS IN APRIL

Planetary Spectacular Scheduled

By JAMES STOKLEY
Science Service

The finest display of bright planets in years is the treat that April brings to the evening sky.

Mars this month is at its brightest, as it makes the closest approach to earth of this trip around the sun. It shines in the southeast, in the constellation of Virgo, the virgin. Sirius, the brightest nighttime star, is only a little brighter. It is visible in the southwest, in Canis Major, the great dog.

Venus, in the west, is still brightening and will reach its greatest brilliance in July. But even in April it far outshines any other object in the evening sky, except for the moon. At midmonth it will be nearly eight times as bright as Mars.

Jupiter is the third brilliant planet. It is in the southwest, in Cancer, the crab, and is a little brighter than Mars.

The accompanying maps show where the principal stars and planets are located about April 1, at 10 p.m., your own kind of standard time. The skies look about the same at 9 p.m. on the 15th and 8 p.m. on the 30th.

Venus, however, changes during the month, because it is moving rapidly across the sky. A line on the southern map, passing through Taurus, the bull, shows its path. Three of the symbols for a brilliant object show where it will be about April 6, 15 and 30.

Mars also is moving against the starry background, but not as rapidly. The map shows its position in the south at the middle of the month. Mars, distinguished by its ruddy hue, is about 10 times as bright as the nearby star Spica.

Jupiter moves more slowly than either Venus or Mars. It is in the southwest, in Cancer, but close to the border between that constellation and Gemini, the twins.

The maps show seven other very bright stars, that is, of the first magnitude in the astronomer's scale of stellar brilliance. Those close to the horizon, however, are dimmed because of atmospheric absorption.

Mars is the feature of the April skies. On April 21 it will be 55.85 million miles from earth, closer than it has been since 1958. Then it was 45.4 million miles away.

Mars goes around the sun every 687 earthly days (about one year, 10.5 months). The earth makes its circuit in 365 days. Thus, every 780 days (nearly two years, two months) we catch up to Mars. Both planets are then in the same direction from the sun and they are closest for that particular circuit.

The earth's average distance from the sun is about 93 million miles, but it varies 1.5 million miles above or below that figure. The distance of Mars from the sun varies much more greatly. It can come as close as 128 million miles, or recede as far as 155 million.

Thus, the distance of Mars from the earth at opposition (when earth is between Mars and the sun) varies considerably. At a late summer opposition we pass Mars when it is closest to the sun. Then it comes close to its minimum distance from us. This last happened Sept. 10, 1956, when the separation was only 35.2 million miles. At the following opposition, in November 1958, the distance was 45.4 million miles.

Then oppositions came in December 1960, February 1963 and March 1966, with Mars farther and farther away. In 1963 and 1965 the distance was over 62 million miles.

But now they are improving. After this year, the next opposition will come in May 1969. At the one after that, in August 1971, Mars will be even closer than in 1956—only 35 million miles distant.

Perhaps we can take advantage of that close approach by landing an unmanned space vehicle on Mars, to send back more information about its surface. From the Mariner IV space vehicle, which passed near Mars July 14, 1965, astronomers obtained close-up photographs that greatly altered many of their ideas about the planet. These pictures showed that the Martian surface is much like that of the moon!

The part that was photographed is covered with a variety of craters and rings very much like those of a lunar landscape. A few astronomers had previously suggested the possibility of craters on Mars, but such notions had not been widely accepted.

Out beyond Mars is a belt with swarms of tiny planets called asteroids, and some wander far from the middle of the belt. Many, undoubtedly, have hit the moon in the 4.5 billion years since our satellite was formed. Exploding on impact, they may have caused many, if not most, of the lunar craters. Probably the earth was similarly bombarded, but most of the terrestrial craters that resulted have since been erased by weathering and erosion.

They would have hit Mars as well. In fact, since it is nearer than earth to the asteroid belt, Mars should have been bombarded more heavily than earth or moon. However, the Mariner IV pictures seem to show only about a tenth as many craters as might have been expected.

This is only one of many mysteries of Mars. Some astronomers suggest that the craters, both on Mars and the moon, did not result from meteoric bombardment after all. They might have been caused by some internal disturbance. If we actually explore Mars and the moon during the coming decade, we may get the answers to such puzzles.

Killing Suspect Faces Questions

San Quentin Prison inmate Herman D. Brown will go before the prison disciplinary committee tomorrow in an investigation of Saturday's knife slaying of another prisoner, Bill Gene Cook.

Brown, described by Associate Warden Homer J. Hastings as chief suspect in the killing, was in an isolation cell today pending the committee appearance.

Cook was stabbed at 2:35 p.m. Saturday and died in the prison hospital half an hour later. Brown was treated for minor stab woulds at the prison hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Postnasal Drip Is One Of Most Common Ailments

VAN DELLEN

Postnasal drip is one of our commonest ailments. Mucus from the nose collects in back of the throat at the point of gag reflex especially when it is too sticky to escape spontaneously. The victim coughs, gags, or vomits in an attempt to dislodge it. Hacking is particularly bothersome in the morning.

The membranes of the nose and throat usually are covered by a thin layer of mucus that protects the lining and keeps it clean. As the secretion accumulates, it is carried down the back of the throat and is swallowed. In this respect a certain amount of postnasal drip is normal.

WHEN A COLD develops, the secretion increases and becomes thicker. The same occurs when the sinuses are involved. The mucus that gathers as a result of nasal allergy seldom adheres to the back of the throat.

Almost everyone with a postnasal drip is healthy. When in doubt, the sinuses are X-rayed and the nose and throat are investigated throughly. The disorder is more common in city dwellers who inhale polluted air. Overindulgence in alcohol and smoking does the same by increasing the secretions in back of the nose.

NERVOUSNESS AND changes in atmosphere may be causative when there is no evidence of infection. Many northerners are bothered in the winter months as they go in and out of overheated and underhumidified offices and homes.

The emotional origin is more difficult to explain. We know that some persons perspire more profusely than others and have more saliva and gastric juice. These secretions are controlled by the autonomic nervous system and so are the mucus-secreting glands in the nose. The nervous individual is hypersensitive to these secretions and is likely to complain more often.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request, to the Independent-Journal.)

PEELING PALMS

R.B.A. writes: What causes peeling of the palms of the hands?

REPLY

Contact dermatitis is the most common cause; the individual handles materials to which he is sensitive. Internal allergies can do the same except that peeling is not confined to the hands. Infections such as ringworm and syphilis are other possibilities. During the menopause, peeling occurs occasionally as a result of glandular disturbances.

COLON DISTRESS AT NIGHT

A. S. writes: Why is a spastic colon more troublesome at night?

REPLY

There is no reason why distress should occur more frequently at night and, in my experience, the majority of sufferers are bothered more during the day. Abdominal discomfort at night is more likely to stem from ulcer or diaphragmatic hernia.

DEPRESSION

Mrs. P. writes: What is hypomania?

REPLY

Mania is a mental disorder having symptoms that include excitability and instability. Victims who become subdued and somewhat depressed are said to be in a state of hypomania. Many drugs are capable of producing this effect.

SNEEZELESS

J. L. M. writes: Why can't I sneeze? I work up to the ker-choo stage and then nothing happens.

REPLY

If you insist upon bringing your sneeze to fruition, tickle your nose with a feather when the urge hits. Failure to sneeze is not an abnormality.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Fourth Network Will Debut Soon

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A fourth commercial television network, with a nightly two-hour show from Las Vegas as its entertainment keystone, is working toward a debut in the near future.

The organization, known as the UNITED Network, will put its Las Vegas program into competition with such late-night entries as NBC-TV's "Tonight" show and ABC-TV's upcoming Joey Bishop series.

SHOW SCENE

Studio facilities for the Las Vegas entry are expected to be finished by April 21 or thereabouts at the Hacienda Hotel, from which the new series will originate.

James Nichols, a key figure in the United Network—formerly known as the Overmyer Network — says 135 stations across the nation are set to carry the show, and that the number will probably go up to 145 or 150 by air time.

In an interview here, Nichols, a young Texan, said the Las Vegas series will have a single permanent host, as well as various rotating cohosts, and also a "Repertory company" of three men and a girl. Naturally there will also be guests and considerable attention to entertainment elsewhere in Las Vegas.

LONG FUTURE

Nichols said the United Network is interested in public affairs programming also.

"We want to take one step at a time," he said. "We expect to be around 25 years from now, and we want to move correctly and with no rush."

He added that the network is also contemplating moving into another area of programming, children's shows.

In the area of public affairs programming, Nichols said:

"It needs to be balanced in the first place, and it needs the full spectrum of political thought heard. I think that if the public has the chance to hear all sides, it comes close to making the right decisions.

"I have felt at times that we have not heard certain voices of the right and left because of a fear of controversy. It is out of all views and opinions that we get a consensus, and we intend to present a forum for all.

"As much as anyone has the capacity to try to assure that news is not slanted, we will dedicate ourselves to this. And in the area of editorial content, we will want to carefully label it as such."

The President of the UNITED Network is Ollie Treyz, who formerly was the boss at ABC-TV. Treyz naturally will report to the board of the new organization, but if a quick decision on policy is needed he will check with Nichols.

Singer's Widow Gives Mementos

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maria Cole, widow of singer Nat (King) Cole, presented two of her late husband's prized possessions to entertainer Wayne Newton yesterday.

Mrs. Cole gave Newton her husband's watch and his make-up kit in appreciation for Newton's appearance last Friday at a charity event marking Cole's 48th birthday.

Newton flew here at his own expense to appear at the Century Plaza Hotel. Money collected from the event, which attracted about 1,200 persons, was turned over to the medical library at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Nave Drive Yield Sign To Be Installed

The stop sign for southbound traffic on Nave Drive just north of Nave Lanes, Novato, will be replaced by a "yield" sign Friday, county traffic engineer James Robertson reported today.

The stop where the north off ramp enters Nave Drive has caused extensive backup of commute traffic.

Mark Twain's Huck Finn Is Under Attack

PASCO, Wash. (UPI)—Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," considered by many as the greatest American novel, was under attack from a local civil rights leader today because it contains the word "nigger." The leader has never read the book through.

Rev. Howard P. Hawkins, former president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he had asked that the work be removed from high school English classes.

In the book, Twain makes frequent use of the word "nigger" in reference to Huck's friend Jim, the runaway slave who emerges as one of the heroes of the novel.

Rev. Hawkins conceded he had never read "Huckleberry Finn" through, but the Episcopal clergyman said, "I read enough to see the word "nigger" appear about 100 times." One of the major themes of the novel deals with Huck's rising above intolerance through his relationship with Jim.

Public Meeting Slated On Drugs

A public meeting on LSD and marijuana will be held at 8 p.m. March 30 at the Novato Community House.

Jerry Van Raam, senior agent of the California State Narcotics Bureau, will show a film on the use of these drugs. A representative from the Novato Police Department will discuss their use at Novato High School, a representative from the Synanon House will tell of experiences with the drugs, and a physician will tell the medical side of the story. Following this there will be a question period.

Five Years Given In Burglary

Vincent John Frank Jr., 23, was given a year in county jail and placed on five year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for burglary and assault with intent to commit rape.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson also directed that Frank, who was returned from Atascadero State Hospital March 3 after a 90-day observation period, take psychiatric treatment.

Frank, of 227 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to burgling the apartment of John Tomczak and Dwain E. Essig at 190 Throckmorton Avenue last Oct. 3. He also pleaded guilty to assaulting a 19-year-old girl on Sept. 18, 1964, with intent to rape.

Police said Frank, once called the "Tamalpais Valley prowler," was arrested in the Throckmorton Avenue apartment after telling the occupants he broke in not to steal, but "looking for somebody to rape."

Prior to the latest commitment at Atascadero, he had served 21 months there for treatment as a sexual psychopath.

Bay Area Needs For Open Space To Soar By 80s

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The San Francisco Bay Area will need 40,000 more acres of open recreation land and 5,000 new campsites by 1980, a State Parks and Recreation Department report said yesterday.

The seven-county Bay Area will have a population of 6.2 million in 1980 compared with 3.5 million in 1960, and the demand for outdoor recreation "will more than double" the report said.

The new open space and campsites will be needed within an hour's drive of the Bay Area, the report said. Nearly 6,400 more campsites will be needed within a two-hour drive, said the report released by William Penn Mott Jr., California's new parks director.

CHP Officer Will Speak At Meeting

California Highway Patrol Officer Robert K. Richter will speak at a public meeting sponsored by Northgate Lodge of B'nai B'rith at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Terra Linda Recreation Center.

Richter will speak on traffic laws and violations, the CHP role in accident prevention, and the Marin County experiment with beefed-up CHP patrols to cut accident and violation rates. The talk will be accompanied by a Highway Patrol film. A question period will follow.

Annexation On Agenda Tonight

The North Marin County Water District board will consider the annexation of approximately 9,000 acres in the Point Reyes Station-Inverness area when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the district office at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

Public hearing on the annexation was held at the board's meeting on Feb. 7, but action was delayed by the board until tonight's meeting, when it will also consider the district's policy toward new areas.

Residents of the West Marin area petitioned the North Marin District for annexation after the area around Marshall was annexed to the district. The annexation was approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission. Of the 700 registered voters in the proposed annexation who were notified of it, only 12 filed written protests, said Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager.

Mod Jigsaws To Highlight Math Meeting

By ALLYSON WARD
Redwood High School Student

"Mod Geometrical Jigsaws" and "Computer Logic and Programming" are two of the topics that will highlight the second Redwood Student Mathematics Conference in Redwood High School's Little Theater on April 8 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

One hundred forty schools around the Bay Area have been invited to attend, according to Lyle Fisher, Redwood mathematics teacher who heads the conference. Students from Drake, Tamalpais, Terra Linda, San Carlos, Mission San Jose, and Redwood high schools will be among those attending.

Featured speakers will be Brother U. Alfred of St. Mary's College, who will lecture on "Discovering Mathematical Relations in Geometrical Networks," and Jean Lund of University of California, whose topic will be "Geometric Jigsaws Go Mod."

Speakers from Redwood will be Ed Seuringhaus, discussing "Coding Systems"; Mike Kast, "Lunar Orbital Planes"; Nick Suntzeff, "Flexgons"; Jeff Kirchmann, "Computer Logic and Programming"; Dave Treganowen, "What Domain of Prime Concern?"; Terry Shister, "Figurate Numbers"; Steve Bunker, "Tibonacci Numbers," and Gunnar Carlson, "Geometric Transformation."

The program has been arranged by the students.

10-Year-Old Writes About New School

Publicity about Reed School District's Granada School in Corte Madera, which has had several awards as a non-graded school without interior walls, has reached at least as far as the Bronx, N.Y., and inspired in a 10-year-old boy there the desire to attend the school.

He wrote a letter addressed to the principal of Granada School on March 6, saying:

"Dear sir,

"My name is Michael McNickle. I am very interested in your school and would like to enroll in your school immediately. But I am not a resident of California. How could I enroll?

"Respectfully yours,
"Michael McNickle."

A postscript from Michael's father, George McNickle, "authorized his son's inquiry and added that Michael is 10 years old and in the fifth grade.

Granada principal John C. Fitch replied to Michael and his father, commenting on the "difficult commute between New York and California" and enclosing a brochure with more information about the school.

Reed Trustees To Hear Report

Trustees of Reed School District will hear a briefing on the district's special education program at their meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

The briefing will be by Supt. H. Joseph Edgington and Reed School principal Jack Usilton.

A proposal for non-teaching salary raises amounting to $11,900 plus vacation allowances — which may run to $3,000 — will be presented by the district's newly formed chapter of the California School Employees Association. Superintendent Edgington will report on a study of salary raises for teachers.

Baking Art On Display

Lady Baltimore Bakeries, well-known in Marin for fine pastries and breads, are becoming specialists in custom cakes for weddings, receptions and special events.

To draw attention to this custom feature of their baking art, the Corte Madera Shopping Center outlet has on display for Easter two gigantic Easter motif cakes — one an Easter bonnet, the other an overflowing Easter basket.

The shopper who comes to Corte Madera Center to bring his child's Easter Bunny Coloring Contest entry can enjoy coffee, an appetizing sweet roll, or other pastries at the "at cost" coffee center Lady Baltimore maintains as a courtesy to Corte Madera shoppers.

Would Data Computers Destroy An American's Private Life?

WASHINGTON (SS) — A horrifying picture of a privacyless future was drawn recently for a Senate subcommittee studying the implications of a national data center that would computerize facts about individual Americans, their income, work, history and habits.

Although he did not oppose the establishment of the center, Arthur R. Miller, professor of law at the University of Michigan, insisted that "a range of controls, standards of care, and security techniques must be developed before the center is established.

"Science has destroyed our bastions of privacy," Miller said, mentioning the tools of eavesdropping and wiretapping now in use, and suggesting new ones for the future.

He agreed with subcommittee chairman Edward W. Long, D-Mo., that the "inefficiency of government in this field — where almost every American is chronicled somewhere from cradle to grave — is all that protects what privacy we have left."

The combination of computers with other advanced techniques in the immediate future bothered both men.

Miller suggested that "mail covers" (under which the Post Office Department observes the mail of suspected offenders) could be immensely speeded and broadened by optical scanners that could read the address and return address rapidly and store the information.

Further, Miller predicted a scanning device that could go farther — and actually read the letter inside without the bother of opening the envelope.

Any such data center, Miller predicted, would quickly develop branches around the country, and be more or less open to eavesdroppers along its telephone lines or microwave circuits. He recommended any such transmissions be scrambled.

Eventually, he said, it may be proved that computers themselves give off some clue to what is going on inside them, and that their secrets could be garnered from such emissions.

Moles, Warts Are Common Blemishes, Most Harmless

Almost everyone has a few minor skin blemishes such as moles or warts, and most of them are quite harmless. They can, however, be unsightly and in some instances uncomfortable.

A mole is a localized overgrowth of otherwise normal cells in the skin. They are commonly thought of as birthmarks, although in many cases they do not show up at once. They do, however, tend to disappear later in life.

The cells which overgrow to form the mole are those which are normally intended to form pigment. Moles may be raised or flat, colored either black or brown, or unpigmented, hairy or bare. They may be as small as a match head or may cover large areas of the body.

Only in very rare instances do moles become malignant. When they do, the cancerous growth is called a malignant melanoma. Malignant melanomas can be cured, especially if widely removed before any spread of the cells has occurred.

About most moles, nothing need be done.

Easter Bunny Coloring Contest Expanded Due To Great Response

Last year 14,000 Marin youngsters between five and 12 colored the Corte Madera Center Independent-Journal tabloid Easter Bunny "Color Me Contest," vying for the coveted, all-expense-paid trips to Disneyland.

That response exceeded all expectations as the youngsters poured into the center to submit entries and visit the Easter Carnival.

This year, through the cooperation of Corte Madera Merchants Council, 25 trips will go to children from ages 5-16, who submit the best color entries in their respective age categories.

If the response is as great as anticipated, the number of expense-free trips may be expanded to 100. The front page of this tabloid is the entry blank. Advertisement elsewhere carries contest rules. All entries must be in by noon Saturday.

Corte Madera Center's Easter Shopping Festival has been so successful that it is being emulated by a number of shopping areas throughout the state this year.

In Corte Madera, throughout Easter Week, shoppers and their children will have an opportunity to submit "color me" contest entries; enjoy the famous West Coast Shows Carnival; and feast "Sweden Soft Serve" cones, which will be available in a mobile unit tended by Job's Daughters of Larkspur Bethel, through the courtesy of Kelly's Refrigeration Service.

Rail Line Hit By Lion Slowup

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Apologizing for the recent late arrival of the night train to Morogoro, deep in Tanzania game country, East African Railways claimed lions were to blame

The driver picked out the pride in his spotlight as they straddled the line.

So hard did he jam on his brakes that a carriage was derailed.

One lion was run over and killed. The rest prowled around angrily, preventing repair work and delaying the train for six hours.

Lung Disease Deaths Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The number of American women dying each year from emphysema and chronic bronchitis has increased fourfold during the last 10 years, says Dr. Albert Roberts of the National Center for Chronic Disease Control.

A leaflet issued by the center attributes to cigarette smoking the rising toll of disability and death from the two lung diseases.

Richard I. Redmond, merchandising manager for Montgomery Ward in Corte Madera Center, has been elected president of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council, for a second term.

Redmond has been a rapid riser in the Montgomery Ward chain.

At 23, having completed a business administration major at San Jose State with a B.S. degree, Redmond was placed on a management efficiency team in the Oakland regional office.

Redmond was next transferred to Phoenix, where he was elevated to the post of merchandising manager. He then came to Corte Madera, where he has occupied the second spot.

He is active in Lions Club and Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife Sharon live in Mill Valley.

Serving as vice president is Richard G. Burns, Corte Madera attorney. Burns is past president of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, a former director of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce — which he helped organize, and a former secretary and director of the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Burns works primarily with family, business, and estate legal problems and was, for 10 years, associated with the late Judge George E. Crothers in San Francisco. He has maintained an office in Corte Madera for about five years, is a graduate of Stanford Law School and former case editor of the Stanford Law Review. He also attended University of California where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and organized the Inter-fraternity Scholastic Honor Society. He and his wife, Eloise, live with their two sons, Ken and Don, in Mill Valley.

Elected as directors are A. Munoz, manager of J. C. Penney; Louis Malvino, co-owner of Louis George; Arthur Poliquin, manager of W. T. Grant; Max Daoust, co-owner of Harmony Music Center, and Casper Borst, manager of Smith's.

B. A. Sill, manager of Crocker-Citizens National Bank, has been reappointed council treasurer; and Hollie L. Smith, insurance agent, renamed manager of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council.

Britain's Skies Rain Underwear

LONDON (UPI) — Flying saucers? No, flying panties.

Six pairs of panties —mini-panties to ko with mini-skirts— flew out of John Stevenson's light plane recently as he was flying over southern England with a consignment of women's clothing for a customer in Chatham.

Just to be sure no one got the idea some pantie-less Martians might be on their way, Stevenson promptly notified police of his loss.

Cubans Granted Oyster Wishes

MIAMI (AP) — Cubans like small oysters. Exiles here found only big ones until enterprising Pedro M. Martniez located a supply in Maryland's Chesapeake Bay area.

"Out there the oysters are so big that people throw away the little ones," Martinez reported. "So I arrange for the rejects."

As a result, exiles are eating something similar to "ostiones de Sagua" (oysters from Sagua, Cuba, a midget species), to which they were accustomed at home.

They put them in a glass with lime juice, ketchup and hot sauce. No fork is needed. Just drink them down.
